EXPORTS OF OIL TO SPAIN CALLED 'DAMN OUTRAGE'

Reynolds Cites Need of Fuel in U. S.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—A speech in Barcelona today by Carlton J. H. Hayes, American ambassador to Spain, altho given a different interpretation by the state department, stirred a storm in congressional circles tonight.

Sen. Robert R. Reynolds.

Hayes said the United States has been exporting stores of oil, cotton, food, and other products to aid Spain in the development of a peace economy. The ambassador said petroleum products were available in Spain in amounts "considerably higher than the present per capita distribution" to people on the Atlantic seaboard of the United States.

State Department's Argument.

At the state department it was said that oil from the Caribbean, but none from the United States, is reaching Spain in Spanish tankers. Spain is able to obtain more oil proportionately than the eastern seaboard of the United States, an official explained, because German and Italian submarines refrain from attacking Spanish tankers.

[Lend-Lease Administrator Edward R. Stettinius admits in Washington that Britain is selling lend-lease food which it receives from America, the money going into its own treasury. But "it's a small matter," he adds. Details on page 5.]

Chairman Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.] of the senate military affairs committee termed the exportation of large quantities of oil "a damned outrage," but Sen. John A. Danaher [R., Conn.] said he thought it "is most essential that we maintain the economy of Spain as a necessary adjunct to the war effort."

"It is a damned outrage that we are shipping to sunny Spain fuel so badly needed to warm the people and maintain their morale in this country in winter weather," Reynolds declared. "The time has come when we must consider not only the preservation of American principles but the preservation of American health.

Sees Nazis Grabbing Oil.

"It's not going to be up to Spain to say what she does in this war, but up to the axis nations. The more oil we ship, the more Germany will seize when she gets ready to invade Spain."

Sen. Clyde M. Reed [R., Kas.] asserted with sarcasm, "The people of the midwest whose fuel conditions are now being investigated will be glad they can be assured the oil that is taken away from them is being devoted to the comfort of the people of Spain—question mark."

Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama, the Democratic whip, applauded the statement by Hayes, asserting:

"Spain is on our flank in North Africa. If we can save the lives of American boys by the shipment of goods to Spain I'm for shipping the goods."

Says Others Get Aid.

Sen. Hugh A. Butler [R., Neb.] said it was his information that Spain was only one of many countries receiving such aid from the United States.

"What I would like to know," he added, "is how much of that oil, cotton, and food is going on to Hitler after it gets into Spain."

Ambassador Hayes, in his speech, said:

"The United States stands ready to continue and extend any help it can to Spain, which itself is doing so much with such obvious success to develop a peace economy that it can, and will, carry this country safely into a future period of world peace."

Hayes disclosed that 25,000 tons of sulphate of ammonia had been made available to Spain recently despite shortages in America.

Other products urgently required here which are being furnished by the United States include peas, beans, coal, cellulose, codfish, and industrial chemicals, Hayes said.

The petroleum products shipments had by last Jan. 1, the envoy said, given the Spanish sufficient stocks to increase gasoline rations.

THE RACE

2,000 Capital Elite Feast at Chiang Party

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The top foam of Washington surged en masse into the Shoreham hotel's best ballroom today to greet Mme. Chiang Kai-shek and partake of Chinese embassy hospitality.

For two long hours they came, six abreast extending the length of a block, thru cushioned lounges where palms were early casualties.

Diplomatic, army, navy, and governmental elite moved in steady file past the chair where sat Mme. Chiang in sapphire velvet aflash with sequins and highlighted by white orchids which the President and Mrs. Roosevelt sent.

Turkey, Lobster, Champagne.

Amid the bevy surrounding the wife of the Chinese generalissimo, Mme. Wei Tao-ming, wife of the ambassador, greeted the more than 2,000 guests with constant good humor.

Into the half block long ballroom with allied nations flags massed at one end, guests pushed their way to tables loaded with turkey, ham, lobster, aspic, mousse, ices, chicken a la king, salads, and cheeses, not to mention champagne and other beverages.

Diana Hopkins, who lives with her father, Harry Hopkins, at the White House, appeared with the three young daughters of T. V. Soong, Chinese foreign minister and a brother of Mme. Chiang.

Urged to Eat More.

Mme. Chu Shih-ming, wife of the Chinese military attaché, went about urging every one to have some more from the loaded tables which were decorated with vases of red, white, and blue flowers.

From Adm. William D. Leahy, chief of staff to the commander in chief, down to a mere commander, the navy trotted out its extra yardage of looped gold braid.

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, chatted about his Casablanca trip with Chinese air force men. All the Chinese women wore native gowns of the style worn by Mme. Chiang. Most of them were decked in purple orchids.

Allied nations' military representatives spotted almost every group, Britain and her dominions predominating. These staff men and the numerous diplomats, including Ambassador Maxim Litvinov of Russia, chattered in every language in the book.

The American women exhibited their festivity in elaborate hats and much jewelry, a few daring to wear floor sweeping tea gowns.

Veteran capital party goers said it was the grandest gathering since Paul V. McNutt let it be known he was back from the Philippines.

2 TONS OF RUBBER FLOWN EACH DAY FROM JUNGLES

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

BOGOTA, Colombia, Feb. 26.—Airplanes are bringing two tons of raw rubber out of the Colombian jungles daily and the same planes are keeping thousands of workers supplied with food and other necessities, the newspaper Tiempo said today.

Colombia grants tariff exemptions to materials and supplies imported by the Rubber Reserve corporation of the United States for the exploitation of wild rubber.

A committee composed of representatives of the Colombian government, the United States embassy and the Rubber Reserve corporation will control the exploitation of rubber, but purchase and sale are unrestricted except that the purchase at a price lower than that fixed by the government is prohibited.

BUILDINGS FALL AS MEXICO EARTH SHOCKS CONTINUE

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 26 (AP).—Buildings collapsed in several towns and a number of injured today were reported in continuing earth shocks centered in the Pacific coast state of Guerrero.

Dispatches from the town of Zihuatanejo said six persons were seriously hurt there and an undetermined number of others suffered minor injuries when a temblor yesterday shook down several buildings. A church and part of the municipal building collapsed in the town of Telaltepec.

Minor tremors, which have been continuing since the quake that shook Mexico City and the surrounding country Sunday, were registered again today.

OPA Rent Rule Held Illegal by U. S. Judge

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 26 [Special].—The delegation of rent control powers to the office of price administration was held unconstitutional today by Judge Thomas W. Slick of the Northern Indiana United States District court.

Judge T. W. Slick.

"In my opinion," he said, "congress never intended to delegate this omnipotent power [the right arbitrarily to fix rents at certain levels] to the OPA, and, if it was so intended, the act, under such construction, is unconstitutional."

The opinion, which may be far reaching, was handed down in a decision dismissing a tenant's suit against a South Bend landlord.

Triple Damages Sought.

The tenant, Edward Roach, had sought a judgment of $120, triple damages as provided by law, against his landlord, Dick M. Johnson, for charging him rent of $10 more a month than the $35 ceiling which the OPA fixed for the premises. The triple damages covered a four month period.

The suit, filed Sept. 8, named Leon Henderson, then OPA czar, and Carl L. Hibberd, rent administrator for the South Bend area, as co-defendants. A hearing was held several months ago and Judge Slick took the matter under consideration until today.

"The defendant, Johnson, specifically affirms that the congress, under its war powers, has authority to regulate prices, limited only by the constitutional inhibition against failure to provide standards," the judge said in his written opinion.

Power of OPA Questioned.

"The defendant contends the administrator cannot use his own discretion to fix rental price ceilings in any area without a hearing. The defendant further contends there must be some standards to guide him which the act fails to provide, otherwise the delegation of authority is contrary to constitutional provisions.

"The only provision in the emergency price control act that even hints at the necessity for determination of facts is found in section 202 of the price control act, where it is provided that the administrator is authorized to make studies and investigations to obtain information he sees necessary or proper to assist him in prescribing any regulation or order under this act."

Poles Renew Demand

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Polish government in exile thru its national council made a second successive claim tonight for restoration of the 1939 Polish borders. The council endorsed a resolution expressing a desire for coöperation with Russia, but declared in a statement: "The integrity of territory of the Polish republic in her frontiers of Sept. 1, 1939, and her sovereignty are inviolable and indivisible."

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—A most emphatic claim to rich industrial and agricultural areas of prewar Poland was circulated by the soviet embassy today.

In its official information bulletin the embassy printed an article originally published in Pravda, Moscow newspaper, laying claim to the region of Lwow and territory bordering White Russia.

Thirteen days ago the soviet embassy bulletin published a territorial claim of the soviet union to Bessarabia [formerly a part of Rumania], Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania.

The issuance of the claim, under official auspices, aroused deep interest in diplomatic circles. It was regarded as an official pronouncement of policy by the soviet government.

[Polish leaders in United States angered by Russia's stand. Sumner Welles, assistant secretary of state, says United States seeks post-war planning now. Page 4.]

See Four Freedoms Denied.

Some declare that the two claims advanced by the Russians are in direct defiance of the terms of the Atlantic charter and the four freedoms proclaimed by President Roosevelt.

The Atlantic charter, signed by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill in August, 1941, said that the United States and Great Britain are not seeking territorial aggrandizement, and expressed the belief that all nations of the world "for realistic as well as spiritual reasons must come to the abandonments of the use of force."

The four freedoms, promulgated by the President, are freedom from fear, freedom of speech and expression, freedom of every person to worship God in his own way, and freedom from want. Freedom from fear has been interpreted as guaranteeing the territorial integrity of smaller nations.

In running contrary to these expressions of allied policy, the soviet

YANKEE AMBULANCE DRIVERS IN AFRICA JOIN INDIAN army

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 26.—Because they believe it offers them the best chance to shoot back at the axis, six former members of the American Field Service [ambulance drivers and medical assistants], all of whom have been under fire on the African desert, have now joined the Indian army, and left for an officers' training school in India.

They wanted to join the United States army, but feared that by the time they returned to the United States, took their required training and got back to the fighting area, the war would be over.

The six are Roscoe Lewis of Roslyn, L. I., a graduate of Dartmouth; Ralph Muller of Staten Island; Scott Gilmore of Greenwich, Conn.; Alvin Wright of Hartford; Wendell Nichols of Brookline, Mass., who graduated from Harvard in 1942, and Edward Pattullo of Muskegon, Mich., who attended Northwestern. Pattullo, who is 20 years old, is the youngest and Gilmore, 28 years old, the oldest.

Reporter Sees Yanks Blast German Base

BY GLADWIN HILL.

AT A U. S. BOMBER STATION IN ENGLAND, Feb. 26 (AP).—From the cockpit of a bomber which led an American air armada on its third attack on Germany today, I watched Flying Fortresses and Liberators blast the docks at Wilhelmshaven, one of the Nazis' principal naval bases.

This raid was the first on which reporters have accompanied American bombers in the European theater.

It was thrilling. We were under attack by German fighters and a great aircraft barrage for two hours. Some of our ships went down. Others were shot up badly, but the Yankee airmen made it strangely prosaic with their businesslike efficiency.

Day Starts at 4 A. M.

My first thrill came when, in the pre-dawn darkness, we piled into the briefing building at 4 a. m. to learn the target and discovered it was to be a big time raid.

But the biggest kick of the day was the moment of the take-off, when the pilot gunned the motors and said: "We're going." Thru my earphones his words echoed like the last words when you go under ether — we're going, we're going—as we zoomed off the runway.

It seemed like an age until we reached the North sea and were attacked by the first Nazi fighter as we spotted a large convoy along the Frisian Islands.

Gunners Open Fire.

"Enemy aircraft at 2 o'clock," the co-pilot stated matter of factly over the interphone, and the gunners started banging away.

From then on it sounded like a mouse chase in a kitchen—"There's one, get him. He's coming in at 9 o'clock. Let him have it, top turret. Two more coming up at 3 o'clock."

[In air forces parlance "o'clocks" are used to designate degrees off a plane's course. The imaginary clock is one on which the plane's nose represents 12, the tail 6, the right side 3, and the left side 9.]

Attacked by 10 Planes.

From the cockpit I saw about 10 German fighters. About 15 more concentrated on the back part of the formation. The exclamations of the gunners over the interphone sounded like a radio account of a hockey game.

I was standing right in front of the top-turret gunner. As the action speeded up, the gunner whirled faster and faster on the revolving platform. Every time he revolved, the back of the turret hit me in the back.

Guns keep reverberating in my mind so that even now the rat-tat-tat of this typewriter makes me jump a little.

As the pilot eased the formation over the target, the fingerlike set of docks loomed up thru the clouds, just like aerial photographs.

A Series of Blasts.

The lead bombardier drew a bead with the bombsight and it wasn't until he called back to the pilot that I realized the bombs had fallen.

The whole formation let go and on the ground there was a series of big blasts.

Meanwhile, small sooty explosions started popping in the air around us. I knew that must be the flak [anti-aircraft fire].

The puffs look innocent and are—as long ar you can see them. It's the one you don't see that blows a hole in the wing, knocks out an engine, and clanks against the fuselage like a chain—all of which happened to planes behind us.

The flak stopped at the coast, but

British Penetrate Mareth Line.

LONDON, Feb. 27 [Saturday] (AP).—Press dispatches said today that advance allied units had entered Kasserine in the pursuit of Marshal Erwin Rommel's retreating axis forces, and also reported that the British 8th army attacking from the south had penetrated part of the Mareth line defenses.

A News-Chronicle dispatch said Kasserine had been occupied, while the Daily Mail said the Germans were blowing up the airdrome at Sbeitla, 18 miles to the northeast, and burning stores at Feriana, 18 miles southwest of Kasserine.

These were the three key towns which Rommel's troops had taken during the abortive offensive that for a time threatened Thala and Tebessa to the north and west, respectively.

Nazis Retreat Toward Gafsa.

Rommel's troops appeared to be falling back in the face of an impending lunge by Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery's 8th army in the south. A Reuters [British] news agency dispatch said forward units of that army had reached the rock strewn gorge of Zigzau which forms part of the Mareth line.

The area was described as difficult country with high stony passes and a maze of mountain tracks.

The general direction of Rommel's flight from the Kasserine pass was toward Gafsa, 75 miles below the farthest westward penetration made by him before American and British ground and air troops threw him into a retreat.

His troops also were backtracking toward the Faid pass near Sidi Bou Zid, southeast of Sbeitla, which is menaced both by British and French troops.

Would Sever Rail Link.

The capture of Kasserine would sever the inland railway link connecting Rommel's troops with the axis forces of Gen. Jurgen von Arnim in the Kairouan-Sousse areas to the northeast.

Rommel's maneuvering did not yet make it clear whether he intends to make a strong stand in the old French Mareth line. It was said that Italians were being employed mostly in that area, with the Germans based mainly at Gabes farther north.

The Daily Mail North African correspondent said the Germans in central Tunisia had demonstrated that they still have superiority in armored equipment and anti-tank guns, but added that "this inferiority in materiel is being repaired" by the allies.

Smash at Axis.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 26 (AP).—American and British troops striking out beyond recaptured Kasserine pass were carrying forward a general advance today, smashing at retreating axis columns.

Northeast of Kasserine, on the Nazi flank, other allied forces had advanced 10 to 15 miles in the area of Sbiba, which is 33 miles northeast of Kasserine.

The retreating Nazis also were under heavy attack from the allied air arm. Headquarters announced strong raids on both Gafsa and Sbeitla, the latter 30 miles south of Sbiba. British forces at last report had advanced to within nine miles of Sbeitla.

French Forces Advance.

The French also were active in the Sbiba sector, the French command announcing that its troops, in close liaison with the other allies, had advanced 12 miles south and east of Sbiba in pursuit of an enemy who offered no serious opposition.

American and British infantry blasted out the last enemy foothold in the Kasserine gap yesterday by attacking from the mountains on each side. They pushed the Germans into the flat plateau beyond, while allied tanks roared thru the gap on the heels of the axis troops.

American Flying Fortresses escorted by Lightnings and covered by Spitfires smashed at the docks of Bizerte, the north Tunisian axis naval base, and set off fires.

Two enemy fighters were shot down by the Fortress escort, and from all these widespread operations only three planes were lost from the Tunisian command. One of the enemy planes was shot down by Lt. J. A. Sullivan of Columbus, Wis.

EVANSTON SISTER DESCRIBES HERO OF ROMMEL ROUT

Lt. Col. Gardiner Fought Bears in Mountains.

Lt. Col. Henry E. Gardiner, the Chicago attorney credited with delivering the decisive blow that crushed Marshal Erwin Rommel's Tunisian offensive, apparently feels at home in the mountains of Africa.

Lt. Col. Gardiner.

Tracking down bears and coyotes and hunting lost sheep in the mountains of western Montana is a far cry from meeting Nazi panzers [tanks] in headon combat, his sister, Mrs. Gail R. Soper, 321 Davis street, Evanston, admitted yesterday, but added:

"Henry knows and loves the mountains. He spent years in the wild country looking after our father's sheep. His knowledge of the mountains is partly responsible for his success, I'm sure."

Member of Black Horse Squadron.

The tall, wiry, tank commander, thrice decorated for outstanding heroism before his medium tanks smashed Rommel's armored units, came to Chicago in 1934 as counsel for the Anaconda Copper and Wire company. He immediately enlisted in the famous Black Horse squadron of the 106th cavalry, Illinois National Guard, and was inducted into federal service as a second lieutenant in January, 1941.

Col. Gardiner was born 37 years ago near Anaconda, Mont., where his father, Dr. H. C. Gardiner, was a veterinarian and sheep rancher. He spent his boyhood doing chores on his father's ranch. In his early teens he was given a gun and a pack horse and the job of rounding up lost sheep and killing bears and coyotes that preyed on the flocks.

After his graduation from Montana State college he entered Cornell university law school and returned to Montana in 1931 as a member of the law staff of Anaconda. The firm appointed him Chicago counsel three years later.

Rise in Guard Rapid.

Col. Gardiner's love for horses and his polo playing experience at Cornell guided him into the Black Horse squadron. He enlisted as a private, became a sergeant two years later, and was commissioned a second lieutenant two months before the National Guard became an army unit.

A year later he received his captaincy and the appointment as aid to the corps' major general. He was commissioned a major last Oct. 23 and a lieutenant colonel Jan. 27.

He was decorated with the silver star for heroism and the Order of the Purple Heart in the opening days of the invasion of North Africa. He was recommended for the distinguished service cross after his battalion successfully covered the withdrawal of American forces from Sbeitla when Rommel launched his early blow.

Col. Gardiner escaped on foot thru the German lines after his own tank was destroyed. Then last week his battalion destroyed 10 German tanks without a loss in the battle that stopped the Nazi drive and led to the Nazi rout.

CAPONE SUBPENA FROM NEW YORK RETURNED THERE

Joseph Tobin, chief deputy United States marshal, yesterday returned to New York a grand jury subpena calling for the appearance of Ralph Capone as a witness in the probe of the alleged extortion racket conducted by former officials of the moving picture operators union. Three former officials, George E. Browne, William Bioff, and Nick Circella, alias Nick Dean already are under sentence for their part in the plot and are reported to be held in an eastern federal dentention home pending further developments in the case.

The subpena for Capone called for his appearance in New York Feb. 23 and was returned as a routine matter when he was not located by federal marshals by that date. It was reported that Capone had appeared in the New York office of District Attorney Mathias F. Correa for questioning when he learned that he was being sought.

BIG U. S. BOMBERS RIP SUB BASE OF WILHELMSHAVEN

Yanks Make 3d Raid on German Soil.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Feb. 27 [Saturday] (AP).—R. A. F. bombers, maintaining a round-the-clock battering of axis strongholds, were over Germany last night only a few hours after United States bombers returned from an attack on Wilhelmshaven.

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—American Flying Fortresses and Liberators pounded the German docks and U-boat lairs at Wilhelmshaven today while the British hammered the Nazis thrice at Dunkirk before dusk to round out 20 hours of heavy raids.

Crews of the United States bombers said the results were good at the northwest German naval base and submarine center despite intense fighter and ground fire opposition. Seven American bombers were lost in the Yankee flyers' third raid on German soil.

The heaviest British attack in the 20 hour cycle was in 20 concentrated minutes before midnight at Nuremberg, a vast industrial center in Bavaria which makes submarine engines and fittings. The British paid nine bombers for heavy destruction there.

Hit Cherbourg Peninsula.

After the American raid Ventura bombers protected by American and allied fighters struck at Dunkirk, France. They attacked four ships as well, setting one afire, and raided a Nazi airdrome on the Cherbourg peninsula.

The sudden silence of Danish radios at 9:30 o'clock tonight indicated the R. A. F. might be again over Germany. British guns along the Thames estuary opened fire half an hour later at German raiders, but no bombs were dropped. Two enemy aircraft were destroyed near the southeast English coast tonight and a coastal town in East Anglia was raided.

Bombs Crash on Docks.

Today's raid was the second daylight attack by American bombers on Wilhelmshaven.

The loss of seven bombers equalled the heaviest that American daylight raiders have suffered. In the attack on northwest Germany Feb. 4, five bombers were lost but the attackers shot down 25 Nazi fighters. Seven bombers were lost in an attack on the French submarine base of St. Nazaire on Feb. 3. The bombers also attacked Dunkirk this month.

U. S. and R. A. F. Combine Air Forces in African Zone

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 26 (AP).—The R. A. F. and United States air forces in this theater were amalgamated, effective today, as the Northwest African air forces under command of Maj. Gen. Carl Spaatz, U. S. A. Maj. Gen. James H. Doolittle is chief of the bomber command, and Air Vice Marshal Arthur Coningham, chief of the ground support.

3,000 CHINESE OFFER TO WORK ON N. Y. FARMS

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 26 (AP).—Out of New York City's teeming Chinatown today came the first mass response to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's call for 30,000 volunteer farm workers to meet New York's war time food production demands.

Services of 3,000 to 4,000 Chinese were offered to the governor for full time farm labor by a committee representing all New York City's Chinese associations.

The committee estimated the offer would mean an exodus of at least 600 waiters, laundry workers and others from Chinatown itself. Others would be drawn from thruout New York City and parts of New Jersey.

Dewey said "practically all" of the Chinese recruits have farmed either in China or the United States. The majority, he added, are over draft age.

the fighters didn't. One kept after us until we were 25 minutes from England.

The captain checked casualties in our group. Two ships had gone down, apparently under control. Three others were shot up and straggled back out of formation.

Trip a Fascinating One.

The tense moment of the day came back at the base when the Fortress crews gathered to see who had not returned. [Seven, in all, did not get back.]

It was a fascinating trip for a reporter, but as the boys discussed the casualties and how the missing planes might have landed safely it made you realize the vast difference between going on one raid and going on them week after week.

Any one can go on one raid and the averages say he'll get back safely. But like roulette, if you play the wheel long enough you can be sure your number will come up. That's what, these Fortress boys face week in and week out.

That's what makes you realize it is an honor to ride with them.

F. D. R. Keeps to Quarters; Still Runs a Slight Fever

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—President Roosevelt remained in his White House quarters again today on his physician's advice, trying to shake off an intestinal upset. William D. Hassett, assistant Presidential secretary, said, "I'm glad to be able to tell you that the President is somewhat better. He still has a little temperature, but less than a degree, and Dr. [Ross T.] McIntire thinks it's advisable for him to remain in the White House today and tomorrow, at least."

'CRITICAL' STATUS SEEN FOR CHICAGO LABOR POOL SOON

48 Hour Week Would Be Applied: Spencer.

BY LLOYD NORMAN.

With mammoth government war plants on the western rim of the Chicago area draining its available labor supply, the war man power commission in the next few months may designate the industrial district as a critical labor shortage area, William H. Spencer, midwest regional WMC director, indicated yesterday.

Spencer told the citizens board of the University of Chicago at a luncheon in the Chicago club that unless Chicago war industries can recruit their labor needs from among women, minority groups and less essential activities, the WMC would classify Chicago as a class I area—indicating that an acute labor shortage exists.

[Already Sterling, Ill., and Manitowoc, Wis., in this region have been placed in class I. Chicago was listed in class III., among areas in which shortages are expected after six months, but in which the labor needs and supplies are currently in balance.]

Barriers to Utilization.

Altho Chicago is considered to have an adequate labor supply for the next six months, Spencer emphasized there are serious obstacles to be overcome before the available man power can be utilized fully.

"While we believe that there is in the whole area [Chicago] an adequate supply of labor to meet the man power and woman power needs of the essential and war industries," he said, "we fully recognize that much of the available local labor supply is not readily and easily accessible to the war plants, particularly some of the large plants on the western periphery of the Chicago area."

Spencer's recognition of this transportation problem is the first public confirmation of an exclusive report in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE recently that the WMC and other government agencies were considering the need for constructing some 3,000 homes near the government war plants northwest and west of Chicago.

Additional Transportation.

"Whether this problem is met by additional transportation, moving workers from the points where they reside to the war plants, or by new housing near the plants to which workers from other parts of the area would migrate, are questions now being studied by the office of defense transportation and the national housing agency, respectively," he said.

It was said that ODT officials have reported transportation facilities to the war plants are woefully inadequate. Housing agency officials are said to favor new low cost home construction.

Spencer emphasized that the WMC in Washington and not the regional office would have the power to put Chicago into class I. He said the following action would be taken if Chicago is so classified:

1. The WPB and government procurement agencies would be advised not to renew existing war contracts or place new ones in the area if alternative facilities are available in other areas with more adequate labor supplies.

2. The 48 hour work week would be applied automatically to all industries and jobs.

3. The regional WMC office would impose "hiring controls" over all employers in essential and war industries. All hiring would be cleared thru the United States employment service.

BUILDERS TO ASK QUOTA OF 30,000 HOMES FOR CITY

Mayor Says Appeal to Be Made in Capital.

Chicago's army of war plant workers cannot live in phantom houses, Joseph E. Merrion, president of the Metropolitan Chicago Homes Builders association, said last night.

Merrion, one of a group of builders Mayor Kelly announced yesterday would go to Washington to press for permission to build 30,000 homes for war workers, last night blamed Chicago's housing shortage upon the "half-baked theories to meet a practical situation" to which the war man power commission and the national housing agency subscribe."

"The federal housing administration last March conducted a thoro survey of housing conditions in Chicago," Merrion said, "and its findings indicated a need for 30,000 additional homes, which is the number it recommended."

Charges Pleas Ignored.

Efforts to gain authority to begin building the homes, destined for occupancy by the hordes of war workers, were ignored by Washington bureaucrats, Merrion said.

"Finally the WMC and the NHA agreed to hold a panel meeting in Chicago to look into the situation," Merrion continued, "and the upshot of this meeting was that the FHA findings were 'crazy' and that no need for added housing facilities existed.

"We were shown the WMC figures to furnish the estimated 325,000 workers needed to man war factories here. First there was the item of women. The WMC decided that 171,000 of them would be recruited from homes and kitchens. Then they figured on 100,000 workers from small businesses and factories which would be forced to close. The remainder was to stem from plants engaged in civilian manufacture which would relinquish their workers to the war industries."

Workers Pour Into City.

This was the way it appeared on paper, Merrion said. Then he recounted what happened:

"Workers began pouring into the city from hundreds of miles around, an estimated 40,000 of them a month for the last six months. Small plants and businesses somehow manage to keep going, and their employés as well, and women display a reluctance to quit their kitchens."

Three major war plants, Douglas Aircraft, Chrysler Motors, and the Aluminum Company of America, Merrion said, have joined forces with the builders' association in the drive to obtain additional housing.

Mayor Kelly asserted the situation was acute.

"Already new war plants are experiencing difficulty in finding adequate shelter for workers now being engaged," he said. "When the hiring of workers is stepped up within a few months the situation will become chaotic.

"With 99.7 per cent of available dwellings in Chicago occupied, the necessity for quick action and cooperation by NHA in Washington in allocating a definite program for Chicago is obvious. Buildings cannot be constructed overnight."

Commented Merrion:

"Maybe the burocrats think we're fighting a phantom war."

19 Day Bombing

Leo Hamley and his sister, Estelle.

Bombs rained on his convoy for 19 days while in a North African port being unloaded, Leo Hamley, 18 years old, a Chippewa Indian from Belcourt, N. D., related here yesterday. Altho some ships were sunk, the supply vessel on which he was a navy gunner returned to the United States safely, he said. Some bombs landed within 30 feet of the craft.

Hamley said his convoy ran into the enemy twice. Submarines in the North Atlantic sank "some ships" while en route to Britain from the United States. The trip from England to the Mediterranean port was uneventful, but bombers began their unceasing attack as soon as the ships put into port.

Hamley is in Chicago on furlough, visiting a sister, Estelle.

WOLL PLANNING MASS TRIAL OF BUND MEMBERS

Denaturalization proceedings against German born Americans who were members of the German-American bund will be started soon in federal court, United States Attorney J. Albert Woll said yesterday after his return from Washington, D. C. There he conferred with Atty. Gen. Francis Biddle, who approved the plan.

The prosecutions, Woll said, will be based solely on the fact that persons who were bund members swore falsely when they renounced Germany in taking their oaths as American citizens.

Woll plans to consolidate at least 10 cases, including that of Dr. Otto Willumeit, former Chicago leader of the bund, in a test case to be heard by Judge William J. Campbell. Willumeit is under sentence of 20 years imprisonment for conspiracy to send military information to the axis and to violate the selective service laws.

CREW'S REFUSAL TO UNLOAD SHIP TOLD BY SEAMAN

Time and Half Demanded Off Guadalcanal.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 26 [Special].—What happened when members of a union crew of a merchant ship refused to unload a cargo of military supplies off Guadalcanal last November, making it necessary for the army to use its own longshoremen for the job, was told here by Kenneth H. Irwin, 34 years old, of Portland, Ore., a union member and deck engineer aboard the ship.

Irwin said the refusal resulted from an attempt by the ship's captain to violate an agreement between ship owners and unions and denied that the crew intended to hamper the nation's military effort. Charges of similar cases have attracted widespread attention as the result of an investigation recently undertaken by congress.

Irwin displayed his card in the Pacific Coast Marine Firemen, Oilers', Water Tenders', and Wipers' association, an independent union which, he said, has 12,000 members on the west coast. He also exhibited his card in the Machinists' union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, explaining he worked as a railroad machinist when not at sea.

Time and One-half Sought.

"Our crew did only what established union agreements called for," he said. "We were supposed to be paid time and a half for 'working' cargo, or unloading it after our regular work was done, or about $1.25 an hour. The captain of the ship and its chief mate offered us about 60 cents an hour for 'working' cargo—I don't recall the exact amount.

"Our spokesman reminded the captain that the agreement between the ship's owners and our union called for time and a half for 'working' cargo and said they were ready to unload it on this basis. We reminded him, too, that it was established practice, in the event of disagreement between the men and the officers, for the men to go ahead with the work, to make a record of the incident, and to have the dispute submitted later to company officials and union officials on shore for adjustment.

"We told the captain and the mate that we were willing to unload the cargo and put in for regular time and let the company and the union officials on shore decide about the overtime. Our spokesman said we would have nothing to do with 'working' cargo at half price.

Captain Accepts Refusal.

"To this the captain replied: 'All right, if you don't want to work cargo, you don't have to, but remember you are refusing.'

"Then the captain, claiming we had refused to 'work' cargo, went to the ensign in charge of the naval gun crew which also policed our ship and asked him if he would turn his men to 'working' the cargo. The ensign declined."

Irwin said army longshoremen then were brought in for the job, with the help of certain navy men who unloaded their own supplies.

Irwin said no record of the controversy was entered in the ship's log, altho such is customary.

He said that later, when part of the cargo remained to be unloaded, the captain engaged the crew to do this at the overtime rate of about $1.25 an hour and made no protest.

Irwin said he was affected by the controversy because his job as deck engineer required him to operate the winches and hoists.

Canada to Draft Rejects of Army for Farm Work

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 26 [Special].—Army rejects are to be drafted for farm work in Canada, Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell announced today. He said he was handling the farm man power problem as an integral part of the total war effort of the country. In some cases farm work will get priority over industrial work and it might happen that some factories will be closed during rush times on the farms, he disclosed.

ACT IN CONGRESS TO STOP TIEUPS BY ABSENTEEISM

Three Bills Aimed at Labor Disturbances.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Action to stop absenteeism and fresh demands to curb strikes developed in congress today following a work stoppage at a Flying Fortress factory and production tieups in other vital war plants.

Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.] announced he would introduce Monday a bill authorizing the government to take over any war plant where production is interrupted by a labor disturbance or any other cause.

Rep. Wright Patman [D., Tex.] moved to force a speedy house vote on his bill outlawing conspiracies "for the purpose of preventing, stopping, hindering, delaying, or interrupting any work or service necessary to the national defense program."

Draft Reports Sought.

The house rules committee approved for action on the floor, probably Monday, a bill by Rep. Lyndon Johnson [D., Tex.], administration supporter, requiring navy yards to report to draft boards every three months the names of all employés absent without cause. Johnson said he had introduced another measure applying the same provisions to all war workers.

"When I see men like Mr. Johnson, so close to the throne as I know him to be, sponsoring legislation like this, I take heart," observed Rep. E. E. Cox [D., Ga.] of the committee.

Rep. Howard Smith [D., Va.] caustically inquired whether "Mr. William Green and Mr. Philip Murray will let you pass this legislation."

"I haven't discussed it with them," Johnson replied.

"You'd better, you know," Smith said.

Absenteeism "Sank 42 Ships."

Johnson offered his measure with the assertion that "absenteeism sank 42 Liberty ships in December alone," explaining that "the man hours lost thru absenteeism would have produced that many ships."

Patman's bill would make conspiracy to cause an interruption of war work punishable by five years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine and would authorize federal agencies to revise wages, hours, and working conditions found unfair. Patman filed a petition to discharge the judiciary committee from further consideration of the measure; 218 signatures are required.

DEATHS LAID TO ALCOHOL.

Death of two men who drank wood alcohol, believing it to be liquor, was termed accidental yesterday by a coroner's jury under Deputy Coroner Eugene Ingles. The victims were William Butwill, 35 years old, and Walter Kranz, 68, both of 436 North State street. They found the bottle on a rubbish heap behind 212 East Illinois street.

Introduced at Prom

Miss Nancy Berthold, 7442 North Hoyne avenue, was introduced at the annual junior prom at the Woman's Club of Evanston last night as Northwestern university's "Syllabus Queen." Miss Berthold has the added distinction of having been chosen by male students at the university as the "girl most worthy of fighting for." Her court, chosen by members of the army, navy, and marine corps, is composed of: Audrey Norman, 2601 Lunt avenue, chosen by the navy; Marydith Cox, 6759 Ridgeland avenue, the army, and Pat Wolf, Valparaiso, Ind., the marines.

BRITAIN SAVING FACE, ALLY OF GANDHI ASSERTS

POONA, India, Feb. 26 (AP).—Mohandas K. Gandhi, showing no change on the 17th day of his fast, received Chakravarthi Rajagopalachariar today.

17

Rajagopalachariar, a former president of the Congress party, split with Gandhi and the party last year after a difference of opinion over methods, but came back to the fold when the Indian Nationalist leader's life was in danger and fought to have the British grant Gandhi's release from internment.

Rajagopalachariar told reporters he believed the British wished to give freedom to India if they could do so without prejudice to their prestige and authority, but took the attitude that it would be dangerous to reopen negotiations now.

After this morning's examination of Gandhi, authoritative sources quoted his physicians as saying, "he is carrying on."

TRAINING RUNS TO DELAY PUBLIC USE OF SUBWAY

A shortage of elevated trainmen may delay the straphangers' first ride in the Chicago subway, officials of the Rapid Transit lines said yesterday.

The department of subways and superhighways expects test trains to start operating in the tubes late in March. Just how many weeks of test train operation will be required will depend on how frequently train crews can be freed for subway practice trips, company officials reported.

"Several hundred men on north and south trains—more than half the trainmen we employ—must be thoroly familiar with operation of the cars underground and with a different signal system," a company spokesman said. "It will be difficult to relieve them from their regular runs for the practice trips because man power is scarce. It is almost impossible now to estimate how many weeks of test trips will be required."

SOME DOUBLING OF TAX LIKELY IN PAY-AS-GO PLAN

May Excuse 1942 Levy in Lower Brackets.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26. — A doubling up of at least part of the present record breaking income tax burdens appeared to be in store for American wage earners tonight as the special house ways and means subcommittee neared a showdown in consideration of pay-as-you-go tax legislation.

The subcommittee, which has been in daily session, was appointed to draft a new plan for putting taxpayers on a current basis after the full committee turned thumbs down a week ago on four previously proposed plans. It was reported that the members are now leaning toward a modified version of legislation proposed by Rep. A. Willis Robertson [D., Va.] to forgive 1942 taxes in the normal and first surtax brackets and start withholding collections at once for 1943.

Would Excuse Lower Brackets.

Under this plan, every one making up to $2,000 net taxable income last year would be freed of 1942 taxes and able to start paying on the current year's levels out of current income at once without prior obligations. Those in the higher brackets would be required to pay the difference between the amount forgiven and their regular tax bill in quarterly installments, besides paying currently on 1943 taxes.

It is estimated that 90 per cent of the 40,000,000 taxpayers expected to file 1942 returns would be forgiven all back taxes in this manner. It would mean a reduction of 7 billion dollars in the 10 billions revenue expected from last year's taxes.

Exactly what modifications are being considered by the subcommittee were not disclosed altho it was reported that there is some question of amortizing the 1942 taxes for persons in the upper brackets over a longer period than the present year to ease the burden somewhat.

20 Per Cent Withholding Tax.

Robertson's proposal also contains provisions for a 20 per cent withholding tax for collections of 1943 income taxes at the source out of the present earnings. This would include the normal tax, 6 per cent, and the first surtax, 13 per cent, and would also absorb the 5 per cent victory tax.

It had been reported that the subcommittee was leaning strongly toward the Ruml plan for complete forgiveness of 1942 taxes in all brackets to bring every one up to date at once. However, one committee member said today that the members believe the country will not approve of writing off a year's taxes when the country is striving to raise increased revenue for the war.

Go Back to Earlier Plans.

Both the Robertson plan and a modified version of the Ruml plan were rejected by the full committee before the subcommittee was appointed Two other plans which were also voted down called for partial doubling up of taxes in the higher brackets. In returning to the Robertson proposal, it appeared that the subcommittee had exhausted the various other possibilities and now has begun retracing its steps.

Also pending before the group is a plan by Rep. Harold Knutson [R., Minn.] which would place the nation on a pay-as-you-go basis at once in meeting 1943 obligations and leave the question of 1942 levies until the committee begins consideration of the raising of the 16 billions in additional revenue which has been requested by President Roosevelt for the next fiscal year.

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 26 (AP).—Naturalization clerks sang "Happy Birthday" today as Madeleine Carroll became an American citizen. The actress, a former British subject, was 37 years old today and plainly was moved by the ceremonies, which she described as a wonderful birthday present. She was one of 220 men and women given the citizenship oath by Federal Judge J. Joseph Smith.

ECONOMIST ASKS U. S. TO DECIDE POST-WAR AIMS

Now, and not after the war, is the time to form the post-war peace policy of the United States, George H. Cless Jr., economist and author of Glens Falls, N. Y., told an audience of 1,000 persons at a meeting of the Citizen's U. S. A. committee last night. This is the group formerly known as the Committee to Keep the United States Out of Foreigh Wars. The meeting was in the Engineers' building auditorium, 205 West Wacker drive.

"President Wilson went over to Europe after the last war to establish justice, not distribute booty; but he had to distribute booty because the distribution of booty was a fixed design in the whole pattern that had been woven during the war," Cless said. "The treaty of Versailles was merely a rubber stamp for the earlier treaty of London made two years before during the war."

Cless urged that this country begin to think at once of what it wishes to get out of the war, and that it secure a promise of that now.

WLB WARNS AFL AIRCRAFT UNIONS TO STICK TO JOB

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 26 (AP).—American Federation of Labor workers who make Flying Fortresses and Liberator bombers at Seattle and San Diego pressed forward today with plans for round the clock meetings of off shift workers beginning Monday in an effort to force the war labor board to act on their demand for minimum pay comparable to that paid in west coast shipyards.

The WLB reminded the workers that it does not consider any case unless the workers involved "remain loyally at their jobs."

WLB Chairman William H. Davis acknowledged receipt in Washington of a resolution to start the protests. His telegram to Boeing workmen said the board would decide the case "on the evidence in the record . . . considered in connection with the wage stabilization policy. . . ." The board plans to remain in session over the week-end.

The idea of the continuous 24 hour union meeting stemmed from the AFL machinists' union at the Boeing aircraft plant here and was quickly taken up by members of the same union at San Diego, Cal.

WELLES SAYS U.S. WANTS POST-WAR STUDIES AT ONCE

Allied Parleys Sought to Outline Aims.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The state department declared its readiness today to begin planning the post-war world and the nation's highest naval official followed this up with the suggestion that military bases at strategic points about the globe should be available to this country.

Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, made known in an address at Toronto that the government has decided to press for conferences of the allied nations now on common aims. He said it intends to open preliminary talks at once in preparation for such conferences.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox told a press conference here that he thought the United States should undertake discussions with other powers now for the creation of permanent military bases over the world.

Pacific Isle Base Wanted.

Knox mentioned as one desirable base the military establishment on Upolu Island, in the Samoan group, in the South Pacific.

"I don't think we ought to be grabbing for territory—all we are interested in is having military bases in which we have final and complete control in a military sense," he said.

American troops now are guarding Upolu, he reported, and an air base has been constructed there with a runway 1,000 feet wide and 7,000 long.

While the executive department was making these moves, congress acted to take a hand in post-war planning but chiefly on the domestic front.

Economic Committee Favored.

The senate finance committee unanimously approved a resolution by Sen. Walter F. George (D., Ga.) for establishment of a special committee to study prospective post-war questions and make recommendations. George said the group would take up such matters as federal works program, enlarged social security and possible unemployment problems.

"We are not going into the political questions," he said. "There will be no discussion of a League of Nations or anything of that sort."

Welles indicated that what the state department has in mind for immediate discussions with other allied nations are principally economic matters.

He said machinery should be set up without further delay "for the purpose of assembling and studying all international aspects of problems under the general heading of freedom from want."

President Roosevelt disclosed at a press conference earlier this week that an allied nations food conference is under discussion and possibly will be held in the spring.

10 ARMY FLYERS DIE AS 4 MOTOR BOMBER CRASHES

Casper, Wyo., Feb. 26 (AP).—A four motor bomber from the Casper army air base crashed last night 30 miles northwest of Glenrock, Wyo., killing the 10 members of its crew, the air base public relations office announced today.

Names of the victims were withheld pending the notification of their next of kin.

Five Die in Florida Crash.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 26 (AP).—Army authorities at Morrison field reported the crash of a bomber today, killing its five man crew. The plane crashed shortly after the take-off about a mile from the field. Names of the crew members were withheld until next of kin are notified.

Two Die in Bomber.

Meridian, Miss., Feb. 26 (AP).—The crash of a light bomber from Key field on a training flight cost today the lives of Lt. Edward F. Haynes Laredo, Tex., and Pvt. R. H. Kotz, Appleton, Wis. A wing of the plane struck a vacant house.

CITY COMPLETES REGISTERING FOR 2D RATION BOOKS

A total of 3,362,394 Chicagoans registered for ration book No. 2 during the week period that closed yesterday, Michael F. Mulcahy, Chicago metropolitan area director for the office of price administration, said last night.

This figure was 114,678 under the number of persons—3,477,072—registering for ration book No. 1, Mulcahy said. He attributed the decline to departure of men to the fighting forces and to negligence of book 1 holders in reregistering. He said those who have not obtained the No. 2 books now must wait until March 15 before they may register.

In suburban areas, Mulcahy said, the total registration for the week was 1,022,153. Approximately 40 per cent of outlying boards will be open for registrations today.

Disputed Borders

RUSSIA REFUSES TO GIVE UP RICH AREA OF POLAND

Soviet Claim Is Viewed with Gravity.

territorial claims were viewed here with utmost gravity.

May Request Statement.

It is expected that Britain and the United States will demand a statement from Russia on her war aims. In various announcements Premier Josef Stalin has said he would push the invading army out of Russia, with the implication that he would go no farther.

Pravda's article in which Russia's new claim was expressed was written by Alexander Korneichuk, member of the supreme soviet of the Ukrainian soviet republic. The claim that Bessarabia, Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania are legally a part of the soviet union was made in an editorial in the same paper, written by David Zaslavsky, one of its editors.

Korneichuk made it plain that Russia intends to hang on to the Polish Ukraine and area bordering White Russia which were taken from Poland under the German-Russian partition of Poland in 1939.

Takes Dig at Poles.

"Only a hopeless fool can believe," Korneichuk wrote, "that Lwow and the population of the western regions of the Ukraine are waiting" for return to Polish rule.

"The population of the western regions of the Ukraine will reply to the puffed up Polish gentry, who have not learned anything, with an old Ukrainian proverb: 'Don't waste your strength, friend—sink to the bottom.'

"The Polish gentry think that the Ukrainian people should not have their own state, that only the Polish people have a right to be united in their own state, that the Ukrainian people have only one 'right'—to be divided between various states."

The Polish government in exile has said that "so far as the question of frontiers between Poland and soviet Russia is concerned the status quo previous to Sept. 1, 1939 [the date of the invasion of Poland], is in force."

2 IN PLANE CRASH TRAVEL 2 MILES ON BROKEN LEGS

EDMONTON, Alta., Feb. 26 (AP).—Two survivors of a United States cargo plane which crashed in mountainous Canadian bush country traveled two miles on broken legs toward a nearby community, it was disclosed today after they were brought here for hospital treatment.

They are Staff Sergt. Edwin Wilczynski of Nekoosa, Wis., and Rupert Alexander, whose address was not learned. Pilot John Hart of Minneapolis, Minn., and Co-pilot Kenneth W. Jones of Elyria, O., were killed.

The injured men were lost 19 days.

RUSSIA'S STAND ANGERS LEADERS OF POLES HERE

Hold All Seized Lands Must Be Set Free.

Denial of Poland's pre-war boundaries by soviet Russia, as voiced at Washington, D. C., yesterday by the soviet embassy information service, provoked a sharp reply last night from Polish leaders.

The soviet statement asserted that the populations incorporated into the soviet union in 1939 will not be returned to Polish rule. The soviet and the Nazi governments partitioned Poland in 1939, Russia occupying the eastern regions.

The soviet denial of surrender of the area surprised and angered Chicago's Polish groups and spokesmen. Chief of these was F. X. Swietlik, dean of law at Marquette university, Milwaukee. Dean Swietlik is president of the Polish-American council, a nation-wide organization representing 5,000,000 Americans of Polish descent. The council administers the relief agencies organized since the German and Russian invasions of Poland. Headquarters are at 1500 North Ashland avenue.

Urges Freedom for All.

"We feel that all peoples should receive their freedom," Dean Swietlik said. "We should have faith in the Atlantic charter which pledges that all occupied territories shall be given their freedom. If this is not true, all our efforts and sacrifices have been in vain. It is not the intent, I am sure, that there shall be bartering. We surely must conclude the war so that all nations shall live in neighborliness after it is over."

Other Polish leaders were just as emphatic in their resentment at the soviet claim. John J. Olejnicza, president of the Polish Roman Catholic union, said:

"Such an attitude is contrary to everything for which we are fighting. We are satisfied with the old boundaries. Poland is not looking for territory, and I regret that this question has been opened up as I understood our government [in exile] and the soviets were working together."

Joseph Liszka of the Polish-American Business Men's association said, "The territory mentioned was all Poland. It should be after the war."

"This Means Trouble."

Francis Nurczyk, for 14 years the directing secretary of the Polish American Business Men's association, commented:

"This is bad. We thought this had been fixed. This claim would take half of pre-war Poland. This means trouble. Russia has so much land it doesn't need any one else's land. It may be trying to undermine our whole capitalistic system. We are trying to avoid just the trouble this brings up."

Karel Piatkiewicz, editor of the Polish Daily Zgoda, declared:

"The claim for Lwow is fantastic. The city is 75 per cent Polish. This is a city of more than 200,000 persons, with Polish culture for a thousand years. It is true the country is Ukrainian, but the people are more Polish than they are Russian."

Immediate protest to Washington on the soviet pronouncement was predicted by many officers of Polish organizations.

JUDGE REJECTS URSULA PARROT ACQUITTAL PLEA

Miami, Fla., Feb. 26 [Special].—Federal Judge John W. Holland today denied a defense motion for a directed acquittal of Ursula Parrott, novelist on trial on a charge of smuggling Pvt. Michael N. Bryan, 26, from an army stockade. The case will go to a jury for a decision.

Defense Atty. Bart Riley rested his case and asked for the directed verdict after Capt. W. H. Smith, Miami Beach legal officer, testified that Bryan was convicted at a court martial—not of desertion—but of breaking confinement to spend 24 hours with the novelist. The attorney contended Mrs. Parrott could not legally be accused of aiding a deserter, but the judge disagreed.

Previously calm, the 40 year old four times married author wept silently during the reading of a written statement in which she accepted all blame for the escape. She said she felt sorry for him and decided to drive him out "for a good dinner."

RUMORS OF WAR MEDIATION GROW; VATICAN SILENT

Great Diplomatic Activity Stirs Gossip.

BERNE, Switzerland, Feb. 26 (AP).—Rumors of important negotiations on the conduct of the war and possible efforts toward its mediation circulated from both Vatican City and Rome tonight with greater intensity and more veiled implications than at any time since Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York arrived at the Vatican.

The great reserve with which the Vatican greeted questions on the intense diplomatic activity of the past few days helped spur the rumors further.

Exchange Speeches Today.

Informed sources at Vatican City expected the speeches of the pope and Count Galeazzo Ciano will exchange tomorrow on the occasion of Ciano's acceptance as Italy's minister to the Holy See might clarify the atmosphere. However, it still was doubtful that the speeches would be made public.

The negotiations extended from Vatican City into Rome itself and "perhaps more will be known about this in the next few days," said the correspondent of the Swiss newspaper Die Tat.

The Geneva Tribune correspondent, equally mysterious, said rumors of what is going on are so contradictory and persistent that it is at present impossible to specify precisely even what the rumors are.

Russia Is One Topic.

Die Tat did say, however, that some discussions were closely concerned with the position of the smaller states toward Russia.

The pope's conferees yesterday, in addition to Archbishop Spellman who has seen the pontiff daily, included the new Chinese minister representing Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, whose relations with Russia play an important part in the international situation.

TRAIN U. S. NEGRO TROOPS TO MAN GUNS IN ENGLAND

New York, Feb. 26 [Special].—Negro troops of the United States army are to man anti-aircraft guns on the south coast of England as soon as they finish special training under British instruction, the British radio said in a broadcast recorded today by CBS. "The guns they will have to handle will be the 40 mm. Beaufort and already they have nearly achieved the minimum time it takes to get one of these guns into action," the radio reported. Most of the troops are from the Carolinas, it was said.

DUTCH MINISTER SAYS ALLIED ARMS CONTROL WON'T CURB GERMANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Dr. J. von Broek, Dutch minister of finance, in broadcasting to Africa today said control of post-war armaments would not be sufficient to prevent Germany from starting another war. Nor, he said, "will extermination of a few thousand Nazis bring us nearer the solution of the problem."

He recommended a study of methods to remove the threat of Germany after the war by reducing her to a minor power.

British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden at one time suggested international control of German industries to make it impossible for Germany to manufacture machinery for war.

GERMANS REPORT RED ASSAULT ON CENTRAL FRONT

Claim Stalingrad Troops Join in Big Push.

LONDON, Feb. 27 [Saturday]—(AP).—The Russians announced continuing gains west of Kharkov early today, but the Red army offensive apparently had slackened there, and German dispatches said the soviets had hurled great numbers of troops, including Stalingrad veterans, against Nazi central front lines.

The soviet midnight communique said the Red army had captured several localities on a 130 mile front west of Kharkov and Kursk, grinding ahead against Nazi forces trying to protect the approaches to the strategic Dnieper river.

But this communique did not identify these localities, suggesting they were not essential prizes. The bulletin disclosed that Nazi counter-attacks were heavy and continuous in the Donetz basin "escape corridor" 100 miles southeast of Kharkov.

Admit Nazis Pierced Lines.

The Russians admitted in the communique, recorded by the soviet monitor, that the Germans temporarily had pierced their lines near Kramatorsk sector, 50 miles above Stalino.

The Germans were said to have lost 1,000 men and 22 tanks in one sector. It is in this area that German dispatches for several days have claimed Nazi gains.

Berlin broadcast summaries of the fighting which admitted the Red army is advancing in the Ukraine, but the Germans appeared more concerned with the central front than the Ukraine. Berlin radio commentators said heavy Russian attacks were occurring all the way from Orel to Lake Ilmen.

The Nazi high command said an "overwhelming number of infantry and tank formations" had been hurled futilely against German positions south of Lake Ilmen.

Seize Towns West of Kursk.

Red army veterans of Stalingrad are in action on the central front, the Germans said. Their apparent goal was said to be the Nazi stronghold of Smolensk.

The Russians have not announced a resumption of fighting on the central front, but Germany often has been first to disclose soviet offensives.

Moscow's midnight communique said 300 Germans fell yesterday in one sector west of Kharkov and that 400 Germans were captured south of Kursk in the drive toward Konotop. Four more localities fell to the Russians west of Kursk, Moscow said.

In the Caucasus the Russians tightened their hold on Nazi troops based at Novorossisk. The Russians yesterday reported the capture of Angelinskaya and Staronizhe-Steblievskaya, approximately 50 miles northeast of Novorossisk.

3 SUB SKIPPERS SINK 77,136 TONS OF JAP SHIPPING

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Three American submarine officers today were credited by the navy with having sunk 77,136 tons of Japanese merchant shipping. In announcing their decoration, the navy said that in addition to the merchant shipping, the three submarine skippers sank a 3,500 ton mine layer and severely damaged a 22,000 ton converted aircraft carrier. All these results of submarine operations previously had been announced in communiques, the navy added.

Comm. Henry C. Bruton, 38 years old, of Little Rock, Ark., received a navy cross and a gold star in place of a second navy cross. His submarine torpedoed the converted carrier and sank 56,000 tons of merchant shipping on two war patrols.

Lt. Comm. Arthur H. Taylor, 37, of Narberth, Pa., received a navy cross for sinking three large merchant ships totaling 21,136 tons. Lt. Robert F. Sellars, 32, of Portland, Ore., received the silver star medal for taking his submarine into an enemy harbor and sinking a 3,500 ton mine layer which was at anchor.

BOMBERS BLAST JAP FREIGHTER OFF NEW GUINEA

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, Feb. 27 [Saturday]—(AP).—A Japanese merchant vessel has been bombed and damaged off the New Guinea coast, the allied high command announced today.

The vessel, of 5,000 tons, was hit with one 500 pound bomb and two others exploded close enough to cause damage to the ship in an attack at low level by heavy allied bombers off Wewak, on the northern New Guinea coast. The bombers also delivered a big attack on the Wewak airdrome.

Still another heavy blow was dealt to Gasmata, New Britain, where two waves of allied planes "bombed the airdrome runway and dispersal areas, dropping 10 tons of bombs, causing wide damage." Lae, Japanese port on the eastern New Guinea coast, and enemy installations in the northern Mubo area of the island also were raided.

BRITAIN SELLING LEND-LEASE FOOD, SAYS STETTINIUS

Just "a Small Matter," Senators Told.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—America's war time aid to her allies came in for considerable attention on Capitol hill today with senators studying a high government official's affirmation that England is selling lend-lease food for cash and the house due to hear a "strong language" recommendation that more help be given battle scared China.

Testimony released by a senate agriculture subcommittee quoted Lend-Lease Administrator E. R. Stettinius as saying the British government's sale of lend-lease food "boils itself down to a mechanical matter," and that it was "a small matter when you consider the volume of the aid that they are giving us both in dollars and tonnage."

Selling to the People.

"What about the story to the effect that where we are lend-leasing food to Britain, she is selling those foods to the people of Britain?" Sen. Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] had asked. "In other words, is the government of Great Britain getting an immediate cash return?"

"That is right," Stettinius replied, going on to say that this country is supplying the United Kingdom about 10 per cent of its food, under lend-lease.

"Assuming," he continued, "that we are sending 5 per cent of the bacon consumed by the civilian population, it is not physically possible to distribute that 5 per cent of the bacon differently from the 95 per cent they obtain or produce from other sources. The ministry of foods transfers it to their chain stores, and they sell it for cash."

Money Goes in War Fund.

Stettinius said the cash thus received "goes into the exchequer, and it goes toward the production of a supply to carry on the war. It might be used for payment of troops. It might be used for the building of a battleship; it might be used for the repair of a cruiser; it might be used to buy the potatoes or the wheat or the underclothing, or these other items that the British give to our troops free."

Meanwhile, the house foreign affairs committee's formal report on continuance of the lend-lease act was expected to recommend strongly that all possible help be sent China. This was said to be an alternative to a proposed amendment which would have earmarked a definite percentage of lend-lease supplies for China.

The bill to continue the lend-lease act for another year already has been approved by the committee, with the probability that the formal report will be completed today.

Transportation Is Difficult.

Several committee members privately expressed disappointment that they could not go further than a recommendation. But, against a background of secret testimony from the secretaries of war and navy and from lend-lease officials, they reported that the difficulties of getting supplies thru since the closing of the Burma road were such that a percentage allocation would prove futile.

It appeared certain that a majority of the committee would block an attempt to write into the report a recommendation that the administration use lend-lease as a "trading point" to obtain post-war privileges in foreign flying fields for American commercial aviation.

Such a plan had been pressed vigorously, particularly on the Republican side of the committee table, and brought a disclosure from the state department that it already had undertaken discussion with other governments on the whole subject of aviation after the war.

JAPANESE HURL TANK AND AIR FORCES INTO WAR ON HANKOW LINE

CHUNGKING, China, Feb. 26 (AP).—The Japanese have thrown tanks and planes into their offensive in central Hupeh province west of Hankow, and, with their ground forces increased to more than 10,000 men, have pressed the fighting in which both sides lost heavily, the Chinese high command said today.

The battle was said still to be in progress after three days near Futienshu.

In north Kiangsi province, south of the Yangtze river, however, the Japanese were forced to retreat under a Chinese counter-attack northwest of Kaoan. The retreating Japanese were intercepted by Chinese operating behind their lines, the communique said.

LADY QUARTETS STEAL SHOW AT 'ADELINE' RALLY

2 Groups Win Applause of Barber Shoppers.

The old, old story that began when Adam took a bite of Eve's apple assumed a new version last night as 1,000 Chicagoans met to preserve and encourage barber shop quartet singing.

The story was opened when the Chicago chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America invited two women's quartets to sing at its annual ladies' night party in the Morrison hotel Casino.

The women accepted, with alacrity. Chicago's four Johnson sisters, basso Harriet, baritone Stella, second tenor Irene, and tenor Ruby, hurried onto the stage.

Men Give Up Another Right.

The crowd cheered and signified that men, who a couple of decades ago began yielding barber shop chairs to women, might as well give up their quartet rights and in the future limit their singing to bathtubs and showers.

The Johnsons were followed by four young women from Peoria, decked out in red and white candy-stripe blouses and bows. The crowd cheered again.

But while everything seemed satisfactory on the surface and while the big room was filled with soft harmony, dissatisfaction stirred under cover.

The revolt broke in Peoria. In a formal telegraphed protest the Peoria singers, believers in men's rights, said: "We stood for it when women invaded the barber shops. But we're going to keep on singing about sweet Adeline, not with her."

Tells the Inside Story.

Into the breach rushed the Chicago chapter's public relations man, Howard Visel.

"Really now," said Visel, "we didn't take the girls into membership. They are just guests, that's all."

Confidentially and out of earshot of any women he added: "You see, the whole party tonight is a cover-up. We are throwing the women a fish so that they will let us keep on going out to our meetings every other Friday night to sing and stuff."

U. S. PLANES BOMB JAPS IN KISKA AND SOLOMONS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—American aerial attacks on Japanese positions in both the Solomon and Aleutian islands were announced today by the navy which said fires were started during one raid in the Solomons.

The navy communique said:

"North Pacific: On Feb. 23 United States bombers, with fighter escort, attacked Japanese positions at Kiska. Clouds prevented observation of results.

"South Pacific: On Feb. 25 Dauntless dive bombers [Douglas] with Lightning [Lockheed P-38] and Wildcat [Grumman F-4F] escort, bombed Japanese positions at Vila, on Kolombangara Island. Fires were started in the target area. Liberator heavy bombers [Consolidated] attacked enemy positions at Kahili and at Faisi in the Shortland Island area."

How troops kept in the United States this year and in 1944, according to army plans, would be divided among the air forces, ground troops, and defense commands. The total number represented in this diagram corresponds to the number in diagonally shaded part of diagram at top.

ARMY SCHEDULE IN '43 CALLS FOR 8,200,000 MEN

4,750,000 to Be Overseas by End of 1944.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—The first breakdown of the army's revised man power plans and its proposed distribution of troops at the end of 1943 and 1944 were revealed today in the release of testimony before the senate appropriations subcommittee investigating man power problems.

Maj. Gen. I. H. Edwards, assistant chief of staff of the army, submitted the following table:

	1943.	1944.
Total in army	8,200,000	8,200,000

INQUIRY BLAMES WICKARD AND OPA FOR MEAT CHAOS

'Worst Black Market in History' Charged.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—The office of price administration and Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard were blamed for a growing shortage of meat and "the worst black market in the history of the country" today as actions in both houses of congress produced charges that the food and man power programs have been muddled by the administration.

A special house investigating committee, reporting on an inquiry into the meat situation, warned that continuance of present OPA policies will force at least one-third of the nation's packing concerns to the wall because of heavy losses.

The opinion of Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, that man power requirements make it very unlikely that the draft age limit can be held at 38 years was disclosed by the release of official testimony before the senate appropriations subcommittee investigating man power problems.

Assail Lack of Team Work.

In holding the OPA and Secretary Wickard directly responsible for the meat situation, the house committee, in its strongly worded report, blamed both for "a regrettable lack of joint effort."

"The OPA and the secretary of agriculture," the report stated, "have adequate legislative authority to correct the maladjustments and injustice now in the meat industry, but they have not worked in close cooperation and have differed on important questions of policy."

Dangers of the resulting black market, the committee said, are subjecting the civilian population to uninspected or inadequately inspected food, high prices defeating the aims of anti-inflation legislation, and placing a penalty on honest operation in conformity with war time restrictions and a premium on dishonest operations because of enormous profits involved.

Call OPA Orders Unfair.

The OPA was held to blame for failure to provide meat processors with "equitable margin" of profits in establishment of price ceilings and for the imposition of a quota system favoring slaughterers over other processors.

Secretary Wickard was blamed for allowing the problem to remain unsolved despite his awareness of it for several months.

The report asserted that under the OPA quota system allotments for civilian sales are granted only to slaughterers and none are allowed to other processors. Thus, the group found, nonslaughtering processors are dependent for their supplies upon the willingness of slaughterers to share their reduced civilian quotas with them.

Despite an amendment to the second price control act which requires a fair profit for meat processors under price ceilings, the report continued, the OPA has not provided a margin sufficient to induce many processors to continue in business.

Cites Pork Price Situation.

The committee noted that pork prices, for example, were set on a basis of a cost to packers of $13.50 per 100 pounds, Chicago average, whereas the cost on Feb. 15 was actually $15.75.

"At this cost for hogs there is no margin for packers," the report said. "They are, in fact, losing from $2 to $4 per head slaughtered. The situation in beef is not so severe, but here also there is a failure of the OPA to provide a fair margin. The beef prices now maintained by the OPA are approximately $1 per 100 pounds below the normal margin and the loss of typical packers range from 57 cents to $3.74 per head slaughtered."

The committee also assailed the enforcement of these price ceilings on meat purchased by the government for the army and navy, asserting:

"The maintenance by government edict of below cost prices on products which the packer must supply on compulsory government orders is un-American and cannot be too severely condemned."

Demands Prompt Correction.

The result of the "price squeeze and the discriminatory quota system," terms used by the committee, has been the black markets, the report said. The committee asserted it had served notice that the present conditions cannot be permitted to continue, adding:

"An immediate correction of the situation is necessary in the public interest."

The senate subcommittee hearings brought out previously undisclosed details of the military and food outlook even after copious deletions of what was considered secret information.

Expect Lower Production.

It was disclosed that four out of every five county farm agents believe crop production in their counties will drop from 10 per cent to more than 30 per cent below normal this year. At the same time, state commissioners of agriculture pointed out that crop conditions last year were unusually favorable over most of the nation.

The estimates were given by Secretary Wickard, who sent out questionnaires to county agents inquiring as to crop prospects and to factors which might hold down production. While some said production would increase if weather was normal, the great majority foresaw decreases.

It was the opinion of 78 per cent of the 2,780 county agricultural agents thruout the nation that production in 1943 is likely to show a drop up to 20 per cent instead of an increase this year of 7 per cent over 1942 and 37 per cent above the average as planned by the department of agriculture to meet food requirements.

An additional 16 per cent predicted more than a 20 per cent slash in production. Eighty per cent predicted less than normal production, with most of these estimating output at more than 10 per cent below normal.

Testimony before the committee disclosed that farms have lost 3,600,000 men to the services and war industries during the last two years and that there is a need for at least 3,000,000 more farm workers.

In commenting on the hearings, Sen. Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], ranking Republican member of the senate appropriations committee, said:

"Obviously Secretary Wickard has furnished overoptimistic estimates on food production to those federal authorities who are charged with determining the size of our military establishment and our ability to support that establishment."

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

G. C. asks: "Why did you suggest some time ago that enlistments in the air corps would open soon if you had no basis for the statement?"

ANSWER: We did have definite information upon which the statement was based. We now are advised by David H. Caplow, public relations officer of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, that a new air force procurement plan has been approved by the war department, man power commission, selective service system, and other Washington agencies which will permit 17 year olds as well as men between 18 and 26 years of age to apply for immediate voluntary induction into the army air forces.

Each month the adjutant general of the army will set induction quotas, and examining aviation cadet boards will call upon selective service for men to fill the quotas. Young men, qualified by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, may volunteer for army aviation cadet examinations thru their local with the assurance of immediate assignment and training. After qualifying thru the V. F. W. examinations, candidates will provide their own transportation to aviation cadet examination centers to receive the army final qualifying examinations, and if they pass they apply to their draft boards for induction as aviation cadets. To receive the V. F. W. examinations apply at 180 West Washington street, Chicago, between 11 a. m. and 4 p. m.

H. V. P. writes: "My brother is in the service; at present his destination or location is unknown. Before he left he authorized my mother to sell his car. We now have a buyer, but he wants my brother's signature on the bill of sale. In event we hear from him again while he is in the 'States' what statements should we ask him to fill out?"

ANSWER: The only authorization to sell the car which would be of the slightest value would be power of attorney. If you hear from your brother have him see the judge advocate or an attorney and draw up a power of attorney for the mother. This is one of the things that happen when men go to war without putting their affairs in order. Our "Advice to Yanks" article calls attention to the many personal affairs which should be attended to before the man goes into service. We will send this article to any one who requests it and sends us a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

A. J. H. writes: "I am 43 years of age and have just been discharged from the army to work in a defense plant. However, I find that the work isn't to my liking and I wonder if I may resume my former position as salesman for a nonessential industry?"

ANSWER: You were released from the army as an enlisted reservist and subject to recall by the army. Your release was granted on condition that you were to be employed in a defense plant and not in some nonessential industry or capacity. Perhaps you'd rather go back into the army.

ADM. CHARLTON'S PLEA TO WORKER: "STAY ON JOB!"

Rear Adm. Alex M. Charlton, newly assigned inspector of naval material in the Chicago district, which embraces 10 mid-western states and parts of two others, yesterday deplored absenteeism of war plant workers.

Rear Adm. Alex M. Charlton.

Civilians are being trained constantly by the navy to inspect the 200,000 odd items made in the Chicago area for naval craft, Adm. Charlton said, but nothing has been done so far toward supplanting male inspectors with women.

Adm. Charlton, a native of Omaha, Neb., 55 years old, was graduated from the naval academy in 1908. He has served in engineering capacities in the Cavite navy yard in the Philippine Islands and with the Asiatic fleet. He and Mrs. Charlton live at 242 East Delaware place.

FEDERAL BILLS NAME 13 IN NEW WHISKY SCHEME

Two of Group Already Under Sentence.

Twelve men and a woman were indicted by the federal grand jury yesterday on mail fraud and conspiracy charges involving an alleged million dollar whisky scheme. One of the victims was George Brent, the film actor.

George Brent.

The defendants were at one time or other officials or salesmen of the now defunct Consolidated Associates, Inc., 620 North Michigan avenue, and included E. Jay Comer, 228 East Huron street, who in 1934 was chief investigator for the Sabath committee which conducted a series of real estate bond inquiries. Comer later was employed by the securities and exchange commission, and is author of a book, "The Security Racket."

Two Sentenced with Factor.

Others indicted were Mark A. Freeman, 476 Elm street, Wilmette, Consolidated Associates president; Herman J. Garfield, 2920 Commonwealth avenue, vice president; Josephine Drose, secretary; and the following salesmen, H. W. Coakley, 14 West Elm street; Louis C. Davis, 3600 Pine Grove avenue; Leonard Elkin, 56 East Oak street; Lee S. Gordon, 421 Barry avenue; Harry Newberger, 5316 Dorchester avenue; Frank Berger, 426 Briar place; J. Samuel Blum, Hollywood, Cal.; Sidney Epstein and Sidney Davis. Comer was assistant to the company president.

Epstein and Sidney Davis recently were sentenced to prison for 5 and 4 years, respectively, by the federal District court in Cedar Rapids, Ia., on a whisky conspiracy charge. This was the case in which John [Jake the Barber] Factor received a 10 year sentence. Factor was mentioned in the new case.

Say 600 Investors Lose.

Francis J. McGreal, assistant United States attorney, said Salesman Coakley was the man who dealt with Brent, the movie star. Brent, said McGreal, sold $5,000 worth of whisky warehouse receipts to Consolidated Associates, Inc.

J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, said that the group is suspected of having fleeced some 600 investors in warehouse receipts out of about $1,000,000. Most of the investors live in the middlewest, but some, like Brent, in California.

The company went into voluntary bankruptcy Sept. 4, 1941. Its affairs eventually were settled by a trustee and it is understood that most of the investors received some return of their investments.

FBI SEIZES TWO IN BRIBE OFFER TO WPB AGENTS

Agents of the federal bureau of investigation yesterday arrested Herman Weinberg, 32 years old, of 4349 Van Buren street, and Benjamin Boshes, 62, of 1421 South Millard avenue, on charges they attempted to bribe two war production board agents to conceal illegal construction.

Herman Weinberg [top], and Benjamin Boshes.

United States Atty. J. Albert Woll announced he will file criminal informations against both men today, charging them with violation of the United States bribery statute. The maximum penalty for this offense is three years' imprisonment and a fine of three times the amount of the bribe offered, in this case $400.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK.

2 ARE INDICTED IN BANK FRAUD; LOSS IS $40,000

Cashier Faces Charges with Lumberman.

The federal grand jury yesterday returned three indictments in which Charles J. Staff, 36 years old, 10351 South Leavitt street, and a lumberman from Mississippi are charged with the embezzlement of more than $40,447 from the East Side Trust and Savings bank, 10100 Ewing avenue, where Staff was cashier.

The money was used in ill fated business deals, including several real estate ventures, according to United States Attorney J. Albert Woll and his assistant, Maurice Walsh. Staff is married and has two children.

In the first indictment Staff is charged with misappropriating a total of $25,080 with the aid of William F. Fredin, 35 years old, a lumberman from Basin City, Miss., who is named in one of the other indictments. It is charged that Staff and Fredin on four occasions drew checks on the Citizens National Bank of Meridian, Miss., and cashed them at the Chicago bank. On each occasion, it is charged, Fredin signed the checks and cashed them thru Staff.

False Entry Charged.

The two men first drew a check for $6,000 on April 7, 1942, and subsequently drew checks for $5,000, $8,500, and $10,580, during the next six months, it is charged.

In the second indictment against Staff he is accused of making a false entry in the books of the East Side bank on Dec. 11, 1941, crediting the Parkside Sheet Metal Works, Inc. with a deposit of $10,665. This money, the indictment charges, was converted to his own use.

On another occasion Staff is alleged to have manipulated the books of the bank in such a way as to show deposits of $4,732.50 to three separate accounts. Again, it is charged, he took the money for his own use.

Report Over $72,000 Missing.

The indictment against Fredin names him as aiding Staff in these various manipulations, and with signing illegal checks.

Woll said his investigation disclosed that Staff and Fredin misappropriated more than $72,000 during the last year. All of this amount was not charged in the indictments because of the difficulty of providing charges in court, it was explained. Woll said a bonding company has repaid $44,000 of this money.

The indictments were returned before Senior Judge John P. Barnes, who set bond for both men at $5,000. Both were expected to surrender under the indictments.

Fire at Chemical Plant Causes $10,000 Damage

A fire yesterday afternoon in the mixing rooms of the Goris company, commercial chemical manufacturers, 81st street and Hoyne avenue, destroyed $10,000 in chemicals and equipment. Acting Fire Marshal Harry Scheckel of the 5th division said the fire, apparently starting from static electricity, ignited a cleaning fluid. The main portion of the plant was untouched.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Laura Dean Root.

Mrs. Laura Dean Root, member of a pioneer Chicago family, died in Los Angeles Thursday, her niece, Mrs. Charles S. Clark, learned yesterday. Mrs. Root was born in Chicago 88 years ago. She attended a school on the present site of the Boston store. After the loop became commercialized the family moved to Park Ridge where she and her husband, the late Zalmon Dana Root, lived until they moved to California several years ago. Mrs. Clark is the only survivor. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at Rosehill chapel.

Isaac Daniels.

Services for Isaac Daniel, a Chicagoan for 50 years and resident of Hyde Park for 35 years, will be held at 11:30 a. m. Monday at Congregation A. D. Beth Hamedrash Hagodol, 5345 Greenwood avenue. He was a past president of the congregation. Mr. Daniel, a south side real estate man prior to his retirement several years ago, died yesterday in his home, 5325 Woodlawn avenue. Surviving are the widow, Lena, and three daughters, Irene Cohen, Lillian Wallace, and Ruth Ginsburg.

John Bernero.

John Bernero, for many years a figure in Chicago's theatrical life, died yesterday in Phoenix, Ariz., after an illness of several months. He was about 55 years old, and in Chicago lived at the Bismarck hotel. Mr. Bernero, member of a pioneer Chicago family, formerly managed the Studebaker and Playhouse theaters and at one time was secretary of the Apollo under Al Woods. He was unmarried. The body will be brought to Chicago for burial.

Patrick J. O'Brien.

Patrick J. O'Brien, 88 years old, who lived in the same house at 5457 Kimbark avenue for more than 50 years, died yesterday. He was a carpenter and builder, and is survived by two sons, Thomas and Matthew. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a. m. Monday in St. Thomas the Apostle church. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery.

FORMER SOLDIER SAVED FROM JAIL IN SUPPORT CASE

The intervention of Atty. Sol Friedman yesterday saved William E. Helwig, 37 years old, a former soldier, from six months in jail for contempt. Helwig, who was given a medical discharge from Camp Swift, Texas, two weeks ago, and who returned to Chicago last Saturday, was arraigned before Judge Oscar F. Nelson of the Superior court on complaint of his former wife, Florence, 6955 West 64th street, who sought support for herself and two small children.

William E. Helwig.

Helwig, still in army uniform, testified that he visited his former wife and his children Sunday, and on Monday spent $21 for clothing for his younger child, Robert, 5. He had only $10 left and no job, he said. Judge Nelson ordered him to give half to Mrs. Helwig. Helwig refused, and Judge Nelson sentenced him to jail.

Atty. Friedman intervened, and said he would represent Helwig gratis. Judge Nelson vacated the sentence, continued the case for a week, and ordered a social agency to investigate the case, especially Helwig's plea for custody of the children.

DIES OF MACHINE INJURIES.

James Gillison, 22 years old, Negro, 3655 South Park way, was injured fatally yesterday when he was caught in a machine of the American Car and Foundry company, 2417 South Paulina street, where he worked.

FIND BLUEGRASS HORSEMAN SLAIN BESIDE HIS CAR

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 26 (AP).—The shotgun death near here today of John Edward [Ed] Madden, 48 years old, sportsman, polo enthusiast, and owner of Hamburg Place, a 2,200 acre blue grass farm, was termed a suicide by J. W. McCord, Fayette county patrol chief.

The body of Madden was found slumped in front of his automobile on a side road off Winchester pike shortly after 9 a. m. by Stanley Wiley, farmer who lives nearby. A discharged shotgun was within reach of the body and under Madden's form was found a recently fired .38 special revolver, McCord said.

Madden was a son of the late John E. Madden, thorobred horse breeder and racer who died in 1929. The elder Madden's horses won the Kentucky Derby in 1914 [Old Rosebud], 1920 [Paul Jones], 1923 [Zev], and 1925 [Flying Ebony]. Also, he was co-breeder of Sir Barton, 1919 Derby winner.

Survivors are his widow, the former Winifred West of Tulsa, Okla.; two sons, Pat, 10, and Preston, 8, and his mother, Mrs. L. V. Bell of New York City.

Madden was president of the Hubbinger company, manufacturers of corn products, at Keokuk, Ia., and held considerable oil investments in Oklahoma.

TRAFFIC CRASH KILLS SOLDIER FROM CHICAGO

Two soldiers, one from Chicago, in training at Fort Benning, Ga., were killed yesterday when their light cargo truck and a Central of Georgia freight train collided at a railroad crossing within the division area, army officials announced. The men were listed as Pvt. Seymour Utay, 28 years old, son of Mrs. Sara Utay, 1549 South Avers avenue, and Pvt. Robert E. Bigham Jr., 21, of Carnegie, Pa.

Dave Heinrich, 32, of 1527 North 37th avenue, Melrose Park, was killed yesterday in a headon collision of two automobiles at Highland avenue and Butterfield road in Wheaton. The other car was driven by Homer Ellis, 28, of Lombard.

Edward Scheck, 23, of 2105 South 6th avenue, Maywood, died in Oak Park hospital last night of injuries received when his milk truck collided with the Forest Park fire truck at Dunlop street and Harvard avenue in Forest Park. Capt. Glenn Cross and Fireman John Runzo of the Forest Park fire department also were treated at the hospital for slight injuries.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday, 83 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. During the same period, 2,097 persons have been injured in traffic accidents.

RATIONING CUTS AUTO FATALITY TOLL ONE-THIRD

Automobile accidents and resultant injuries and fatalities have declined more than one-third in Chicago since gasoline rationing went into effect Dec. 1, records disclosed yesterday.

From last Dec. 1 to Feb. 24 there have been 2,946 accidents, 3,591 injury cases, and 111 fatalities, compared with 4,589 accidents, 5,693 injuries, and 160 deaths in the corresponding period a year ago. This is a decline of more than 35 per cent in accidents, 37 per cent in injuries, and 31 per cent in fatalities.

Otto K. Jelinek, traffic engineer for the park district, said mileage driven on the boulevards has declined nearly 40 per cent since gas rationing, and appears to have become stabilized at this level. Capt. David Flynn, in charge of the police traffic division, said the lower accident rate is not caused entirely by rationing, but follows a trend that started in 1934. There were 466 fatalities in 16,175 accidents in 1942, and 623 in 22,466 in 1941.

Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler of Municipal court reported 236 defendants in Automobile court this month, compared to 412 during last February.

YOUNG GUNMAN HIJACKS TRUCK FULL OF COFFEE

An incident reminiscent of prohibition days when hoodlums hijacked liquor trucks took place yesterday when a young gunman jumped aboard the truck of James Harvalis, 5407 Van Buren street, in front of 1900 Madison street.

"Drive where I tell you," said the gunman. He directed Harvalis to an alley nearby, took $10, a ring and a watch, then forced Harvalis from the truck, and drove off.

The truck carried two small stoves, 600 bags of chocolate flavoring, 1,700 teaballs—and 300 pounds of coffee.

DR. HARSHA DIES; CHICAGO DOCTOR FOR MANY YEARS

Dr. William McIntire Harsha, professor emeritus of clinical surgery at the University of Illinois and formerly staff surgeon at St. Luke's hospital, died early yesterday morning in his home at 5121 Kimbark avenue following a short illness. He was 88 years old.

Dr. Harsha had practiced surgery in Chicago since 1890, six years after his graduation from the Chicago Medical college. He first opened offices in Decatur. He was well known for his exhaustive studies of specialized surgical techniques, and was a contributer to all major medical journals. A founder of the American College of Surgeons, he was a member of many medical societies and a former president of the Chicago Surgical society.

He is survived by a son, Dr. William T. Harsha, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Emily Harsha. His wife, Amelia, died in 1929. Funeral services will be private, but friends may call at the chapel at 4227 Cottage Grove avenue until Monday noon.

U. OF LOUISVILLE PRESIDENT DIES ABOARD A TRAIN

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 26 (AP).—Dr. Raymond Asa Kent, 59 years old, president of the University of Louisville, was found dead on a Chesapeake & Ohio train on its arrival here today.

Deputy Coroner M. Rodger Dougherty said the body was found in a Pullman seat by a porter and the death was believed to have occurred after the train left Shelbyville, Ky. Dr. Kent had been to Washington, D. C. The cause of death was not announced immediately.

Dr. Kent was dean of liberal arts at Northwestern university from 1923 to 1929, when he became president of the University of Louisville. He was born on a farm in northeastern Iowa and received his early education at Fayette, Ia. After being graduated from Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Ia., he received master of arts and doctor of philosophy degrees from Columbia university.

SEEK TWO HEIRS TO LAKE FOREST FLORIST'S $55,000

In the Lake county Probate court a $55,000 legacy awaits two brothers, Albert and Carl Schiele, whose whereabouts are unknown. They are the nephews of Rudolph Schiele, a Lake Forest florist, who died Jan. 10 in the Lake Forest hospital at the age of 75.

A week before he died Schiele made his will, naming his nephews as the only heirs. He told Atty. George L. Reilly that he had not seen them for 10 years, but believed they lived in the east. They are about 40 years old.

Judge Martin C. Decker admitted Schiele's will to probate yesterday and William H. Harding, executor of the estate, began a search for the heirs. The estate includes $35,000 in personal property and $20,000 in real estate.

DAUGHTERS LEFT $210,000 ESTATE OF MRS. OWSLEY

The will of Mrs. Caroline D. Owsley, sister of Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, was filed with Probate Clerk Frank Lyman yesterday. It disposes of an estate estimated at $210,000, which is to be divided between her daughters, Mrs. Sterling Morton, 1260 Astor street, and Mrs. Philip Hutchins of Ogunquit, Me.

Mrs. Owsley, widow of Heaton Owsley, and daughter of Carter H. Harrison, the elder, five times mayor of Chicago, died Feb. 21 at the Ambassador East hotel. She was 84.

William S. McLean, retired loop tailor, left an estate of $205,000, according to his will filed also with Clerk Lyman. The estate goes to his widow, Georgia, 707 Bittersweet place.

Carr, Beaten for Sheriff, Given a State Position

John D. Biggs, chairman of the Illinois Commerce commission, announced yesterday that Leo Carr, Republican nominee for sheriff in the recent election, had been appointed supervisor of warehouses for the commission. Carr succeeds William H. Weber, who died. Biggs also announced the appointment of Atty. Robert Friedlander as a commission examiner.

GIVE GOVERNORS DECREE POWERS, EASTMAN URGES

Asks Move to End State War Traffic Barriers.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Joseph B. Eastman, transportation director, today asked the 44 state legislatures in session this year to scrap state barriers impeding war traffic thru the adoption of a suggested emergency transportation act.

The bill Eastman suggested would introduce into state governments the administration's growing practice of governing by decree.

Specifically, Eastman asked state assemblies to confer on their governors authority to issue executive orders on the following:

1. Staggered hours of employment to facilitate carrying persons to and from work.
2. Maximum rates of speed for motor vehicles.
3. Sizes and weights of motor vehicles which may use state highways.
4. Suspension of requirements for licenses or fees for the entry and operation of vehicles licensed in another state.
5. Conservation of vital equipment, materials, and supplies—thru group riding and other measures.

Holds Laws Hamper Action.

Eastman said most states have cooperated in efforts to overcome state barriers, but that in most cases action has been taken by governors without supporting legislation. In other cases, he added, governors have been unable to act because of legislative restrictions.

Most states have coöperated with the office of defense transportation's requested 35 miles an hour speed limit, but in many cases action had to be limited to patriotic appeals, Eastman said.

Eastman cited as an example of state barriers the laws of some states which permit entry of gasoline transports between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m. only. He said that in other instances trucks carrying rush deliveries of war plant machinery have been stopped and their drivers fined because the length of the material carried was excessive under state laws.

Finds Group Riding Snag.

Eastman said that in some states drivers sponsoring group riding, which he termed essential for rubber conservation, are legally required to obtain public utility licenses if they charge passengers for the rides.

The council of state governments and the department of justice coöperated with ODT in drawing up the suggested state transportation act, Eastman said.

The Eastman proposal was submitted to the legislators thru a report by the council on suggested state war legislation.

ICKES DISREGARDS TRUTH, IS CHARGE BY PUERTO RICAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Bolivar Pagan, resident commissioner from Puerto Rico, turned on the heat today in his controversy with Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes over the proposed removal of Rexford Guy Tugwell from the Puerto Rican governorship.

Ickes and Pagan engaged in a lively dispute Wednesday at an open hearing of the insular affairs committee of the house at which Ickes read a long statement denying earlier charges against his department by Pagan.

Pagan answered him today at an executive session of the committee, of which Pagan is a member.

"I am not going to raise any point of personal privilege," Pagan reported he told the committee, "which is proper and fair in all deliberative bodies when one of its members is personally assailed and even personally abused as I was by the long tirade of Mr. Ickes in his remarks Wednesday.

"I have never heard a person in high office exploding in such a reckless way in such a reckless disregard of fairness and truth."

OPA ORDER BARS TIRE MAN FROM WORK 2 MONTHS

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 26 (AP).—Emery R. Hoff of Adrian, Mich., a tire dealer, has been forbidden to engage in the tire business from March 1 to April 30 under a suspension order of the office of price administration, A. D. Ruegsegger, chief district enforcement attorney of the OPA, announced today.

Ruegsegger said the order charged that Hoff as an authorized tire inspector certified that he had inspected four tires on an automobile when he had not done so and that he said the tires were smooth when such was not the case.

He said that during his suspension Hoff is forbidden to accept delivery of or to transfer any new, used, recapped or retreaded tires, or any tubes.

Danish King Ill, but Not Seriously, Says Nazi Radio

LONDON, Feb. 26 (AP).—The German radio today reported King Christian X. of Denmark had been confined to his bed for several days with a slight temperature, but that "on the whole his health was satisfactory." The Danish king was severely injured last November when thrown from his horse, but recovered.

NYE SEES SMEAR IN INQUIRY ABOUT BANNED DRIVING

OPA Asks Why Car Was at Country Club.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The OPA has asked Sen. Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.] to explain why his car was parked near a country club, it was disclosed today, and Nye has hit back with a charge that attempts are being made to "smear" him.

Nye said he received a form letter from an OPA official asking him to explain why his car was parked at the Columbia Country club Tuesday afternoon.

Feels He Was Watched.

"The charge of violating the ban on pleasure driving," Nye wrote the official, "is confirmation of a feeling I have entertained for some months, a feeling that I was being closely watched in my use of my automobile.

"Perhaps it would please certain people in a large way if only they could hang on me some official reprimand for alleged atrocities or activities that would lend themselves to the preachments of these people, preachments intended to convey an un-American if not a pro-Hitler sympathy on my part.

"I've been thru months of smearing at the hands of these people, so I expect this action, which leads to your letter to me, was to be expected."

Explains Presence of Car.

The explanation of why the car was parked there is simple, Nye said—he parked it there himself.

"On that afternoon," he wrote, "I had driven to Columbia hospital to call on Mrs. Nye, who was there confined. On the way to my home I stopped at Columbia Country club, and drove on home from there. Columbia Country club was directly on my route between the hospital and my home at 6 Farmington drive in Chevy Chase, Md. There was no fuel and no rubber used by reason of my stopping at the club.

"Do the regulations require me, in these circumstances, to drive my car right past the Columbia Country club and on to my home and then walk back to the club if I have a desire to be there?"

RETURN SUSPECT IN SLAYING OF GROCER IN 1938

Harry Gianapolis.

Harry Gianapolis, 50 years old, sought for five years by the Chicago police for the slaying of Peter Antanopoulas, a grocer, was returned here yesterday from Detroit, Mich., by Deputy Sheriff P. D. Agriospathes, a cousin of the slain man. Gianapolis was indicted after the grocer was found shot to death June 28, 1938, in his store at 1629 Madison street. Alex Napoli, assistant state's attorney, said Gianapolis told him he killed the grocer in self-defense after disarming him twice as he atempted to settle a dispute between his brother, Mike, and the grocer.

BOND SALE DRIVE FOR NEW CHICAGO HAS BIGGEST DAY

The total of the war bond drive to replace the heavy cruiser Chicago yesterday was brought to $9,453,812 when $1,577,006 in war bonds was sold during the 10th day of the 40 day campaign to raise 40 million dollars.

Oscar G. Mayer, executive chairman of the committee in charge of the drive, reported that yesterday's sales were the largest in the drive. The increase, he said, cut the slack which was caused by two legal holidays early this week by 1 million dollars, leaving the drive only $546,187 behind.

THE QUESTION.

In what way has the lack of machinery interfered with your farming plans?

WHERE ASKED.

West of Wheaton.

THE ANSWERS.

Floyd Mochel, Downers Grove—My last year's soy bean crop has not been harvested. It should have been done in October or November, but the combines were in great demand and mine was just one of the crops left in the field.

R. C. Harvey, Naperville—Last year my team ran away with the small grain seeder and wrecked it. Now I'll have to borrow one and that will mean the planting will be delayed. Du Page county is allowed but one new machine.

Leo Brummel, Naperville—I've been spending too much time trying to locate a larger tractor. My small one is 13 years old and on its 'last legs.' I would be able to do twice as much work if I had a larger tractor.

George Brummerl, West Chicago—I've wasted too much time trying to buy a corn sheller. The one I used last year is inadequate. If I can't get what I want I'll manage somehow, but I'd like to be making better use of my time.

Ted Howell, Davenport, Ia.—Trucks are a very essential part of my farm. I've been running three of them, but now I cannot do it. I sold one truck because it was impossible to buy replacement parts. It's also difficult to find an extra driver.

Charles R. Rice, 5844 Stony Island avenue—My partner bought a new hammermill grinder. Transferring it from one county to another involved two ration boards. The time, gas, and tires he wasted could have finished half the spring plowing.

Cobblers Are Warned to Charge Ceiling Prices

Raymond S. McKeough, regional administrator for the office of price administration, cautioned cobblers yesterday to abide by ceiling prices set last May. He asserted complaints had been received that some had raised prices because of shoe rationing. He said they can charge no more than the highest price charged during March, 1942, for each service and also must adhere to fixed ceilings on rubber heels.

RIP OPA FAILURE TO FIX PRICES ON VEGETABLE PACK

Canners Charge Delay Is Threat to Supplies.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Office of price administration delays in fixing price ceilings for the 1943 pack of vegetables are threatening to reduce further the slender supplies of these foods in prospect for civilians this year, leading canning officials declared today.

The canning representatives, who concluded a two day discussion of war problems, including conferences with OPA officials, left Washington tonight without word from OPA as to what prices will be fixed for the 1943 pack.

Officials said this delay is discouraging the production of canned vegetables because of the uncertainty it has created.

Say Growers Switch Crops.

"Before canners can contract with growers to buy vegetable crops for the 1943 pack," a spokesman explained, "they have to know what prices they can expect to receive for their products. Some growers who normally raise peas or tomatoes, for example, already have decided to plant their acreage in soy beans or something else, because they have been unable to make agreements with the canners. Normally this contracting starts in January."

Another OPA move said to have added to confusion among canners is the compulsory institution of grade labeling on all cans of fruits and vegetables packed this year. The program, announced yesterday by Prentiss M. Brown, price administrator, requires grade labeling in accordance with standards set by the department of agriculture.

Face Prosecution.

It was disclosed that canners who inadvertently misgrade any can will be subject to criminal prosecution under the federal pure food and drug act.

The food and drug law specifies that canners may at their discretion place grades on their products. However, misgradings under this voluntary system is made a criminal offense under the act.

B AND C DRIVERS RUSH TO RENEW RATION PERMITS

Receipts of renewal applications for B and C gasoline rations rose perceptibly yesterday as the Feb. 28 expiration date of current rations neared, Michael F. Mulcahy, Chicago metropolitan area director for the office of price administration, said last night. There is no deadline on renewals but they should not be delayed, he said.

Altho the OPA rationing boards started mailing renewal application blanks to motorists two weeks ago, the returns were slow until yesterday, when, apparently, motorists discovered they would be unable to buy gasoline with their current books which become worthless after Sunday, Mulcahy said.

According to a census of B and C card holders taken as of Dec. 31, 151,157 motorists in the Chicago metropolitan area received B cards in addition to A cards and 87,672 got C cards. Registrations for A cards totaled 715,547. These figures do not reflect the addition of Lake county, Indiana, and parts of Du Page, Lake, and Cook counties to the area.

THE SECOND FRONT AND SECOND THOUGHTS.

Stalin's comment on the second front and the fictitious obligations of the United States and Great Britain to him is an effrontery.

Thruout 1940, from the fall of France in June and thru 1941 until June 22, Great Britain fought alone against Hitler. If the Nazi could cross the channel or destroy England from the air, the war was won. The small British army was disorganized by Dunkirk, where its equipment was lost. It was a desperate year.

There was then a second front on the continent. Russia had opened it against Britain's stricken ally, Poland, which Stalin and Hitler had divided, against Finland and against Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania, whose liberties had been destroyed.

That is what England owes to Russia in this war. Stalin's conflict with Germany was an accident of bad timing and of unexpected and unintended benefit to the British. Logically, Mr. Churchill should be grateful to Hitler. Stalin, altho preparing to double cross the Germans, would have waited until the Nazis were off guard. Hitler brought the double dealing to a showdown. It was not Mr. Stalin's purpose to pull Hitler off Britain.

A short memory may be valuable in the art of statesmanship just now, but Britain owes nothing to Russia. America owes nothing to the soviets. Stalin talks of a second front as if it were his due. In 1939 he made war in Europe certain by signing a treaty with Hitler. He worked with the Nazi until the perfidies inherent in their association could no longer be continued even by the world's great masters of perfidy. The Red dictatorship now is useful to the allies. It is being supported because its armies are killing Germans. It should be supported just as an army of grizzly bears or cobras should be supported if they could do the same work.

The United States and Great Britain are at war with Russia's enemy, Japan. They do not get a second front from Stalin. He keeps on good terms with Japan in this struggle just as he kept on good terms with Germany while Great Britain was in danger. He withholds his support on the Japanese front just as he withheld it on the German front until he tricked himself and Hitler caught him. Adolf can be an awful fool as well as a beast, but he wasn't a zany when he pounced on Josef. Josef's concentration of troops and his encroachment on territory excluded from the robber agreements told the other thief what was to be expected. The other thief drew first.

The record of Stalin is treacherous. The allies need a second front in their own interest. What will happen when the two fronts meet, possibly in Berlin, they cannot foretell. They certainly owe nothing to the soviet government. It was an enemy until it found itself in deadly peril caused by its own duplicity.

Stalin's second front remarks were incorporated in his order of the day to the Red army celebrating its 25th anniversary. The celebration had one noteworthy particular. The founder of the Red army was not mentioned. It probably would have cost a man his head to have done so. The founder was Leon Trotsky. Mr. Churchill, when he felt freer to express his opinions than he does now, wrote of Trotsky and Stalin in his book "Great Contemporaries."

"I have before me an article that Leon Trotsky, alias Bronstein, has recently contributed to John O'London's weekly in which he deals with my description of Lenin, with the allied intervention in Russia, with Lord Birkenhead, and other suggestive topics. He has written this article from his exile in Turkey while supplicating England, France, and Germany to admit him to the civilizations it has been—and still is—the object of his life to destroy. Russia—his own Red Russia—the Russia he had framed and fashioned to his heart's desire regardless of suffering, all his daring, all his writing, all his harangues, all his atrocities, all his achievements, have led only to this—that another comrade [Stalin], his subordinate in revolutionary rank, his inferior in wit, tho not perhaps in crime, rules in his stead while he, the once triumphant Trotsky whose frown meted death to thousands, sits disconsolate—a skin of malice stranded for a time on the shores of the Black sea and now washed up in the Gulf of Mexico."

PRINTING PRESS MONEY.

When Mr. Roosevelt took office in 1933 there was something like 6½ billion dollars of money in circulation in this country. Now the total is close to 16 billions. The rise in 1942 alone was 4¼ billions, or about 35 per cent.

It is said that this increase is not inflationary but rather reflects the need of the country for more currency now that we are experiencing full employment at high wages. A lot of the people now at work, it is explained, are unaccustomed to using banks as places to keep money and are still less familiar with the uses of checking accounts. Therefore more cash is needed than ever before.

Maybe so, but the increase in the paper money circulation is not the only or even the principal inflationary threat today. The government debt grew by nearly 48 billion dollars in the calendar year 1942. Of this total, the commercial banks of the country lent the government 19½ billions and the federal reserve banks advanced almost 4 billions. Together they absorbed almost half of the government's deficit.

Thus, at the same time that the currency is being expanded by unprecedented amounts and at unprecedented rates of increase, credit is also being expanded by very much larger amounts. From time to time the New Dealers express concern over what they call the "inflationary gap," but they go right on printing money and loading the commercial banks with government paper, thereby inviting the widening of the gap. Then they complain about black markets and find it difficult to stabilize prices. It is impossible to believe that they don't know what they're doing or are unaware of the dangers inherent in their fiscal policy.

HOW THE NEW DEALERS TRUST THE FARMER.

The evident belief of the New Deal burocracy that the American farmer is a dangerous criminal is attested by a contract every farmer is required to sign in seeking permission to buy new farm machinery. By practically swearing his life away the farmer may be authorized to purchase the machinery. But he is threatened both before and after making any purchase and, under the terms of his contract, is forced to agree that his county or state rationing board can take his machinery away at its discretion, without trial and without compensation.

Joseph Weiner, a Russian born New York lawyer, who runs the WPB civilian supply division, had already made it sufficiently difficult for the farmer to get machinery by allocating only 31 per cent of 1940 production for domestic purchase during the first quarter of this year. Meanwhile, this Union square agricultural authority had raised export quotas of American farm machinery to as high as 118 per cent of the 1940 average.

The contract which makes the farmer's task of acquiring machinery just a little harder is known as Form Mr20 of the department of agriculture. The farmer has to answer 25 questions under oath, and is warned that if he is lying he can be fined $10,000 and put in prison for 10 years. He then agrees that "all my right, title, and interest in and to the aforementioned new farm machinery shall immediately vest in the United States" if the rationing board finds [1] that he has used the machinery for any purpose other than stated in his declaration; [2] that he has made a false statement in his application, or [3] that there has been a determination "that such vesting is necessary to protect the best interest of the United States."

Rep. William S. Hill of Colorado, who called the attention of congress to this remarkable document, asserted that it could only be construed as proof that the burocrats had concluded that "our farm folks are not to be trusted and are held in no regard for the truth or the respecting of their signatures to notes, contracts, or public instruments." The burocrats, he said, "think the farmers are selfish, unneighborly, and unwilling to assist one another in this hour of need. Consequently they presume to write an ironbound contract to curb these treacherous creatures."

Mr. Hill has suggested the appropriate recourse for the farmers. "I think," he stated, "the agricultural population of our country would be justified in tearing this sheet of paper to pieces, rolling it in a wad, and stuffing it down the throats of these would-be economists who think they can force the agriculturists of this country to become serfs and slaves directed by burocrats here in Washington."

IN THE BOMBPROOFS OF WASHINGTON.

A recent survey showed that the population of Washington, D. C., contains a higher percentage of men liable to military induction from 18 to 38 years old than any state in the Union. This is no accident of statistics. The people of Washington are divided into two classes—a majority who live off the government and a minority who live off the government clerks. If there are more draft eligibles about Washington than there are anywhere else in the country, the reason is simple. They are evading military service by hiding in government bureaus.

Public indignation at slackers in uniform finally reached such a pitch that the war and navy departments had to take cognizance of it by ordering all officers of combat age out of the city. This transfer of men of fighting age to posts where they reasonably may expect to see some fighting has presumably been finished. A subcommittee of the house military affairs committee, acting on information furnished by Rep. Forest A. Harness, Indiana Republican, has now started to work on the civilian slackers.

Among the latter, Mr. Harness says he has been informed, are a multitude of young Harvard graduates holding down desks in the legal departments of the office of price administration and war production board when they ought to be holding up a rifle in the infantry. The subcommittee also has a substantial file of letters from draft boards, service men, and civilians protesting against putting well paid young civilians alongside army privates who have to do the same work for $50 a month.

The first thing that the subcommittee has done has been to require various federal agencies to furnish lists of all men for whom draft deferments have been procured on the plea that the employés' services in their present jobs are essential to the war. It may be counted upon in advance that those deferments are almost 100 per cent fraudulent. If the army and navy can get along in Washington operating the necessary headquarters facilities of the fighting services themselves without young men of combat age, civilian agencies, including the civilian-manned bureaus of the navy and war departments, have no excuse whatever for holding on to men of similar age.

Washington holds the answer to a substantial part of the man power problem. The house investigating committee can provide that answer by driving the slackers and boondogglers out of the capital and into uniform and useful work.

Editorial of the Day

IT SOUNDS LIKE US, BUT IT ISN'T.

[Toronto Globe and Mail.]

It would be most unfortunate if the government of Canada is allowed to escape an early and complete inquiry into the man power muddle.

The military draft broke down for the same reason that every phase of our mobilization of man power is breaking down. There is no over-all selective service plan. Driven to planning by the growing shortages a year ago, the government resorted to fraud. It created the national selective service machinery, and refused its director the powers to make that machinery work. Finally critical shortages in the coal industry, the base metal mines, the timber industry, shipyards, and now agriculture, have compelled it to accept compulsory transfers of labor.

Having allowed skilled men to escape from essential industry into the services, having drafted men from the mines and the farms into military service, having allowed tens of thousands of potential recruits to hide out in nonessential jobs, it proposes, as announced by Minister of Labor Mitchell the first of the week, to draft its drafted army back into civilian occupations. Here, surely, is the proof positive of the unbelievably rotten mess that has been made of the mobilization of man power. Here is the proof positive of the utter lack of a man power plan.

MR. PEPYS INSPECTS THE PLANT.

27th Feb.—Took a bus driver's holiday the other evening and went on the grand tour of The Tribune plant with a large group of pilgrims, having first dined with them, and enjoyed it heartily as I inspected my fellow workmen like a stranger. The other pilgrims were architects, accustomed to buildings and mechanical arrangements, but they were mightily impressed, especially with the organization of it all and how everything ran like a watch, with no signs of excitement.

Then a few of us went up to the 25th story terrace of the Tribune Tower, in the hope of studying astronomy, but the weather was coming on to snow, so we studied street lights instead and marveled at our good fortune of living in a great city not blacked out by the war. Up there, at the base of the flying buttresses, the only tenants are the winds, and one feels like a steeplejack on the crown of a Gothic cathedral.

Have dined this week in Michigan avenue clubs all the way from Van Buren street to Grand avenue, and feel like a character in an O. Henry story. In one of them, encountered the world's greatest boulevardier, Burton Holmes, the traveler, now celebrating his 50th professional anniversary, and noted that he can still wear a bow tie better than any man in history. Asked Burton about his plans for next year's lectures, and he said he has his eye on Brazil, where the rubber and coffee used to come from.

Am ready to greet the coming of March with a cheer, for altho it is always a wretched month, full of plaguy weather, it says that spring is just around the corner and we have just about pulled thru another winter of the world's discontent.

HELP WANTED.

The maid's gone off to join the WAACS,
The butler's joined the army;
Our house all sense of smoothness lacks—
But I can't let it alarm me!

Our cook is learning to weld, I hear;
Our chauffeur works for Kaiser.
(The well-trained hostess is held, I hear,
To not let such surpraiser!)

Our pots and pans have marched to war
(It seems they were aluminum),
Our cupboards yawn from door to door;
They never had so much ruminum!

I've no desire to carp or grouse,
For I'm not a bit refractory,
But I would like some one to watch th house
While I work at the airplane factory!

An Old Military Custom.

The ingenious use of anti-personnel mines in the present war has aroused considerable interest in such booby traps. There has even been some discussion in the press about their origin, and it now seems to be conceded that they were used in the Seminole war in 1840 and to some extent during the Civil war.

It happens that corroboration of their Confederate use comes in a rare Iowa newspaper recently given to the Newberry library and put on exhibition in a case on the first floor of the library.

The paper is the Clayton County Journal, and the volume is opened at the issue for May 22, 1862, which contains a report on "The Brutality of the Rebels." It states that over a dozen men were killed the day before by "the traps of the 'brave' chivalry of the south," and that Gen. F. J. Porter almost lost his life when his horse stepped on but failed to explode a buried torpedo. The account goes on to say that earlier in the day Gen. Jameson had a similar escape while in the works with the advance.

"A member of Berdan's sharpshooters, who was killed near his rifle pit beyond our outposts several days ago, lay in the field where he first fell. The rebels had come out, taken his repeating rifle and, planting four or five of these torpedoes around the spot where he lay, doubtless anticipated a serious explosion and loss of life when our men prepared to bury him. There are numerous sad incidents related of the effects of these more than brutal machines."

HE WILL COME BACK.

(Dedicated to Contributor Timosius.)

He will come back, he said; he will come back
When he has finished his long march and dropped his pack.
He will come back to hear the meadow lark
Tuning his joyous lay, and subtly mark
Where in the tufted grass a sacred nest
Hides all that earth holds best;
He will be walking down the long corn rows
Where the hot, acrid pollen blows
And each leaf holds its drop of dew
For which the thirsty rootlets sue.
And this black soil he loved shall take
The impress of his roving feet and make
Of fields, and woods, and prairie grass
A song that whispers, "Let him pass."

When Gandhi Came to Chicago.

Mohandas Gandhi and his wife were entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McMullen, 1021 Grove street, Evanston, in 1893. While here he addressed a number of groups; at one time there were 200 present in the McMullen home. The young Indian lawyer, then 23 years of age, was dressed in dapper style. Mrs. Gandhi wore native costume, and was unhappy because she could not talk or understand the English language.

Gandhi was in this country as a delegate to the parliament of religions held during the Columbian exposition. He probably participated in the deliberations of the congress.

An old regular army sergeant got into a jam and was up before the judge advocate. He was asked if he could produce a witness to testify to his good character.

"Yes, indeed," he said. "You can act as that witness, judge."

"But I don't even know you!"

"And there you have the testimony! I've put in eight hitches in this army, and now is the first time you see me."

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

CONFIDENCE AND COURAGE AID HEALTH.

ANXIETY can influence health. It is scarcely possible to reconcile a furrowed brow, a blanched face, and trembling limbs with the normal functioning of every organ. If apprehension is pronounced the subject may be conscious of throbbing of the heart or a sense of choking.

The only remedy for worry is the solution of the problems responsible. The longer one postpones facing facts, the more damage will be sustained. After a time injuries of this sort may be transformed into neuroses.

As a rule the victim will be one who has lost confidence in himself and his ability to confront the rebuffs that come with each day's occupation. As a result, a huge toll of minor symptoms may be magnified into serious episodes. There is then added to the sum total of fears the conviction that illness exists from which recovery is doubtful. As we know, these sufferers may exhibit faintness, fatigue, tightness about the throat, sleeplessness, bowel disturbances, and the like.

After assuring himself that no organic malady is present, the physician will be more successful if he will explain frankly each manifestation, with the assurance that everything complained of can proceed from the playful antics of the nervous system. Even a belligerent attitude may be an attempt to compensate for a feeling of insecurity. The victim is alarmed. He requires help and hence will shout for it.

The doctor will fail to accomplish anything unless he is able to gain and hold the confidence of his patient. Doubting the word of his medical counselor, the individual may drop back into a state bordering upon despair. In consequence, many of these persons, in desperation, visit physician after physician and get no better fast.

Rational treatment consists in prescribing a better balanced diet with precise regularity of meals. More hours in bed are usually helpful. A warm tub bath before retiring aids relaxation and will sometimes be of greater value than a sedative. Physiotherapy seems to be more productive of good than all the drugs in the catalogue. With additional rest and improved nutrition—gentle massage, plus the stimulation of muscles with electric currents, and the application of heat ofttimes work wonders.

But basically the mind must be freed of its "starter" and here friends and relatives may need to be called in. If the sufferer is attempting to do more than his physical and nervous constitution can stand, a change or respite becomes a necessity. In other words, if he is out of his depth, some letup will be demanded.

A complete checkup can do much to rid the mind of fear of such diseases as cancer, tuberculosis, and syphilis. But the verdict must be sound and should follow a critical and accurate examination. For example, it is good to hear a reputable physician, one whom we trust, say "your heart is sound." Nevertheless, the habit of crossing bridges before we come to them is inherent in many of us.

HAIR PROBLEM.

J. P. writes: Because of a recent illness, I have to take long hot baths. Could this be responsible for dry, falling hair?

REPLY.

Hold the illness responsible, not the baths. As soon as your reserve is back at par, the condition should disappear.

ALWAYS HUNGRY.

Miss E. K. writes: About three hours after I eat a full meal, I feel hungry. Can this be a tapeworm?

REPLY.

Voracious parasites [tapeworms] are rare. The chances are that your stomach empties a bit too rapidly. Eat slowly. Take little fluid with your meals.

MUCOUS MEMBRANE DISORDER.

Mrs. E. H. writes: What is vasomotor rhinitis?

REPLY.

Inflammation of the mucous lining of the airways, which follows dilatation of the surface capillaries. Hay fever is a typical example.

ACID.

L. G. writes: Has an acid system any bearing on neuritis?

REPLY.

None. On the other hand, uric acid is friendly to gout.

SUBJECT FOR PRAYER.

Dallas, Tex., Feb. 24.—Maybe it ought to be the part of the citizens of this country to grin and bear it, and simply say: "We are at war—and that answers everything." Why should we complain that bungling burocrats, in order to build up a great political machine for themselves, have manufactured devious methods of solving common sense problems? Why should we complain if they hire all of the theorists to formulate regulations and orders so complex that one versed in all the higher educative branches has a hard time figuring them out? What else could they have had in mind when manufacturing such work than to get a corner on all the swivel chairs in the nation to hold the fat rumps of political friends so that when time came for political announcements they would have plenty of people to do their bidding?

Take coffee. If suddenly the whole country was faced with the fact of giving it up, it wouldn't make an iota's difference to the war, yet the theorists, so-called experts, have issued enough documents on the subject of coffee to have won this war.

Then take the collection of tires by the government. The average motorist had one or two. He was forced to give them up at whatever price the government decided to pay, from 20 cents to $3. Now just when those tires would come in handy for most motorists, and after we had been scared to death that there would be no more, we are told that we can have tires recapped. The recapping will cost us several times the highest price the government gave for the tires it confiscated.

Happily local rationing boards refused to bind motorists to the absurd A card regulation and proceeded to let the administration know that it had originated something that was not workable. But all of these involved things cost the people millions of hours of waste trying to comply; built up a great personnel of man power to be used in the wrong direction, and tied down to swivel chairs thousands of men and women to manufacture the spider webs of involved and intricate orders. Millions of men and women, in order to discover what it was all about, had to spend valuable time individually running to some board or bureau. That waste effort alone is doing more damage to man and woman power than a war man power commission, if it were worth a tinker's malediction, which it is not, could undo in a hundred years.

It is not exaggeration to say that hundreds of thousands of copies of pamphlets and whole newspaper sized bulletins have been published, and are being published, telling the whole cockeyed world how to do, and when to do, or how not to do, and when not to do, everything under the sun from suckling the infant to skinning an elephant so as to get the most out of his hide. Thus we have millions of men and women running in rings doing what Washington tells them is essential to the war, and wasting enough man and woman power to have won the war.

If the American people are a praying people they need less to pray for the boys on the fighting fronts, altho God knows they need it, than they do to be delivered from the bungling of burocracy.

RATIONS FOR FURLOUGHED SOLDIERS.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—In answer to Mrs. G. C. Ronscher's letter of Feb. 17, if she would go to her local ration board and inquire she would find out that an allotment is made for her soldier boy or any service man on furlough.

Mrs. J. O'Callerod.

RATIONING INCIDENT.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—It has always been my contention that very few people can stand authority, but yesterday during ration registration I had an example set before me of a person who was worthy of the power delegated to him.

I got over to the neighborhood school, I thought in plenty of time to avoid the crowd, but not so, the line extended to the street. It was windy and chilly. Just ahead of me was such a pretty young girl, but she seemed very sad.

We sat down together and because the auditorium was so very crowded it looked as if we would have to wait several hours.

She began the conversation: "I would not mind waiting at all but my husband came in yesterday and has to leave tonight. He does not know where he will be sent but thinks overseas and I cannot tell when I shall see him again and I want to spend every minute with him while he is home." I noticed the man in charge seemed very kindly. I noticed that he was letting mothers with tiny babies get seated immediately.

So I said: "Do you notice that the mothers with babies are getting waited on at once? Now, you have a valid reason, please see him and state your case."

"O, I don't like to ask for preference," she said. But I urged her, for I could see how important it was to her to be with her husband the few hours left. There were tears in her eyes but finally she went up and I could see her telling her story to, I presume, the principal of the school.

As he escorted her to a seat at a table, she waved to me and smiled.

Later she passed me and was radiant!

EVERYTHING IS FOR THE BEST.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—To win the war, our government must institute many strict regulations upon us. Since the government of the United States is so large it is impossible to have a perfect functioning organization, we must allow for error. I would say that there are many citizens who carefully search out every misjudgment that our ruling body makes. Then they start a fearful yowling that "we are being ruined." What is a little sacrifice like food rationing? Most of us eat too much anyway. So let's get down to the job and lick the enemies of freedom! If we would lose there would be worse things upon us.

T. E. Restarski.

CALL FOR GANDHIS.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—To contribute very largely to the conservation of foods and just as largely to health why not practice a 100 per cent fast one or two days every week? If enough people are patriotic enough to go without any food at all one or two days every week it would save millions of tons of foodstuffs to say nothing of giving our digestive organs a rest. Too much eating is one of the most wasteful and harmful habits of the American people. No other people gorge themselves as we do.

ENEMY ALIENS.

Bangor, Mich., Feb. 23.—I wonder if anybody ever considered the fate of the many thousands of enemy aliens who have lived in this country for many years and today find themselves in a situation which is worse than that of a criminal. I am one of them. For the last 17 years in the United States I never took out my second papers. Until I applied for them last September, I never realized what suffering and hardships I would have to endure thru my carelessness.

I am 41 years old and an electrical and mechanical engineer. I received my theoretical training in well known European universities and my practical experience in large factories in Europe and America. My last position I held for over four years and had to leave this job as this factory took over defense work. Since that time I have been unable to secure a job. I do not remember how many want ads I answered but not once did I receive a reply. When I appeared in person they told me that they could not hire me due to defense work.

I am sure that the federal bureau of investigation took care of all the undesirable elements who have any connections whatsoever with the country they came from, but what about all the "enemy" aliens who came to this country to make a new start, always have been faithful to their adopted country and would like to do their share in a complete victory for the allied nations? I believe that 99 per cent of us would do their share in helping to win this war, were we given a chance.

P. A. Schultze.

ACCORDING TO ST. MATTHEW.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—When I read about Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt getting their ration book No. 2 without having to declare the amount of canned goods at hand, the White House having been declared an "institution," it reminds me of the words about the Pharisees. Matthew, xxiii., 3, 4: "All therefore whatsoever may bid you observe, that observe and do; but do ye not after their works: for they say, and do not. For they bind heavy burdens and grievous to be borne, and lay them on men's shoulders; but they themselves will not move them with one of their fingers."

CAN BE CUT OFF.

Chicago, Feb. 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If a parent wishes to leave his real property to a member of the family other than a child, can he make such provision in his will and feel confident that the property will go to the person he names, or [2] would the child share in his estate in spite of the will?

B. R.

1. Yes. Under Illinois law a parent can completely disinherit a child. 2. No.

Miss Jane Swift's Engagement Is Being Made Known Today

BY JUDITH CASS.

IN New York, where they are spending the week, Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift and her youngest daughter, Jane, are "seeing the town" with Richard Anthony Moore, the young man whom Mr. and Mrs. Swift today are revealing is their daughter's fiancé. Mr. Moore at present is on leave from the army air force officer candidate school which he attends in Miami, Fla.

Miss Swift, a graduate of Miss Master's school in Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., made her debut at a tea in her parents' Astor street home in the 1936 season. She has traveled extensively in Europe, the middle east, and South America, and more recently has been engaged in war work, including service with the Red Cross motor corps. She and her sisters, Mrs. A. Thomas Taylor [Geraldine Swift] and Mrs. Robert E. Spiel [Marie Swift], and their brother, Gustavus F. Swift Jr., are members of one of Chicago's largest and best known families.

Miss Jane Swift.

Mr. Moore, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John D. Moore of New York City, was graduated from Phillips Andover academy, Yale university, and the Yale law school. At Yale he was president of Moot Court and a member of Skull and Bones and of Corbey Court. Before entering the army he practiced law in New York.

Alumni of Exeter Academy to Hold Luncheon Monday.

When Mrs. Ronald P. Boardman returns tonight from a visit in Palm Beach, Fla., with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson, she will find her husband immersed in plans for the annual luncheon of the western association of the alumni of Phillips Exeter academy. Mr. Boardman will preside at the 12:15 o'clock luncheon meeting on Monday in private dining room 4 at the Palmer House, where Dean Wells Kerr of Exeter will speak on "Exeter Today." Serving on the association's board with Mr. Boardman are Rogers Follansbee, Hedges MacDonald, Scott J. Dow, and Bentley G. McCloud Jr., with Philip Dalton, Jeffrey R. Short Jr., James F. Oates Jr., William Magie, and Donald Lourie as directors.

Tales woven around the former inhabitants of an old house on the corner of Oak and Poplar streets in Winnetka, where Mrs. Harry H. Barnum lived as a child, will form the program which the Winnetka Historical society will enjoy following an old-fashioned supper at 6:30 o'clock tonight in the Winnetka Woman's club. Mrs. Barnum will show a few old dresses left in the house, and the guests will be asked to join in playing old-fashioned games of the period. Mrs. Frederick Dickinson is president of the society, which has similar gatherings twice a year.

Tea Is Being Given Today for Rockford College Head.

Mrs. Lloyd John Bohan and her daughter, Mrs. Glenn Reitz, are giving a tea at the latter's home in Park Ridge this afternoon for the president of Rockford college, Miss Mary Ashby Cheek, and several members of the college's faculty. Mrs. Reitz, who was graduated from Rockford, is assistant in drama at the college. Mrs. Arthur Consoer of Park Ridge, one of Miss Cheek's friends of long standing, now serving as national president of the Mount Holyoke college alumnæ, is among those whom the hostesses have asked to pour.

Young people who attend a series of evening parties given thruout the winter on the north shore will gather at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the King Pin Bowling lanes for a bowling tournament and refreshments.

Mrs. James G. Shakman, who planned a number of surprises for the Woman's Symphony orchestra during her four terms as president, was the center of a pleasant surprise herself last night when board members and their husbands gathered at the Chicago Athletic club to toast their former president at an informal dinner party.

Hildegarde Will Be Guest at Tavern Club Breakfast.

The Tavern club's special guest at breakfast at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow will be Hildegarde, the chanteuse.

The third lecture in the modern arts series sponsored by the committee to raise funds for Poetry magazine will be given this morning at the Arts club, with Arthur Meeker Jr. speaking on "The Art of the Novel."

WPB Curb Gives Loop Stores Rush in Lingerie Buying

Women's lingerie departments in loop stores did a brisk business yesterday as shoppers, envisioning a shortage in well fitting, easy to launder rayon knit underwear, kept clerks busy thruout the day.

Since shoe rationing, all departments of women's ready to wear apparel have been crowded with shoppers daily, merchants said. The war production board ruling Thursday calling for a 75 per cent reduction in the number of styles and fabrics in knit underwear, however, caused a flurry that depleted stocks of lace trimmed nightgowns, slips and panties.

The business woman, rather than the bride whose trousseau selections run to rayon silk garments, will be most affected by the ruling, buyers of lingerie said. Sleek, practical rayon knit slips and panties, which can be laundered quickly and need no ironing, have long been popular with the working girl, they said.

Purchases of a half dozen pairs of rayon knit panties were not unusual yesterday, buyers said. Shoppers, many of whom misinterpreted the WPB ruling to mean that all knit garments would be frozen, also made large purchases in tailored rayon slips and gowns. [The ban, which becomes effective April 1, eliminates decorative trimming on knit garments "which does not add to the serviceability of the garment."]

Altho stocks on hand of lace trimmed knit underwear are not large, most of the stores have additional supplies on order from lingerie houses, merchandising managers said. It is anticipated that the stocks will last well into the summer.

Helps Give Out Information at Union Station

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Betty Brown of Franklin Park is one of the 41 young women who have taken over the information bureau at the Union station, replacing men who have gone to war.

Women in War Work . . . . . By Kate Massee

Travelers seeking information at Union station these days are getting it from pretty girls in victory blue. Forty-one of them have taken over the telephones and booths in the information bureau at the station replacing men who have gone to war.

The girls have taken to information giving with zest, according to O. H. Frick, general manager of the Union Station company. "Women," he said, "just seem to have a natural bent for telling things. We've found, too, that they are more sympathetic."

The young women who preside at the information telephones each answer an average of 350 calls a day coming in over 25 trunk lines. Those in the booths answer as many as a hundred in a half hour. And the questions don't all pertain to the business of the four lines served by the station—the Pennsylvania, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, and Pacific, and the Alton.

On a recent Saturday a woman called to ask the girls to look around to see whether they could find a lieutenant to take her daughter to a dance at the Edgewater Beach hotel that evening. The operator looked, but she didn't see any who wanted to go dancing at the Edgewater that night. The lieutenants were all between trains.

The queries for the most part are serious. People are seeking information about train arrivals, departures, and rates, and they get it with a smile. One soldier, after receiving the information he sought, leaned over and said to the girl who had given it to him: "You have quite the loveliest eyes I have ever seen." He said it impersonally, and Helen Baschen, whose blue eyes provoked the remark, blushed vigorously. Before he caught his train he insisted that she accept his silver wings, a tribute of admiration to her eyes.

Mrs. Marie B. Griffith, manager of the station's information bureau, said the girls study for three months, learning the intricacies of the railroad business. This includes a tour of the various trains. Mrs. Kathryn Cosgrove, supervisor of the information service, commented that the girls' greatest weaknesses were in geography. "Many of them," she said, "didn't know in which direction many of the cities served by the trains were located." They did, tho, before they finished training.

Mrs. Marie Griffith.

The girls spend close to five weeks learning to read a timetable, one of the major battle hurdles in the business. They learn how to consult charts and rate schedules quickly and accurately. During their training they receive a monthly salary of more than $105. When the training has been completed it jumps to more than $148, and then rises periodically.

Many of the information clerks are married with husbands in service. Some, too, are like Miss Mary Adams, whose brother was reported missing in Pearl Harbor several months ago.

Any young woman who becomes a WAVE today or Monday will also get one, and it won't be G. I. The courtesy also applies to the SPARs. As part of the 45 day recruiting drive for members of the navy and coast guard reserves, hair stylings and permanents will be given on Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday at the convention of the Illinois Hairdressers' association at the Hotel Sherman.

Members of the first class of women, 11 in all, to be graduated from the Army Air Force School of Instruments, 2200 Lawrence avenue, will receive their diplomas as junior aircraft instrument technicians at 4 o'clock today at ceremonies in the Barry Memorial church, Leavitt and Lawrence avenues. Known as WAITS, the graduates will be the vanguard of hundreds of women to be trained for this work.

Capt. J. K. Willing of the Rome, N. Y., air depot, will preside at the ceremonies, assisted by Lt. R. V. Fortune, commanding officer at the school. The graduates, all women from other cities, will be assigned immediately to air depots in various parts of the country.

From now on classes will begin every Monday morning, and graduation exercises will be held every Saturday. The specialized course is of 15 weeks' duration, and students are paid $100 a month while learning. Women from the Chicago area who are interested in enrolling should write the school or call Longbeach 6100.

The Officers' club in the Hotel Knickerbocker will do its part to raise funds for the new cruiser Chicago by holding open house today and tomorrow. For the first time in the club's history the officers may invite their civilian friends. War stamps and bonds will be sold. The club will be open today from 11 in the morning until 1:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Dancing and a floor show will start at 9 o'clock. A special program also has been planned for tomorrow evening. Mrs. Georgia Hunt is director of the club.

Priscilla Totman Becomes Bride of Ensign Today

Miss Priscilla Ann Totman and Ensign Fairfax Sheild McCandlish Jr. will be married at 4 o'clock today in the Church of the Holy Comforter, Kenilworth, with a small reception following in the home of the bride's father, Arnold W. Totman. Here for the ceremony are Ensign McCandlish's mother, Mrs. McCandlish of Fairfax, Va.; his sisters, Miss Nancy McCandlish and Mrs. William Livingston; the bride's cousin, James E. Totman of Baltimore, Md., and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie A. Weary of Detroit, parents of one of the bridesmaids, Miss Leslie Ann Weary.

Serving as bridesmaids with Miss McCandlish and Miss Weary will be Miss Barbara Pettibone, Miss Blanche Hoyt, and Miss Lois Pittman. The bride's sisters, Mrs. Way Thompson and Mrs. Robert E. McDonald, will be joint matrons of honor. Ensign McCandlish will have Daniel P. Kreer as best man, and Bowman Kreer, Mr. Thompson, Mr. McDonald, John T. Urban, and Ensign Clifton Jones as ushers. Ensign McCandlish and his bride will fly to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., on a wedding trip before going to Savannah, Ga., to live.

For her marriage tonight to Edward Henry Hatton, Miss Marian Sollitt will wear an old Belgian lace veil bought in Russia years ago by her aunt, Mrs. John C. Carter. Mrs. Carter's daughter, Blanche, and the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Katherine G. Spencer, have come from New York for the ceremony at 8:30 o'clock in Evanston's First Presbyterian church and for the reception to follow in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Sollitt of Evanston.

Miss Betty Shonts of Westport, Conn., the bride's roommate at Smith college, will be her maid of honor, and another college friend, Miss Frances Schweitzer, will sing before the ceremony. Also in the bridal party will be Mrs. L. Gifford Gardner and the bride's sisters, Miss Jean and Miss Nancy Sollitt. Peter Warner will be Mr. Hatton's best man, and Jack Fletcher, Ensign Tunis Hering, Nevin Beecher Jr., and Donald Clark will usher. Mr. Hatton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Edward Howard Hatton of Evanston, is connected with the office of price administration in Washington, D. C., where he and his bride will live.

Laundry Officials Deplore Proposal to Limit Services

Officials of Chicago laundries yesterday waved aside as impractical government officials' consideration of limiting laundry service largely to wet wash as a means of saving labor and holding down prices. Laundry men said each laundry employé releases seven women to work in war industry.

"If women war workers have to return to their homes at night and do the family's ironing their efficiency will be impaired and production of vital war materials will be cut down," said one spokesman. "I don't think that will help the nation's morale or production."

He said that drastic limitations of laundry services would force small hand laundries out of business. He explained that many small establishments contract to have their washing done by large steam laundries, but finish the garments and flat work. One manager said that he considered the idea impractical and one that will not be carried thru.

One laundry official predicted many Americans would be wearing unironed clothing if such a plan went into effect, because irons cannot be purchased, and those persons, brides among them, who do not have the equipment for ironing would have no choice but to wear wrinkles.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

The Mob Again.

Lt. Bernard Foley, Chicago attorney, now somewhere with the Atlantic fleet, was reprimanded not long ago by a superior officer for his inadequate manning of a three inch gun. "What's the matter, Foley?" the officer grumbled. "Can't you see?" "I'm sorry, sir," Foley retorted quickly. "I'm from Chicago. I'm used to shooting thru my pocket."

The New Order.

Typographical errors on menus are rare, but H. S. S. contends he caught one. The menu read, "Liver and onions," but after he saw the size of the order, he knew it should have read: "Sliver and onions."

African Caddies.

From somewhere in Africa comes the news that Chicago soldiers are enjoying their golf. One group reports that it has one club, a mid-iron, which is used by all. The club, far too short for the tall American soldiers, has been lengthened with a bit of pipe. The club breaks frequently, but the boys have devised various ways of repairing it. Each player has four caddies, for whom he pays 5 cents each. "And to think," writes one golfer, "I used to pay $2 for an infant to carry my clubs at home. Here we get real men for a nickel." The fairways are dirt, and the greens are sand.

In the Mail.

"I see by the news that the house where the HH's and the FDR's live has been classed as an institution. Fair enough."

Peg.

And the Pigeon Home from the Skies.

A pigeon often homes on the high window ledge of the public relations department of a Michigan avenue firm. Carrier pigeon from the communique or propaganda front on a busman's holiday?

Rationing.

And then there was the Iowa woman who, told that the catsup she wished to buy was frozen, said that didn't matter at all; she would thaw it in hot water.

Letter from a Soldier in Australia.

"When Mom writes, there is never much news or anything important said, and all her letters run the same, but they seem to carry in them something inspiring and something that most all of the others don't contain. In their simplicity they bring me all the love and affection that nobody but a mother could give to her son. It makes me want to crumble the letter into a small ball and imbed it in my heart, and there like in a furnace it glows and radiates and warms me."

Flower Note.

A local invalid, sending flowers to another invalid, asked her florist to write on the card the inscription: "The blind greets the blind." "She won't know what that means," he replied. "O, yes," he was assured. "She will." She didn't, for when the card arrived, it said, somewhat in the antiphonal refrain of a Greek tragedy, "The blind Greeks, the blind . . ."

Rayon Hosiery Is Slick as Silk as a Substitute

BY REA SEEGER.

New rayon hosiery looks enough like the old silky beauties to fool an expert. Hosiery makers are doing a smooth job, especially with texture. The flattering sun tan shades are getting more slenderizing, too, while the sheer effects are something to cause appreciative comment.

One fascinating new shade that can't be equaled for all purpose wear, at ease with every shade of black, blue, brown, beige, gray, and all the gay spring prints, is called "polka." It's as sheer as a veil of chiffon, has a glowing golden tint, and is made with a slick elastic top of fine cotton. Compare it to the two thread silk chiffon of bygone luxury with satisfaction!

There's a new kind, an all-silk mesh hose with very large holes in the pattern of the mesh. These stockings boast nylon tops and feet, and are the answer to what to wear for dress parade. There are a couple of can't run specials that are ideal for career girl wardrobes and sports clothes, one in rayon, the other in lisle. See the seamless wonders of super-flattering rayon that have a silken sheen.

These seamless stockings are the most flattering of the showings. They slice inches off the ankles and come in good all-purpose shades for wear with wool or silk. Cotton heels, feet, and tops contrast the exquisite nude sheen of the legs.

Among the most precious items are the imported British all-cotton lisles, amazingly soft and silky even tho they are of cotton. These are expensive but worth every penny. Footnote of extreme importance . . . the cotton tops on all the present day stockings really stretch to assure the right comfort, just as much as the all-silks.

"Chinese Shawl"

CHAPTER 34.
SHORT-SIGHTED.

"In Laura's case," said Miss Silver, "there was only one possible motive, an old grudge brooded over for more than 20 years, and only four possible suspects—Agnes Fane, her maid, Perry, and Lucy Adams. I considered each of them in turn, and became convinced that it was Lucy who had shot Tanis."

Randal March said, "Why?"

"I am sure you know the answer to that, my dear Randal. Agnes has remarkable eyesight, and so has Perry. But Lucy is short-sighted—she has worn glasses from a child. I think only a short-sighted person could have made the mistake that she did actually make."

March said, "I don't know. The height, the color of the hair were the same—and with that noticeable Chinese shawl——"

Miss Silver shook her head.

"I am not thinking of those things, Randal. Laura had been wearing a black lace dress. Tanis had changed into black pajamas and a heavy black silk coat. Only a very short-sighted person to whom all black materials look alike at a little distance could have mistaken that heavy silk for so different a material as lace."

March smiled quizzically.

"How acute—and how feminine! That is where you will always have the advantage of me. I am only a man."

Miss Silver smiled in return.

"Gentlemen always say that when they are feeling superior," she said. "It is still a handicap to be a woman, and they know it. You must not grudge us any of the slight advantages it confers."

He laughed outright.

"Well, you made up your mind that Miss Adams was the murderer because of the difference between a bit of silk and a bit of lace. Anything else?"

Miss Silver said, "O, yes. It was the difference between the materials that made me suspect Lucy, but it was the behavior of Florrie Mumford that confirmed those suspicions."

"I don't see," he said.

"O, yes, my dear Randal! I could not believe that she would have had the temerity to blackmail Agnes Fane. Agnes is really a very intimidating person. I was sure that Florrie would not have had the courage to threaten her—so soon, and while she was still in her service. I think that if it had been Agnes, the girl would have held her tongue until she could get away and do her blackmailing from a safer distance, if indeed she dared to do it at all. I was never able to consider Agnes seriously as the criminal.

"She is a very efficient person, and if she had wished to murder Laura there would have been no bungling. Laura would have been murdered, and Agnes would never have been suspected, let alone blackmailed."

"Well, that disposes of Miss Fane. What about Perry?"

"The motive was too slight, and as I said before, her eyesight is extremely good. And Florrie would never have expected to get a hundred pounds out of Perry."

"So you arrived at Miss Adams."

"So I arrived at Lucy. But I had no evidence—no shred or particle of evidence. I was, I may say, in considerable distress of mind. I did not know what to do. I thought of ringing you up, but the hour was late. I could not have mentioned my suspicions on the telephone, and you were in any case coming over early next morning in order to question Florrie. It seemed to me that our one chance of obtaining any real evidence was from Florrie."

"I wonder what she knew," said Randal March. "That flapper friend of hers, Mrs. Slade's sister, says she was in the habit of slipping thru into this part of the house while Dean was locking up. Florrie may have heard the shot. She may have seen Miss Adams cross the hall. She may have stood behind the drawing room curtains and watched her burn the Chinese shawl. We shall never know—unless Miss Adams tells us. She may, or she may not. All this girl, Gladys, can say is that Florrie was very pleased and excited and told her she knew something that was going to make her fortune, poor little wretch."

Miss Silver laid down her knitting and folded her hands upon it.

"Randal, I thought she was safe, for that night at least. In spite of what I said to you, I did warn her most seriously. And I knew that Dean locked the connecting doors at night. I thought she would be safe enough until the morning. Well, I was wrong."

March looked kindly at her.

"You can't blame yourself—she asked for it."

Miss Silver coughed.

"I do not blame myself, Randal. I committed an error of judgment, but it is easy to be wise after the event. I had no reasonable grounds for summoning you in the middle of the night, but my mind continued to be so much disturbed that I could not rest. I think it must have been the sound of Florrie's fall that roused me from a short, uneasy sleep. I had not consciously heard the fall, but I became more and more anxious, until at last I felt obliged to investigate. I then roused Mr. Desborough, and we reached the hall in time to hear Lucy's extraordinary statement. She is, of course, unhinged."

"Yes, I suppose she will be announced insane."

Miss Silver looked at him gravely.

"I hope for Laura's sake that it need not all come out. You see, Lucy was just as much in love with Oliver as Agnes was. Every one could see that. She made herself quite a laughing-stock over it, poor thing. And of course he never thought of her in that way at all. He used to laugh at her and call her 'Poor old Lucy,' and one day I am afraid she heard him. She never quite got over that. And then he ran away with Lillian Ferrers, and she and Agnes were left here together with nothing to do but to think how Oliver had treated them. Lucy had not at all a strong character, but like so many weak people, she could hold on to a grudge. Even at school we used to say that she hoarded slights.

"After Oliver's marriage she just sat down here with Agnes for 22 years, while Agnes filled the house with hatred and resentment. Is it any wonder that Tanis Lyle grew up as she did, heartless and self-centered? Is it any wonder that Lucy became obsessed? Hatred is a deadly poison. For 22 years this house has been full of it."

March nodded.

"That's grim," he said.

"Yes, it's terrible. All those years Agnes was waiting for Laura to come of age. It was her most passionate desire to possess the Priory and to leave it to Tanis Lyle. Laura came of age, and came down here at Agnes' invitation. And her coming gave all that hatred a focus. But I still believe that nothing might have happened if it had not been for the violent disturbance set up by Jeffrey Hazelton. Into the already overcharged atmosphere of the house he introduced the idea of murder. He also introduced the necessary weapon, and there is no doubt that the scene in which he and Tanis took part excited Lucy's mind to the point of contemplating murder.

"Even so, she might never have got beyond thinking about it if it had not been for what happened on Thursday night. A high wind has always had an unsettling effect upon her nerves. The gale, combined with the opportunity which she thought had been offered to her, was too much for the balance of her mind. It gave way, and from that moment she cannot, I think, be considered wholly responsible for her actions. When Florrie threatened her, she behaved with great cunning. She must have known that the girl sometimes slipped thru the connecting doors and got out of the house at night, so she made an appointment with her in the study at midnight, opening the window in order that it might be supposed that Florrie had been attacked by some one from outside.

[Concluded Monday.]

MASIE was no lady; she was a MAN SNATCHER. She stole other women's men. It will be quite an experience for you to get acquainted with MASIE BERGEN, chief mischief maker in Nina Wilcox Putnam's exciting new story, "MAN SNATCHER." Start it Monday in The Chicago Tribune.

Southern Seminary Group Will Hold Party Tomorrow

The annual colonial party of the Chicago Alumnae of Southern Seminary and Junior College will be held at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Houghton Cross in Wilmette. The school is in Buena Vista, Va. Members of the Officers' club at Camp Skokie will be special guests. The program will include a group of southern and patriotic songs by Miss Margaret Ellington and a reading of "The American Citizen" by Miss Josephine Tressing.

Art Institute Tours.

Katharine Kuh will conduct free tours for service men at 2 and at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Art institute.

[ADVERTISMENT]

Who said, "I hate to clean toilets"?

Nobody likes to scrub toilet bowls. But they must be kept clean and sanitary. Sani-Flush does it without mess — without unpleasant work. Every time you use Sani-Flush you clean away stains, incrustations and many recurring toilet germs. Use it at least twice a week.

Don't confuse Sani-Flush with ordinary cleansers. It works chemically. Cleans the hidden trap. Sani-Flush is absolutely safe in septic tanks* and toilet connections when used according to directions on can. Sold everywhere. Two handy sizes.

*FREE—For Septic Tank Owners—Eminent scientific authorities have proved how easy and safe Sani-Flush is for toilet sanitation with septic tanks. Write for their interesting report. It is free. Address: The Hygienic Products Company, Dept. 51, Canton, Ohio.

Boswell Society, Literary Group, Meets Tomorrow

The Boswell society, a recently organized literary group, will meet at 5 o'clock tomorrow in the Union League club. Leaders in forming the society were Maj. Frank Beals, assistant superintendent of schools, and Dr. Don Rogers, district superintendent. A. C. Spectorsky, Howard Vincent O'Brien, and Philip Maxwell are among the authors and newspaper writers taking an active interest in it. Vincent Starrett will be one of the participants in a literary symposium at tomorrow's meeting.

We loved them, all those whipped cream concoctions and wonderful cakes rich with eggs, and so did you, but they're out for the duration, and we're pleased as punch with the fine war time recipes that are coming into our recipe contest. If you've worked out a good one that you'd like to share with other readers, send it in. It may win $5 for you. You'll find the contest rules at the end of this column.

There's plenty of variety in the honorable mention awards printed today. We'll start off with an excellent recipe using dried kidney beans.

Kidney Bean Wonder.
[Serves six.]

1 15 oz. package red kidney beans
1 bay leaf
Pinch of thyme
2 slices bacon, cut in pieces
¾ pound ground beef
2 medium onions, sliced
1 small clove garlic, minced
2½ cups tomatoes
1 tablespoon chili powder
2 tablespoons catsup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt to taste

Soak beans overnight and cook in salted water with crushed bay leaf and thyme. Fry bacon and brown the beef, onions, and garlic in the fat. Add to cooked beans along with tomatoes, chili powder, catsup, and worcestershire sauce. Season to taste with salt and simmer until thick, about 45 minutes.

MRS. JOHN R. DUVAL,
414 Summer street, East Appleton, Wis.

Oxtail Pie.
[Serves six to eight.]

2 oxtails, cut in pieces
1 bay leaf
Salt, pepper, flour
2 cups celery
1 cup canned mushrooms or 1 pound fresh baking powder biscuit dough

Cover meat with water, add bay leaf, salt and pepper. Cook three hours, adding more water as needed. Skim off all fat. Thicken broth [there should be about three cups] with a flour and water paste. Rub casserole with cut clove of garlic and turn into it the thickened broth, meat from oxtails, celery, and mushrooms. Cover with baking powder biscuits and bake in 400 degree oven for 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 325 and continue baking 40 minutes.

MRS. HELEN COKENDOLPHER,
1201 Wabash avenue, Mattoon, Ill.

Nut and Cheese Roast.

1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons chopped onion
¼ pound grated American cheese
1 cup bread crumbs
1 cup English walnuts or peanuts, chopped
1 cup milk
Juice of half a lemon
Salt
Pepper
Paprika

Melt butter and cook onion in it for two minutes. Add remaining ingredients and turn into a shallow baking dish. Bake until browned, about 30 minutes in a moderate [350 degrees] oven.

TODAY'S $5 PRIZE RECIPE

Deviled Flank Steak.

2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon onion, chopped
1½ pounds flank steak
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon mustard
1 tablespoon vinegar
2 cups water

Melt butter in skillet and brown onion in it. Remove onion. Meanwhile, cut steak into small pieces and dredge with 1 tablespoon of the flour. Brown well in butter. Remove meat from skillet. Add salt, pepper, mustard, paprika, and remaining flour to butter in skillet, mixing well. Add vinegar and water slowly, and bring to a boil, stirring to prevent lumping. Add meat and onion, cover tightly, and cook gently until meat is tender, about 2 hours. Serve with pan gravy.

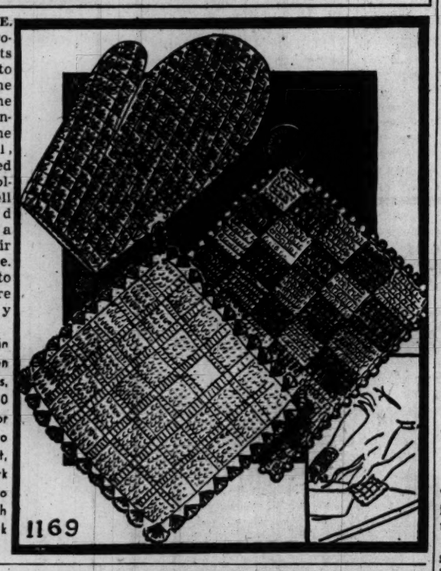
Crocheted Oven Mitts

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Durable crocheted oven mitts are appealing to the man of the house when he undertakes culinary artistries. The substantial, square, crocheted holders in gay colors appeal as well to experienced cooks who spend a portion of their lives over a stove. Both are easy to create and are assets to any kitchen.



For instructions in crocheting the oven mitt and potholders, No. 1169, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Happy Child Prepared for Adolescence

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

This is not to be a dissertation upon the turbulence of adolescence; we're not going to talk at length about the fact that when boys and girls enter their teens and then grow and develop toward maturity, a great deal of adjusting must take place.

In a general way, most of us who are parents are aware fast maturing youth must adjust to the physical changes that come, as well as to emotional and social changes.

But not as many of us are as aware that parents need to do a lot of adjusting, too. Our fledgling must try his wings in all directions, and it takes a lot of poise and patience, and understanding, for fathers and mothers to adjust to this rather new young person they have raised, whom, logically enough, they continue to think of as a child.

However, it is not exactly on this I wish to dwell today, but rather on what can be done far ahead of time to make adolescence easier for both the boys and girls and their parents.

In mulling over this subject and studying it, I some time ago developed a conviction. Later, I attended various conferences and panel discussions by those who had made intensive studies of adolescent boys and girls; studies of one phase of childhood such as I have not the time to make. And it was interesting to me to note that their conclusions and mine coincided in many particulars.

One was the point I want to make today. It is: Adolescent boys and girls are most apt to go thru their teens smoothly; they are apt to exeprience least conflict [both inner and outer], if, in their earlier childhood, they have been loved, understood, and wisely managed. If they have been happy, disciplined just enough, and have been pretty well adjusted to grownups and children, they are tremendously aided to go thru their teens with a minimum of turbulence.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

Discarding is generally thought of as a defender's art. In today's hand, however, a vulnerable grand slam depended on declarer's selecting the proper suit to discard.

Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	4 spades	Pass
6 spades	Pass	7 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

West was so unfortunate as to have a natural diamond opening. Declarer's ace took the first trick and a low trump was led to dummy's jack. The king and queen of diamonds were cashed and on these tricks declarer did not commit the error of discarding his worthless clubs. Had he done so there would have been a vastly different result. He let go two of his hearts, then led the ace of hearts and a second round which he ruffed. Another spade to dummy's king and another heart ruff with an honor established two long hearts in the dummy and, at the same time, guarded against an over-ruff by West. Now all declarer had to do was draw the remaining trumps, discarding the three and jack of clubs from dummy, then use the club ace as entry for the 12th and 13th tricks.

The curious part of this hand was that, on a club opening lead, not even six-odd could have been made! Whether or not declarer put up the club ace immediately, it would be knocked out too early to be of value as an entry to the establishable hearts. On this basis it might be argued that North-South should not have reached even a small slam, let alone a grand one, but this would savor of double-dummy criticism. On their respective holdings the partners hardly could avoid getting to six. That they went higher and then actually made the contract was one of those recurring combinations of an opening lead which was "hard luck" from the defenders' angle, and subsequent good play by the declarer.

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 26.—When Producer Brynie Foy went to interview Roger Touhy about his life story and take some pictures at Joliet prison, he found Touhy in the hospital, after 16 days in solitary confinement [but they're no longer solitary—it's two men to a cell.] While there, Brynie saw Leopold, of the Loeb and Leopold case, who asked that his name be taken off the cell when it was photographed. Leopold got bored being a trusty in the library, so was washing windows. Brynie was handed 17 different stories written by inmates. One he thinks is a magnificent yarn, called "Lords of the Lamps," written by William Barker, aged 31, who's already served 11 years. Barker has learned eight languages at Joliet. He's starting now on Japanese. The book's so good Foy is trying to have it published for him.

She'll Make It.

Jeanette MacDonald's practicing "The Jersey Bounce" and will try it on the soldiers at the canteen . . . and from letters I've received from back east, Jeanette hasn't yet signed to sing at the Metropolitan. But there's a deal pending, and she's certainly working with that end in view. . . . Harpo Marx, while waiting transportation overseas to entertain soldiers, will replace his brother Chico in Columbus, O., beginning next Tuesday. Chico's on the sick list. It will be fun seeing Harp directing a band. . . . Ben Bernie, the old maestro, is much sicker than anybody imagines. . . . When Ann Miller and Nick Castle were doing a number called "Concert in Boogie," Gregory Ratoff said, "Too bad their feet can't make it with a Russian accent!"

Rare Combination.

Orson Welles always wanted to play Rochester in "Jane Eyre" and "Pickwick Papers" with W. C. Fields. But when he arrived here, Fields was under contract to Universal. Now the two have been hudding, and there's a deal pending for the picture to be made at Twentieth Century-Fox with Orson producing and directing. But whether he'll act in it hasn't yet been decided. . . . Charley MacArthur and Ben Hecht will try to repeat the success they had with "The Front Page"—this time with Gilbert Miller guiding their efforts. . . . Wonder why we don't give Dick Powell better pictures? His last trip east was a riot. He has more fans than ever. . . . Broadway wants Alice Faye back. She wants to go, since Phil Harris is stationed there. But studio says nothing doing.

They Can Hope Can't They?

Last picture Sam Wood directed for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer was "Goodby Mr. Chips," which got an Academy award. Arthur Hornblow wants him now for "Quo Vadis." So far, they're without a Nero. How about one of our producers paying Nero? They've had that complex for years. . . . Stepin Fetchit headed this way and putting in a pitch for a part in the "Life of Will Rogers." That should be easy, 'cause Will always gave Stepin Fetchit some place in his pictures. . . . Katharine Hepburn arrived in town to see Spencer Tracy lunching and dining with Judy Garland. Does that mean he'll have to learn to sing and do a musical—or vice versa?

No Wonder.

Oliver Hardy had to get a special release from the war production board for a zoot suit he'll wear in "Jitterbugs"—'cause he has a 50-inch chest and a 51-inch waistline. Tailors call him "Mr. Fifty by Fifty." But I saw some scenes from the picture the other day, and I think when it's finished, Laurel and Hardy will be your favorite comedians all over again . . . and Lee Patrick is not only giving them able support, but she photographs like a million dollars. . . . With the Chandler clan in town to visit Mimi, overtures are again being made to Mammy and Pappy Happy for movie jobs.

Good Morning!

"The Meanest Man in the World" will go down in history as the movie in which Rochester certainly did steal the boss' thunder.

Not that Mr. Benny isn't his own sweet [?] self—both likable and amusing. But Rochester is tremendous! As effortless as a June breeze he is, but there's a laugh in his every entrance and line. . . . As usual, he plays Mr. Benny's man of all work, confidante, severest critic, and escape valve.

Richard Clark [Benny] is seen first as a struggling small town lawyer still in the ambulance chasing stage. He is engaged to the charming daughter of one of the village's big frogs who just doesn't like him.

Clark hits New York, how and why the picture shall reveal. With Shufro [Rochester] he occupies a suite in an office building. Very MUCH occupies it, for he eats and sleeps in his rear office the while a snappy secretary [miraculously efficient and content for being unpaid] waits in the outer one for business that doesn't come until——

Shufro persuades the kindly Clark that he MUST be meaner if he would be richer. . . . And so, thanks to the single expedient of taking candy from a cheeild and getting caught in the act, Richard gains fame and success as "the meanest man in the world."

True, he nearly loses what he values most. But, well—suppose we look ahead? The picture's ending is simpally beatific!

Bright bits of acting are contributed by Priscilla Lane, Margaret Seddon, Edmund Gwenn, and Anne Revere.

"The Meanest Man in the World is brief, busy, and mirth-provoking. Crazy, SURE. But isn't everything crazy these days?

See you tomorrow.

Expect Stritch Will Be Made Cardinal Soon

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch of the Chicago archdiocese is expected by informed Catholic circles here to be created a cardinal soon.

Numerous factors lend substance to the growing crescendo of rumor that the red hat, token of a prince of the church, is to be conferred upon the Chicago archbishop as well as upon Archbishop Francis J. Spellman of New York, competent observers said.

These reports are lent further credence by the presence of Archbishop Spellman at the Vatican. It was conceded, however, that the New York archbishop's visit to the Vatican was based, at least in part, on his overseeing of the army and navy see for the United States, which extends around the world. The New World, official publication of the archdiocese, yesterday denied European rumors that the New York primate's visit was political in character, adding that the archbishop's visitations in Rome were proof of the "normal" nature of the journey.

Informed sources declared that elevation of Archbishop Stritch would be in line with ecclesiastical tradition founded by the elevation to the sacred college of Cardinal George Mundelein, whose red hat hangs in Holy Name cathedral sanctuary.

Reports that the honor also would be conferred upon Archbishop Spellman have been prevalent, and it is the opinion of many Catholic leaders that his elevation would have taken place some time ago were it not for the war.

The creation of cardinals is done in secret consistory, and only formal announcements from that consistory are made. The sacred college provides for a total of 70 members, but that number is seldom, if ever, complete. At present the World almanac for 1943 lists 50 members, leaving 20 vacancies. Two members are American. They are Cardinal William O'Connell of Boston, Mass., and Cardinal Dennis Dougherty of Philadelphia, Pa.

Gremlins in the Air Lines.

Over at TWA, gremlins seem to have got into their 'air, because the company has issued an illustrated pamphlet headed: "Observers Report Gremlins in the U. S. A.—Imps Using Clever New Attack."

"Gremlins are little people who used to live in the woods and fields, but in 1940 the British built a military airport right in a favorite gremlin haunt and drove out the gremlins," the pamphlet says. "So, the gremlins decided to even up things by annoying the British army pilots. . . . Evidently the American gremlins thought their British cousins had a good idea, for people say they have seen gremlins around some of our commercial air lines. . . . Instead of committing small acts of sabotage on the planes themselves, the American gremlin is working on the personnel. . . . So, if one of us suddenly turns sour and grouchy, becomes impolite and careless about his duties, you can be sure a gremlin is boring from within.

"The pitiful thing is that they say a person begins to resemble a gremlin if he permits himself to go on that way" . . . and TWA proves the point by some delightful caricatures of a BLOOGIE [never smiles] . . . a POWSYWOWSY [gets overly familiar with passengers] . . . a LUGGSLUGG [loves to bash baggage and lacerate luggage] . . . a BIJIT [always busy with some one else's business] . . . an EXECUSTIFF [6¾ size big shot] . . . a BUCHESS [duchess complex and 2-bit grammar] and others whom "none of us wants to see in TWA."

The leaflet is hereby recommended to other business firms who are attacking personnel problems with a good humored, light touch at a time when it is so easy for any of us to become a GRIMGLUM.

The Record So Far.

From Helen Laird La Monte: "So far I have found about 687 words which can be typed with the left hand only. Unfortunately it took so much time I shall have to forget about the other hand! I have saved the list if any one wants it."

From Dorothy N.: "The longest word I can find with the right hand is LOLLYPOP. Is there a longer?"

Feminine Firsts.

The first sizable estate I have noted left by a college president to his secretary was the bequest of $10,000, with an additional $3,000 annual income, to Nora A. Dwyer by Dr. Lowell, president emeritus of Harvard university. He died this winter. . . . The first milliner's assistant to rise to a position of influence and power in the French court was Madame Du Barry during the reign of Louis XV. . . . The first children's magazine in the United States was the Juvenile Miscellany, edited by Lydia Maria Childs. . . . When the speaker of the house of representatives introduced Mme. Chiang Kai-shek this week as one of the foremost women of the world, it was a thrilling moment, but the introduction which would have won any feminine heart was a radio announcer's comment in presenting Mme. Chiang Kai-shek. Said he, with genuine emotion, "She is a very, very beautiful lady" . . . and who could ask for more?

Markova Found Finest 'Giselle' Since Pavlowa

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

"Giselle," besides being my favorite ballet, is the backlog of the repertory, the one ageless masterpiece that has tested generations of ballerinas and tempted many a premier danseur to tackle his own adaptation of the choreography Coralli created to Adam's score more than a century ago. But you could haunt ballet for a lifetime and discover no more beautiful production than the one Ballet Theater staged at the Civic Opera house last night—and will repeat next Saturday night.

Perhaps you remember it from earlier Ballet Theater visits. I don't see how you could forget it in Anton Dolin's fresh recreation of its classic style, and in Lucinda Ballard's superb decor, which creates rich backgrounds from old steel engravings, and sets against their black and white beauty both the muted pastel brilliance of the first act costumes and the whiteness stabbed with royal purple that is the graveyard kingdom of the Willis—those tragic maidens who died before their wedding day.

And, of course, if you remember these things, you remember Dolin's dancing, because of its gallantry, its poetry and its unqualified magnificence of style. But even so, you don't know all of this "Giselle." For this time it has Nora Kaye as a dark, imperious and brilliant Queen of the Willis, and it has in Alicia Markova the greatest Giselle since Anna Pavlowa. Sometimes it almost makes you believe in balletic reincarnation.

The English dancer's resemblance to the incomparable Russian is stronger this season than ever before, for this is Markova's magic year, at least in America. We have admired her for her polished technique, her lightness, her exquisite precision, but never before have we seen her as a dancer of such personal beauty, with a thistledown quality which seems to make her fly as she goes up, and drift gently as she comes down. These things lie in the realm of necromancy, and the dancer who can make you believe them has come into her own.

Last night, the dancing of Markova and Dolin, separately and together, was in the great tradition. As the mourning "Hamlet" of the second act, Dolin again bewildered the eye with that incredible series of turns in the air with three beats, but even that technical feat was a legitimate piece of bravura characterization. Dance madness is the theme of haunted "Giselle," and these leaps, combined with a flying exit into the wings, was madness only if you didn't have a steel and satin technique to back it up.

Markova's own technique, as usual, was demurely hidden behind a façade of effortlessness. The willowy ease of her arabesque, the gauzy serenity of her turns, and, in the scene of Ophelia madness, the shattered copy of that perfection were things that come under the head of balletic revelation.

The production was extremely good thruout, from Semenoff's Hilarion to the corps de ballet and Antal Dorati's sensitive direction from the pit. The bill was rounded out by two shorter works, Agnes de Mille's engaging parable, "Three Virgins and a Devil," and "Capriccio Espagnol," Leonide Massine's collaboration with Argentinita, which served to introduce the beloved dancer to his first Ballet Theater audience in Chicago.

Thru the Looking Glass

These are the days when it is the duty of each one of us to keep well and maintain a high peak of physical efficiency and mental alertness. Crowded days of work and play leave very little time for renewing and rejuvenating hours of sleep. It may take some strict managing of time and some foregoing of pleasure to work out a daily routine that allows for a full night's sleep. But it's a step that must be taken in the interest of health as well as beauty.

One of the most essential beauty aids comes not out of a jar or bottle but from adequate hours of sleep each night. Tired eyes, a grayed complexion, and a haggard look go hand in hand with too little rest. And the condition can't be corrected by 10 or 12 hours of sleep one night to compensate for too few hours several nights in a row. True, some persons require less sleep than others, but there are too many of us walking around in a half daze simply because we try to convince ourselves that we do not need eight hours rest each night.

If we're not accustomed to getting to bed at a reasonable hour each night, it may take some training to overcome the restlessness we feel when we try to establish a new sleeping hour. A warm, leisurely bath and a not too exciting book will help to induce sleep, and in no time at all a routine will be established and sleep will come naturally and easily.

Don't, however, make your bedtime reading the kind you're unwilling to fall asleep over. Settling down with a mildly interesting book is one thing and being on the alert with a gripping story quite another. The time flies by much too swiftly and without realizing it two or three hours can slip by. Altho the reclining and relaxed position of the body may afford some rest, it's no substitute for real sleep.

CHARGES WASTE OF FIELD ESTATE BY CRACKPOTS

Rep. Rankin Asks End of Tax Exemption.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—Charging that the funds of the estate to which Marshall Field III. is heir are being "wasted by a bunch of crackpots" to publish PM, Rep. John E. Rankin [D., Miss.] called upon congress today to tax the fortune.

Rankin's speech, as published in the congressional record, accused those he termed crackpots of maligning members of congress and Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

The Mississippi congressman said the estate will fall into Field's hands free of inheritance tax unless a bill Rankin introduced at the last session of congress is enacted. Rankin urged that the bill be adopted in order that the Field and similar estates now escaping taxation be taxed in proportion to the taxes assessed against most Americans.

Vast Estates Escaping Taxes.

Rep. Rankin said:

"During these days of trial and suffering, when every one is being asked to serve and sacrifice, it seems to me to be an outrage that certain vast fortunes are being passed down from one generation to another in such a way as to escape any taxation at all. Many of them have been organized into what they call trusts, endowments, or foundations, in such a way as to avoid the payment of inheritance or estate taxes that fall upon the ordinary patriotic American who does not attempt to escape by any subterfuge whatsoever.

"As I have pointed out before, one of the largest estates in this country is that of Marshall Field, which probably will amount to something like 200 million dollars, and will fall into the hands of Marshall Field III. next September, and will escape payment of any inheritance taxes at all unless the present law is changed.

Congress Being Maligned.

"As every one knows, the money of this Field estate is now being wasted by a bunch of crackpots to publish and distribute a newspaper called PM that is constantly maligning the white people of the south, members of congress and other patriotic Americans.

"I hold in my hand the Feb. 23 issue of PM, in which you will see a caricature of a number of members of congress hanged in effigy, together with a cartoon of Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, one of America's most popular heroes, cartooned and ridiculed as a Punch and Judy dancer.

"Instead of permitting this bunch to waste that vast estate, of which Marshall Field III. never earned a dollar, to thus malign, smear and discredit members of the congress of the United States and other patriotic, law abiding citizens such as Capt. Rickenbacker, I want us to place a tax on that and other similar estates commensurate with what other Americans have to pay, and turn it into the federal treasury to help pay the expenses of this war."

Rankin recommended that the house ways and means committee report the bill to the house as soon as possible. The bill provides that the internal revenue code be amended to include estates of persons who died before the present laws became effective.

URGES AMERICAN BOMBER USE IN NIGHT ASSAULTS

Both American and British bombers should be utilized in great night time bombing raids on Germany to soften up the reich for invasion, Allan A. Michie, war correspondent and author, said yesterday at a luncheon of the Executives club of Chicago in the Hotel Sherman. Michie expressed concern that American bombers are making only daylight raids which he termed less effective and more hazardous than mass assaults at night.

The American Flying Fortresses and Liberators are excellent for use in clear weather, he said, but suggested they be changed to carry larger bomb loads and be provided with flare dampers to make them less conspicuous at night. Comparing the two nations' bombers, Michie said the British Lancaster carries 18,000 pounds of bombs compared with 6,000 by the best of ours.

"No German city at which the R. A. F. has directed 1,000 planes in a night has revived full production," he said. "It is known that eight German cities have been ruined. There are only 30 to 50 big cities of importance to bomb. A 1,000 plane raid once a week can break civilian morale quickly. It is a tragedy that the R. A. F. has to do the job alone."

ROBS TRUCK DRIVER OF $65.

340 R.A.F. Flyers Awarded Wings at 4 U.S. Air Schools

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Graduation exercises for 340 royal air force pilots at four United States army air forces schools today completed a program started June 8, 1941, in which 4,000 RAF pilots have been trained in the United States. The war department said today's exercises were held at Moody field, Valdosta, Ga.; Turner field, Albany, Ga.; Craig field, Selma, Ala., and Napier field, Dothan, Ala.

ILLINI BID FOR CROWN AGAINST N. U. TONIGHT

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

JOE CRONIN has announced that he expects to play some shortstop for his Red Sox next summer and already is making plans for a weight reduction program. . . . If recent news photos tell the true story of Joe's avoirdupois, he should have started months ago. . . . Fight fans who scoff at Joe Louis' plans to return to the ring after the war should remember that both Jack Johnson and Bob Fitzsimmons, a pair of pretty fair heavyweights, held the title when they were 37 years old. . . . New York bookmakers will not accept bets on those basketball double headers in Madison Square Garden. . . . The idea seems to be that, with neither team playing on its home court, there is no way of figuring the angles. . . . The catcher who works 100 games a season is called a workhorse, which would make Ray Mueller, now of the Reds, a superman. . . . Ray caught 165 contests in the Pacific Coast league last year, and 50 of them were in succession. . . . Manager Steve O'Neill has instructed all Tigers to report to the Evansville, Ind., training camp wearing woolen underwear. . . . He also has ordered them to bring an extra pair of shoes, which sounds like a gag. . . . Chester Laabs, the Browns' home run slugger, is working out daily in a St. Louis gymnasium between stints in a defense factory. . . . He is within five pounds of his playing figure. . . . The St. Louis Cardinals are the only major league club to maintain their scouting corps at the pre-war level. . . . The Cards, whose farsighted policy in finding and developing young prospects revolutionized baseball, apparently are acting on the premise that the game will be bigger business than ever after the war. . . . With the temporary retirement of Joe Louis, Fritzie Zivic has been Madison Square Garden's best drawing card in the last three years. . . .

Jimmy Blong, freshman basketball star who quit Temple university in January, has bobbed up at Long Island U. . . . Frank Angelo, former sports writer for the Detroit Free Press, has received his ensign's commission at Columbia university. . . . Take it from John Silvi, professional wrestler and tumbler, the jujitsu expert, Japanese or occidental, is no match for an athlete properly trained in tactics of the American sport. . . . Silvi, who has bested several jujitsu stars, says that most of their tricks have been known to lumberjacks and other rough and tumble battlers for years. . . . Larry Zuk, middle distance runner on the Pennsylvania track squad, is disrupting practice sessions to such an extent that Coach Lawson Robertson is thinking of taking steps. . . . While on a conditioning hike, Zuk captured a hawk, which now is being trained as a hunting falcon. . . . He takes the bird wherever he goes and his teammates are so interested in its development they are neglecting their work.

Every line that Shakespeare wrote.

Somewhere hidden in your structure,
Words immortal I might write—
Are you always so unduly
Noncommittal as tonight?

BUDWEISERS GO OUT FOR TITLE AGAINST STROHS

Match Series Opens in Chicago Today.

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The Chicago Budweisers, American Bowling congress champions, will enter their match with the Stroh Bohemians of Detroit today with an average of 3,085 for their last four times out. The Budweiser-Stroh match, a battle for the Detroit team's national match game championship, will open at 3 p. m. today at the Cascade Recreation center, 3825 West Madison street.

The first 12 games will be rolled in Chicago, three game blocks starting at 3 and 8 p. m. today and at the same hours tomorrow. The last 12 games will be bowled next weekend in Harold Allen's Palace recreation, Detroit, the Strohs' home alleys.

Buds Pile Up Victories.

Joe Wilman's Buds captured two events last week, winning the 58 team Bowlium Classic with a score of 3,939 for four games Saturday night and coming back the following night to take the weekly Chicago Sunday sweepstakes with 3,110. Members of the team besides Wilman are Bill Hargadon, Joe Traubenik, George Theel, and John Small.

The Budweisers have picked their favorite lanes, Nos. 13 and 14, at Cascade for the home block, and naturally will meet the Strohs on the champions' favorite alleys when the match moves to Detroit. The Strohs gave away a 425 pin lead to the National Bowlers Journal team, the five from which they won the title last November, when they rolled in New York, but buried the New York five on the Palace alleys to win by a margin of 523 pins. The Strohs' totals in the eight three-game blocks, the last four of which were rolled in Detroit, were 2,905, 3,074, 3,115, 2,994, 3,184, 3,207, 2,878, and 3,251.

Stroh Regular Ill.

The Stroh team used six men, Cass Grygier, a regular, becoming ill of flu on the eve of the Detroit half of the match and being replaced by Howard Curtin. Averages of the individuals for the match, those of Grygier and Curtin representing 12 game efforts: Walter Reppenhagen, 201.23; Fred Wolf, 200.17; Grygier, 211.1; Curtin, 205.6; Bill Kenet, 197.14, and Capt. Joe Norris, 217.15.

Sox Take Title to 13 Players; Get Only Five

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

By way of further proof that there is more or less chaos behind the baseball scenes, what with the minors doing a folding act necessitated by war conditions, the White Sox yesterday took title to 13 players, all members of the dissolved Waterloo, Ia., club.

Under baseball procedure the wholesale transaction came under the heading of "purchase," but since Waterloo happens to be a Sox farm, the Comiskey club actually was only assuming direct charge of its own property.

Eight of the newly acquired youngsters are in service, so they will be placed on the Chicago club's national defense list. This group is made up of Michael Bajo, a left handed pitcher; Outfielder Ray Dahlstrom, Catcher Richard Skale, Infielder Bernard Bengston, Pitcher Kenneth Manus, Pitcher Dick Bonne, Catcher Joe Harney, and Pitcher Nicholas Popovich.

The following of the Waterloo graduates will be listed on the Sox 1943 active roster: Pitchers Jack Teagan, Emil Bormet, Donald Spyker, and Gerald Riffenburg and Shortstop Michael Lazorchak. These will be farmed out if the Sox can fix up a working agreement with one of the few surviving minor league clubs.

BAY MEADOWS IS WARNED: 'KEEP RACING OR ELSE'

San Mateo, Cal., Feb. 26 (AP).—Bay Meadows' horse race meeting, which suspended operations for one day today because of a jurisdictional labor dispute involving the mutuel clerks, was warned by the chairman of the state racing board tonight to keep going—or quit for all 1943.

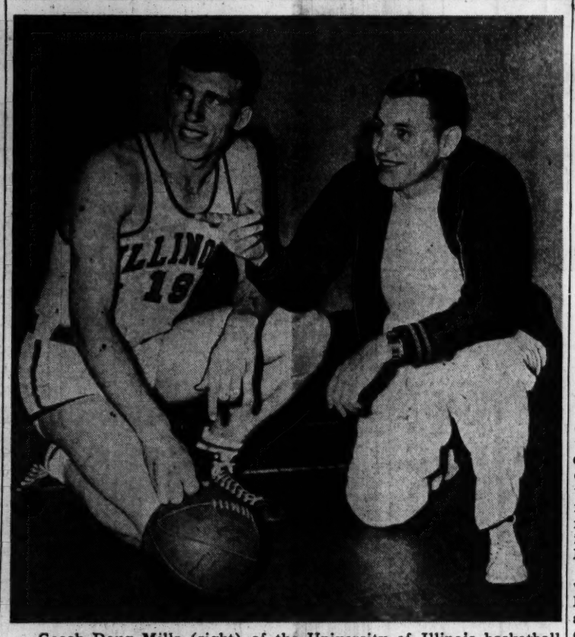
The telegraphed edict from Chairman Jerry Giesler said:

"The California horse racing board granted the license for the present meeting at Bay Meadows in a sincere effort to keep racing alive in these times of emergency. If racing is not resumed immediately I will call a meeting of the board and recommend that the meeting be closed."

Rinehart Named to Coach Track Team at Illinois Tech

Wilmer T. Rinehart, who held the Big Ten javelin record as a student at Indiana university in 1929, has been named acting track coach at Illinois Tech, succeeding Robert [Remie] Meyer, who resigned last spring to join the Navy's physical fitness program. Rinehart served as assistant track coach at Indiana from 1936 to 1940.

POINTING FOR A TITLE



Coach Doug Mills (right) of the University of Illinois basketball team appears to be pointing toward a second Western conference title as he confers with Capt. Art. Mathiesen, star center. The undefeated Illini will meet Northwestern in the first game of tonight's double header in Chicago Stadium.

WOLVERINES TOP OHIO IN TRACK

Michigan Wins, 75½-28½; Ufer Sets Record.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Feb. 26 [Special].—Michigan's track team showed surprising strength tonight to rout Ohio State's defending Big Ten champions, 75½ to 28½. The Wolverines won nine first places and tied for first in two others as they defeated the Buckeyes for the 27th time in the 29 dual meets held since 1907. Ohio won only the broad jump.

Bob Ufer, Michigan's star middle distance runner, accounted for the night's only new record when he ran the 440 in 49 seconds, to beat Russ Owen of Ohio by four yards. Ufer's time bettered the old Yost fieldhouse mark of :49.1 which he held jointly with John Woodruff of Pittsburgh as well as the old meet mark of :49.7 which he established in 1941.

The Wolverines slammed four events, the mile, two mile, 880, and low hurdles as they completely dominated running competition.

MILE RUN—Ross Hume, Michigan; Bob Hume, Michigan, and John Ingersoll, Michigan, tied for first. Time—4:25.6.

60 YARD DASH—Won by Alkon, Michigan; Trepanier, Ohio State, second; Pinney, Michigan, third. Time—:06.4.

440 YARD RUN—Won by Ufer, Michigan; Owen, Ohio State, second; Sears, Michigan, third. Time—:49. [New fieldhouse and meet record. Old fieldhouse record, :49.1 by Woodruff, Pittsburgh, and Ufer. Old meet record, :49.7, by Ufer.]

65 YARD HIGH HURDLES—Won by Swanson, Michigan; Byerly, Michigan, second; Hoefinger, Ohio State, third. Time—:08.4.

TWO MILE RUN—Won by Leonardi, Michigan; Bob Hume, Michigan, second; Germanson, Michigan, third. Time—9:53.4.

SHOT PUT—Won by Ostroot, Michigan; Wills, Ohio State, second; Pregulman, Michigan, third. Distance, 44 feet 8¾ inches.

HIGH JUMP—Dale, Michigan; Hoefinger, Ohio State, and Clark, Ohio State tied for first. Height, 6 feet.

HALF MILE—Matthews, Michigan, Roxborough, Michigan, and Upton, Michigan tied for first. Time, 2:01.5.

65 YARD LOW HURDLES—Won by Pinney, Michigan; Martin, Michigan, second; Swanson, Michigan, third. Time, :07.5.

MILE RELAY—Won by Michigan [Akron, Glas, Sears, Ufer]. Time, 3:25.

BROAD JUMP—Won by Thomas, Ohio State; Clark, Ohio State, second; Pinney, Michigan, third. Distance, 22 feet 2⅛ inches.

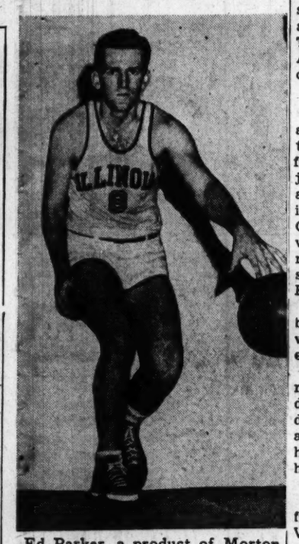
POLE VAULT—Segula, Michigan, and Schmidt, Ohio State, tied for first; MacLear, Michigan and Finnerty, Ohio State, tied for third. Height, 13 feet.

ROBINSON GETS EVEN; DEFEATS JAKE LA MOTTA

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 26 (AP).—Ray Robinson of New York avenged the only defeat of his 132 fight career by getting up from the floor to outpoint Jake La Motta of the Bronx in a 10 round bout tonight in Olympia stadium. Robinson was down for an eight count in the seventh. Robinson gave up 15¾ pounds to La Motta, who weighed 160¾.

Robinson, who as Private Walker Smith goes into the army next week, piled up a huge early margin on La Motta.

The overflow crowd of 15,149 paid $60,710 to see the show.



Ed Parker, a product of Morton High school, will start tonight for Illinois if the injured Gene Vance still is indisposed.

WILDCATS HOPE FOR UPSET ON STADIUM CARD

Three Other Games in Conference.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The University of Illinois basketball team, now within one step of its second consecutive Western conference championship, is determined to take that stride tonight in the Stadium despite resistance by Northwestern's Wildcats. This opening game in the evening's double header is the feature of a card including four conference contests tonight, Great Lakes' invasion of Minnesota, and Notre Dame at Michigan State.

Indiana is the only squad which will not play this evening and the Hoosiers, who have 11 victories against a defeat by Wisconsin, are cheering for Northwestern to turn back Illinois. By this result Indiana could become champion on a percentage basis by trouncing Purdue Monday night. Illinois will complete its schedule Monday on its home court against the University of Chicago. The Maroons play Michigan in Ann Arbor tonight. They have lost 37 consecutive conference games.

Sailors Have Incentive.

Wisconsin at Purdue and Ohio State at Iowa are the other conference contests tonight. If Great Lakes wins from Minnesota this evening the Bluejackets will have been victorious over all five squads that won from them in 1942. Ohio State, Michigan State, Creighton, and Notre Dame, which whipped Great Lakes last year, already have fallen before the high scoring squad coached by Lt. Paul Hinkle.

The Great Lakes team has been beaten only by Illinois and Northwestern this season and Northwestern lost the return contest.

The Illinois squad of 12 men arrived in Chicago last night and will drill briefly this morning in the Stadium behind locked doors. The Illini are keeping their plans secret and have canceled reservations at a loop hotel.

Vance Will Be Used.

Coach Doug Mills said yesterday before leaving Champaign that Gene Vance, regular guard, might start the game tonight and that he certainly would play even if he did not start. Vance suffered a knee injury in the Wisconsin game a week ago. If Vance does not start, Ken Menke will shift to guard and the forward post will be taken over by Ed Parker, a graduate of Morton High school, Cicero.

Capt. Art Mathisen, center; Jack Smiley, guard, and Andy Phillip, forward, who leads the conference scoring race, complete the varsity.

Illinois students, headed by the university band, gave their team a rousing sendoff last night, parading to the railroad station and shouting "Beat Northwestern."

N. U. Would Like to Win.

Altho Northwestern cannot gain more than third place in the final conference standings, the Wildcats can make their season highly successful by upsetting Illinois. Coach Dutch Lonborg's five regulars must turn the trick since Ronnie Schumacher, the only experienced substitute, will not be available because of illness. The decision rests with Otto Graham, Bobby Jake, Nick Vodick, Bud Hasse, and Capt. Russ Wendland.

Graham and Wendland are the high scorers normally but Hasse frequently supplies a punch to the attack and is one of the most aggressive players in the conference. Hasse quite likely will be assigned the job of guarding Phillip while Smiley is the obvious candidate for the assignment of watching Graham, who was second high scorer in the conference last season.

The De Paul-Bradley game will complete the Stadium program tonight. The conference contest will start at 8:15 and officials predict a record crowd for the Stadium season.

De Paul has been beaten only four times this year and two of these losses were to Camp Grant's Warriors, who hold the only decision of the season over Illinois.

VALDINA FARMS ENTRIES CHOICES IN $25,000 STAKE

New Orleans, La., Feb. 26 (AP).—The entry of Valdina Orphan and Rounders from Emerson Woodward's Valdina farms heads a field of 11 horses named today for tomorrow's running of the $25,000 New Orleans handicap at the Fair Grounds.

The combination, with Valdina Orphan the better liked of the pair, figures to go postward at 2 to 1 for the mile and sixteenth race — richest event of the winter turf season.

The probable field with post positions, weights, jockeys, and probable odds follows:

Sunday Punch, a Sermon, Wins for Barney Ross

Ross on Air

CORP. BARNEY ROSS of the marines made his first public statement last night since his return recently from two months' bitter fighting in Guadalcanal. He was heard on the marines' nation-wide radio show, "The Halls of Montezuma," over the Mutual broadcasting system. The program will be rebroadcast by transcription over W-G-N at 1 o'clock this afternoon. Ross, who spoke from the west coast, said his stay on Guadalcanal seemed like 60 years. He said his biggest thrill on the trip back to the United States occurred when the crew of his hospital ship purchased more than $10,000 worth of war bonds.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Corp. Barney Ross, who is returning to Chicago a hero from Guadalcanal, on one occasion preached a knockout sermon in a Christian church. It was during his prime fighting days when he held both lightweight and welterweight titles—and members of his congregation which thronged St. Luke's Episcopal church at Western avenue near Polk street, will never forget that sermon.

It may be said for Barney's fine sense of modesty that he probably will never know how much of a knockout his sermon was. As rector of the church, I had invited him to meet with youth groups of my church on a Sunday night and talk about his ring career in a sports radio interview kind of setting, with Perry Addleman, former Chicago public relations counsel, on the other side of the table. Addleman is former national collegiate lightweight title holder from the University of Pittsburgh.

He Was a Neighbor.

There was quite a stir in the congregation when Barney and Sam Plan walked down the aisle to the table in front of the chancel steps. Addleman first queried the champion about his youth, and the young folks of that neighborhood where much poverty had been aggravated by deep depression, were put at ease by Barney who told them he grew up in a neighborhood not far away where he, too, had to fight his way, often on not too much good food.

He told of the loss of his father; his mother's struggles, and his early ambition to help his mother and of his sister who was in a charitable institution due to shortness of home fare.

"I know what you are doing here in St. Luke's church," Barney told the young folks. "It's kind of like Hull House where I used to spend a lot of time. We kids a little east of here would have had a hard time if it hadn't been for Hull House, just as you wouldn't have so much fun if it were not for this church."

Then, the One-Two.

Then came the knockout.

Addleman asked: "Tell us about your hardest fight."

Barney deliberated an instant: "Well," he said, "I think my hardest fight was really three fights. The first one was with Barney Ross. I had to first lick Barney and make him be good, clean, and strong. If I couldn't lick Barney first, Barney would come back some time and lick me, no matter how many Tony Canzoneris I might beat. Some of the rounds I fought with myself to keep me decent and clean were plenty tough. The other two fights were with Tony. They were plenty tough, too."

There was silence in the church. Probably some of the young folks who heard Barney and who may now be scattered over the world in fighting forces will recall that impressive silence when they hear of Barney's heroism on Guadalcanal. They may recall that his rounds with himself stayed won, and that only hard won decency and clean living could have saved him in his tough rounds in the Solomons.

A Champion's Answer.

The meeting closed with one more question:

"What did you think about just before you stepped into the ring to win your first professional title?"

"I thought of only one thing," replied Barney quickly, but with feeling. "I was thinking of the new house for my mother and about my sister's return home after I win tonight."

FORT WORTH IS GOLDEN GLOVES TEAM TO BEAT

Surviving Trio Has Power and Skill.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Fort Worth, with three fighters still surviving in the campaign for Golden Gloves, is prepared to put up a powerful defense of its team championship in the semi-finals and finals next Friday in the Stadium. Fort Worth took this title last year with 14 points to 10 for the second place squad, Cleveland. The scoring is based on 5 points for a champion, 3 for a runner-up, and 1 for a semi-finalist.

Fort Worth's representatives among the 32 survivors are Morris Corona, a welterweight; Jose Andreas, a flyweight, and Hubert Gray, a lightweight.

Back Corona to Win.

The Texas fans are banking heavily on Corona getting 5 points toward an impressive total for this veteran of Golden Gloves competition demonstrated Wednesday that he is better than ever. In beating Tony Ancona in the quarter-finals, it was generally conceded that he delivered the best performance of his career.

The boys who now block Corona's march toward another title [he was lightweight champion last year] are Charles Busalacchi of Milwaukee, Dave Clark of Richmond, Ind., and Don Dickinson of Terre Haute. While all of these youngsters beat formidable opponents in reaching the semi-finals, it will be quite an upset if one of them succeeds in disposing of Corona.

Other Two Are Experienced.

Both Andreas and Gray, Fort Worth's other representatives, are experienced boxers. Andreas, who is a laborer for a construction company in Fort Worth, was up to the Tournament of Champions in 1940 and 1942. Gray is a gymnasium instructor for a boys' club in Wichita.

Gray's bid for a championship will be made against particularly strong opposition. Bracketed with him in the semi-finals are Cleveland's powerful and experienced Chuck Hunter; Chicago's clever boxer, Tim Dalton, and Kansas City's exceptionally tall and rangy Levi Southall. So Gray's work is pretty well cut out for him and it is believed that he faces one of the toughest tasks in the tournament.

Andreas Faces Task.

Andreas, who beat the sensational youngster from Kansas City, Major Jones, in the quarter-finals, has plenty to worry about also. In his division there is Barry Darby of Oklahoma City, whose victory over the veteran Al Noto was one of the most brilliant achievements of the quarter-finals. Matt Hammond of Minneapolis and Joe Martinez of Omaha complete the semi-final flyweight bracket.

Three other cities match Fort Worth in number of survivors, and consequently are figured to have a chance for the team title. These are Chicago, Cleveland, and Minneapolis.

Last year Chicago scored only six points. This time, however, fans see possibility of improvement with representation consisting of Reedy Evans and Walter Moore in addition to Dalton. Evans put over a major surprise by eliminating the 175 pound defending champion, Tom Attra of Fort Worth, in the quarter-finals.

CAMILLI IS NOT AFTER MANAGER JOB—RICKEY

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Branch Rickey today virtually eliminated Dolph Camilli from consideration as a possibility for managership of the Brooklyn Dodgers. "We had a pleasant conversation in San Francisco," he said, "but we scarcely mentioned the managership. In my opinion Camilli would not care to be considered for the managership even if he were wanted. I like him immensely. But I don't have him in mind for manager."

Rickey had nothing definite to say about a managerial successor to Leo Durocher, who is to report for induction Monday.

A RED LETTER NIGHT!

Circle Friday night, March 5, on your calendar now. That's the night Chicagoland Golden Gloves championships will be decided in the Stadium. The 32 survivors of the Tournament of Champions will be back to fight it out in semi-finals and finals for amateur boxing's highest honor—a Golden Glove title. These returning battlers are the best of a field of 200. They'll give all they've got in the ring, and you're in for the fistic treat of the year if you hold a ticket.

Seats are on sale in the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, from 9 to 7 p. m. and in Tribune Tower from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. The prices:

~~$3.60~~, $2.20, $1.65, $1.10 and ~~55c~~

Mail orders are being accepted. Address Golden Gloves Ticket Manager, Tribune Tower, Chicago. Make checks payable to Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

PREP PLAY-OFFS TO OPEN TUESDAY WITH 8 GAMES

Morgan Park Juniors Win South Section Berth.

Preliminary arrangements for the City league basketball championship playoffs were completed yesterday by A. H. Pritzlaff, director of physical education for the board of education, after a telephone drawing that decided the fourth place tie involving Morgan Park, Hyde Park, and Englewood in the south section junior race. Each had won six and lost four. Morgan Park won the draw. The playoffs will commence Tuesday with eight games scheduled. Seven will be played on Wednesday and one on Friday in the first round.

In the junior division, the defending champion, Marshall of the west section, draws Von Steuben, the north section's fourth place team, as its first opponent in the playoffs. Marshall will be striving for its 77th consecutive victory. Waller and Sullivan of the north section, Parker in the south, and Manley from the central are expected to offer strong opposition to the defending champion.

Kelvyn Park Favored.

The Kelvyn Park seniors have been installed as pre-playoff favorites but will have to combat three other undefeated division leaders, Amundsen, north; Manley, central, and Fenger, south. Manley is the only school to place two undefeated teams in the playoffs.

The goal of teams competing in the playoffs is the opportunity of meeting the Catholic league junior and senior winners in the Stadium on March 27 with the net proceeds accruing to the funds of the three Chicago Service Men's centers. The schedule:

TUESDAY.
Juniors.
Crane [west] at Waller [north].
Tuley [west] at Sullivan [north].
Roosevelt [north] at Wells [west].
Von Steuben [north] at Marshall [west].
Morgan Park [south] at Manley [central].

Austin [west] at Amundsen [north].
Marshall [west] at Lane [north].
Schurz [north] at Crane [west].
Hyde Park [south] at Manley [central].
Du Sable [central] at Fenger [south].
FRIDAY.
Seniors.
Gage Park [central] at South Shore [south].

SULLIVAN WINS TWO

Sullivan High school closed its north section basketball schedule with a double victory over Taft on the latter's floor yesterday, the seniors winning, 61 to 39, and the juniors, 66 to 37, to tie Waller for first place in the north section junior race. Sullivan, however, must yield first place to Waller because it lost its only game in the section to Waller. Johnny Jung, with 12 points, and Marvin Beskin, with 11, were high scorers for Sullivan in the junior game. It was Sullivan's ninth junior victory in 10 games.

Schurz and Waller divided their north section doubleheader, Schurz winning the senior game, 53 to 37, after Waller won the junior contest, 71 to 20, for its ninth victory in 10 games. Schurz's victory assured it of third place in the senior race. Pete Grafner scored 23 points for Waller in the junior game.

LOUISVILLE GETS KEENELAND RACE MEET APRIL 10-21

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 26 (AP).—The spring race meeting of the Keeneland race course will be transferred to Louisville's Churchill Downs and application has been made to the Kentucky state racing commission to hold the program from April 10-21, it was announced here tonight.

The announcement followed a conference in Louisville today between Hal Price Headley, president of the Keeneland association, which owns the Lexington race track property, and Matt Winn, head of the Louisville organization.

If You'd Like to Box, This Book Is Must Item

The newest member of the series of books being produced in the sports analysis field by the physical activities section of the Chicago Park district is one called "Boxing," which is dedicated to the fundamentals in the art of self-defense, with particular attention to the organization and promotion of the sport.

This 96 page pamphlet has been compiled by the members of the WPA writers' program in Illinois, with the coöperation of Leonard J. Sterling, a member of the Central Amateur Athletic union committee and well known as an announcer in major boxing bouts and tournaments.

Information Is Complete.

The book is one of the most complete ever assembled on boxing. Designed as an instruction manual and reference guide for physical education groups in the Chicago park district, it is also being made available for communities and individuals who have limited facilities in the physical activities field.

The first important chapter in the book is devoted to the fundamentals of boxing, in which balance and stance in offense and defense are given attention. Then follows a series of illustrations showing the various punches, including leads, straight rights, hooks, and uppercuts. The illustrated portion then continues with instructions on defense, notably on ducking, headslipping, and sidestepping.

Explains Training Routine.

One of the most interesting features of the book is the section on training. A 10 day program of roadwork for the young boxer is set up as a prelude to such conditioning exercises as bicycle riding, rope jumping, pulling the weights, bag punching, and shadow boxing. The training chapter concludes with a diet to be followed by the beginner. A separate chapter on training advice from Lt. Johnny Behr, now in the navy and longtime head coach of Golden Gloves teams, follows.

MOUNT CARMEL WINS OVER LEO SENIORS, JUNIORS

St. Philip Takes Two from St. George.

Mount Carmel High school, led by its two high scoring forwards, Willie Thomas and Maurie Ahern, beat Leo, 36 to 23, last night at Mount Carmel to enter a three way tie for first place in the south section junior race in the Catholic league with Leo and Catholic High of Joliet. It was the seventh victory in nine games for the winners.

With Thomas and Ahern each scoring 10 points, Mount Carmel took a 16 to 13 lead at the half, but turned on the pressure in the second half to outscore the visitors, 20 to 10. The victory was revenge for the Carmelites, since Leo had previously handed them one of their two league defeats.

Mt. Carmel Adds to Lead.

Mount Carmel then beat Leo, 50 to 40, in the senior game to assume a two game margin over Leo and Catholic High of Joliet, which are tied for second place. Gene Delaney and Artie Kovack, each with 15 points, sparked the Carmelite attack. It was the eighth victory in nine league games for the winners and the third loss in nine for the losers.

St. Philip took over first place in the junior division of the north section by defeating St. George, 31 to 27, on the latter's floor. It was the seventh victory in nine games for St. Philip and fourth loss in nine games for the loser.

St. Philip Wins Two.

St. Philip, paced by Jim Calabrese, also won the senior game, 39 to 35, and took over undisputed possession of first place with seven victories in eight games while St. George fell to second place with seven victories and two defeats. Calabrese scored 17 point. St. Philip led, 22 to 20, at the half.

St. Mel went into a second place tie with Weber in the north section junior race by defeating Loyola, 34 to 21, at St. Mel. It was the sixth victory in eight games for St. Mel.

F. D. R. SHELVES NELSON LUMBER PLANS FOR OWN

Rejects New Agency to Raise Output.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The White House disclosed tonight that President Roosevelt has rejected a proposal by Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board and Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard for the creation of a powerful new government agency to promote lumber production.

Instead, the President directed WPB to stimulate lagging production and assist small producers with its present facilities and with the cooperation of the department of agriculture forest service.

"It was at first proposed," a White House statement said, "that a large organization known as the 'forest products service,' with very extensive powers, be set up by the government and financed with a huge revolving fund. But this and similar plans were shelved in an effort to attain the same result more simply and economically."

Production Falls Short.

A letter from the President to Nelson, made public at the same time, indicated that Nelson and Wickard jointly had proposed the "forest products service."

The White House statement noted that last year's lumber production was 6 billion board feet less than was needed, the deficit being made up chiefly from stocks. Continuing deficits in production, with inadequate inventories on hand to offset them, are forecast for 1943.

Shortages, the statement said, were not caused by lack of mill capacity, but largely by shortage in man power with many mills running part time, including large numbers of small operations on farms or in back country.

"Field Expediters" Planned.

No hope was held out that more workers might be provided, but the statement outlined a program thru which WPB would send out "field expediters" to tell producers directly the specific types of material needed for war purposes, to aid in arranging contracts for production, and assist in complicated procurement procedures "which are disheartening to many small operators."

The expediters also would help obtain timber supplies for mills now inadequately supplied with standing timber, and provide technical advice for operators to promote efficient use of the man power and facilities that are available.

In the letter to Nelson, Mr. Roosevelt announced his approval of these plans "subject to the understanding that where federal financial aids are advanced there must be provision to prevent destructive forest practice."

Canadian Pacific to Pay 13 Millions in 1945 Bonds

MONTREAL, Feb. 26 (AP). — The Canadian Pacific Railway company announced today it would redeem on April 1 at 102 and interest all of its 3 per cent convertible trust bonds due in 1945, outstanding in the amount of 13 million dollars.

WHAT THEY EARNED

Radio Corporation of America reported yesterday that higher taxes and operating costs resulted in a decline in profits last year despite a large increase in gross income.

Net income decreased to $9,002,437, equal after preferred dividend requirements to 41.7 cents a common share, from $10,158,716, or 50.3 cents a share, in 1941. Gross income climbed to $197,024,056 from $158,695,722.

Flour Ceiling Rise May Hike Price of Cake

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—A forthcoming price increase in soft wheat flour raised the prospect tonight that housewives in the midwest, east, and south may have to pay more for bakery products such as cakes, cookies, and crackers.

Informed officials said the office of price administration would announce, probably tomorrow, an advance in price ceilings on soft wheat flour of about 60 cents a barrel, or about 8 per cent, to relieve millers from a price squeeze created by recent advances in soft wheat prices.

Price Now Is Above Parity.

OPA also will place a ceiling on soft wheat near current price levels, about $1.60 a bushel in Chicago and St. Louis for No. 2 soft red winter wheat. Prices now are slightly above parity for this type of wheat.

The higher flour ceilings and the wheat ceiling—which would be the first on wheat—have been authorized by Economic Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes, officials said.

The wheat ceiling would apply on soft wheat sold east of the Rocky mountains. The new flour ceiling would affect flour milled east of Wyoming, Colorado, and New Mexico, and south of South Dakota, Iowa, and Wisconsin. Supplies of soft wheat in this territory have been relatively scarce, leading to the price advances.

Increases Would Vary.

Food officials said the increase in soft wheat flour would have some effect on prices of crackers, biscuits, and cakes. The increase will be small in the case of cakes, they said, but on crackers and cookies, where flour is a larger factor in production costs, the increase eventually may be greater.

The new flour ceiling is expected to be made effective March 2. Typical of the ceilings is a $9.60 per barrel price for cake flour in New York City.

No change is contemplated, officials said, in price ceilings for other types of flour.

Last Concrete Poured in Vast Dodge Building

The last concrete was poured yesterday for the vast aviation engine manufacturing and assembly building at the Dodge Chicago plant, which is to be one of the world's largest industrial structures. Located on the southwest side, it will contain more floor space than is contained in the Merchandise Mart.

While an icy wind swept across the roof of the building, a group taking part in a brief ceremony marking the event moved into a tarpaulin covered enclosure to watch workers finish the concrete job. The covering makes it possible to pour concrete in extremely cold weather.

Much Remains to Be Done.

Workers, pushing long wooden scrapers, leveled off the small segment of the roof which ended the concrete structural work on building No. 4—the official designation for the manufacturing building. However, there is still much concrete pouring to be done on other structures which will make up the plant.

Among those at the ceremony were W. J. O'Neil and L. L. Colbert, general manager and operating manager of Dodge Chicago, and L. R. Crandall, president; D. P. Appell and E. K. Collison, vice presidents, and J. F. Murphy, Chicago, in charge of construction, all of the George A. Fuller company, the contractor. The three top Fuller officials came from New York for the ceremony.

Larger than Willow Run.

About 16,000 persons have been employed in building the plant, which it is said will be larger than the Willow Run bomber plant. Construction is proceeding on schedule. A few machines to be used in making the aviation engines have been brought to the site of the operation.

HOG PRICES GAIN TO RECOUP MOST OF EARLIER LOSS

STUDEBAKER WILL PAY DIVIDEND OF 25 CENTS, 1ST SINCE MARCH, '32

The Studebaker corporation, South Bend, Ind., declared yesterday a dividend of 25 cents on its common stock, first payment since 30 cents was distributed on March 1, 1932. The disbursement, payable March 31 to stockholders of record March 16, will be the initial dividend on the present common shares, issued when the company was reorganized in March, 1935.

Directors also decided to call for redemption on April 30 a million dollars of 6 per cent debentures, due in 1945, which will leave approximately 3 millions outstanding.

WHEAT RETAINS 3 CENT ADVANCE IN HEAVY TRADE

Grain Spurt Caused by Bankhead Bill.

Wheat prices advanced 5 cents a bushel, the permissible limit, at one time yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade as the result of heavy buying attributed to mills and commission houses. The May future sold at $1.48¼ and No. 2 red winter wheat sold in the cash market at $1.64½, new highs for 14 years or longer. Rye gained 3 cents and oats 1½ cents.

Passage of the Bankhead bill by the senate resulted in th largest trade in a long time. A forecast that the Steagall bill, campanion measure to the Bankhead bill, would be passed by the house within a few days aided enthusiasm, as did reports of a material expansion in the flour demand. The bills provide that in determining parity, subsidy and other benefits shall not be included in ceiling prices.

Altho profit taking and hedging sales caused a falling off from the highs wheat futures closed 3¼ to 3⅝ cents higher.

Rye and Oats Advance.

Rye gained 1⅛ to 1¼ cents and oats were ⅝ to 1 cent higher. There were no sales of corn futures, and prices were bid at the ceiling level without attracting buyers. No. 2 and 3 yellow corn sold in the cash market at the ceiling.

Brokers who generally act for mills and large eastern interests were aggressive wheat buyers from the opening and at no time were prices as low as Thursday's close. There was much less wheat for sale at $1.45 for May than expected, brokers said. Elevator interests reported purchases of a few small lots of wheat pledged by farmers for government loans, paying May price for No. 2 hard.

Dry Weather Reported.

Dry weather reports were increasing from western Kansas, Oklahoma and parts of Texas, and attracted attention from brokers because they were the first unfavorable reports in regard to the new wheat crop.

Inability of elevator interests to remove hedges against shipping sales of cash corn resulted in large orders for the actual grain from the east remaining unfilled, altho a ceiling price of $1.02 a bushel was said to have been bid for ordinary quality No. 2 yellow. Reports were current that the office of price administration may announce a higher ceiling price before March 15. Many orders to sell May oats at 60 cents in the hands of brokers were reported withdrawn.

PROFIT CASHING PUTS BRAKE ON STOCK ADVANCE

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—It was profit taking time in the stock market today, but the relatively light offerings were well absorbed. Irregularity prevailed after a fast opening in which numerous recovery highs were scored, tho gains outnumbered losses at the close.

Most rails came back for minor advances in the final hour and some favorites ended at their best levels in two to three years.

Altho activity tapered off, volume totaled 1,438,370 shares, compared with 1,777,290 yesterday for the fourth successive million share day this week and the 15th of 1943.

Chicago List Advances.

Prices advanced on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday, as trading totaled 46,000 shares and 30 stocks rose to new 1942-'43 highs.

Bonds Extend Gains.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—The bond market extended its advance today, with gains of fractions to a point or so among leaders, altho there was scattered profit cashing. Trading remained exceptionally active. Rails, low yields, and foreign issues in the Associated Press averages touched new peaks for 1942-'43 or longer.

Wilson to Get Free Hand on 'Bottlenecks'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26.—A new production control order giving Charles E. Wilson, vice chairman of the war production board, broad powers over the scheduling of bottleneck components in the munitions program will be issued tomorrow, officials said tonight.

The order is another step in Chairman Donald M. Nelson's effort to get a better coördination in delivery of critical parts which has been slowing production in "must" programs such as aircraft, ships, rubber, and high octane gasoline.

Broad Authority Given.

Under the new "general scheduling order," Wilson will have authority to cancel orders for more than 35 so-called critical components, switch contracts from one plant to another, switch deliveries from one program to another, and take any action he deems necessary for placing orders or obtaining deliveries.

Spokesmen said the program has the approval of the army and navy, which have resisted WPB efforts to take control of production scheduling from military officials. Informed officials said, however, that army and navy officials have accepted the new plan reluctantly and on a tentative basis to see how it works.

Ties in with CMP.

The new order, said WPB officials, represents an effort to improve production scheduling which Nelson believes has been mishandled in some instances by the services.

The scheduling program, it was said, will be tied into the WPB controled materials plan already in effect to control the flow of raw materials. A specific program, such as the making of aircraft, may be allotted a sufficient amount of steel, but the use of the steel may become unbalanced among the various component items going into aircraft parts. The purpose of the new order is to bring about the correct balance.

15 BILLION GOAL PREDICTED FOR NEXT FINANCING

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Government bond dealers and investment quarters said today they believed the treasury department would set approximately 15 billion dollars as the minimum in the next government financing program, expected to start in April.

In the December drive a minimum goal of 9 billion dollars was set, and nearly 4 billions more was counted before the books were closed. That undertaking was the largest single financial operation in history for any government.

Discussing the probable size of the forthcoming program, bond dealers called attention to already tremendously heavy and still growing expenditures for war, now about 6 billion dollars a month. The daily statement of the department today showed a working balance of $4,924,632,204. A week ago it was $5,619,281,578.

FTC Files Charges Against Minneapolis-Honeywell

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The federal trade commission announced tonight issuance of a complaint charging Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company, Minneapolis, with unlawful practices which tend to create a monopoly and restrain trade in the sale of automatic temperature controls for domestic heating plants. The company was given 20 days to answer.

OPA PLACES 24 CENT A POUND PRICE CEILING ON LIVE RABBIT SALES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—The office of price administration today brought rabbit meat under specific price maximums. Starting March 1 no white rabbit may be sold for food for more than 24 cents a pound, or a live colored [not entirely white] rabbit for more than 22 cents a pound. No dressed rabbit may bring more than 44 cents a pound at wholesale or 55 cents at retail.

OPA said the new regulation would roll back live rabbit prices 3 to 6 cents a pound from current levels, but that the new ceilings are 6 cents higher than the levels last March.

Alcoa Closes Struck Plant to Avoid Violence

Cleveland, O., Feb. 26 (AP). — The Aluminum Company of America closed its smelter plant temporarily today to prevent any reprisals by discharged strikers against a score of furnace tenders willing to resume ingot production, a company spokesman announced.

H. C. Erskine, Alcoa works manager, said 21 first-shift employés reported on the job but failed to work because of threats made by dismissed men remaining at the plant. Hoping to clear the smelting division of strikers, the company sent the 21 workers home.

Fifty-one second shift employés reported to work later, but remained idle because of threats, the Alcoa spokesman added. Three other workers on this shift called in, reporting illness, and another said he had a draft examination.

The second-shift workers left with the understanding they were to report the same time tomorrow, Alcoa said.

More than half of the 158 workers in the smelting plant were discharged after a "work or be fired" ultimatum from the regional WLB.

The shutdown started Monday after the discharge of five furnace tenders on orders of the army air forces following an inquiry into recurrent slowdowns at Alcoa.

Union Warns Workers.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 26 (AP). — Harold J. Gibson, AFL district council president, warned Boeing Aircraft company workers today not to stop work at 12:30 a. m. Monday when the deadline expires on their demand that the war labor board reach a decision on their long pending wage increase requests.

"There will be no work stoppage and no strike," he directed.

Three Boeing plants in this area, which produce the army's Flying Fortresses, closed for three hours yesterday when a union massmeeting drew a crowd of workers estimated at 20,000.

Strike Over Deferment.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 26 (AP).—The daily flow of 4,700 tons of soft coal from the Montour No. 4 mine of the Pittsburgh Coal company was halted for the third straight day today as groups of the 650 idle miners milled about their community near here, terming their walkout purely a "patriotic protest" against the draft deferment of one man.

BANKERS BACK DIRKSEN BILL TO LIQUIDATE HOLC

Disclose Offer at Par Was Ignored.

Mortgage bankers of Chicago and the nation yesterday went on record as approving the Dirksen bill providing for liquidation of the Home Owners Loan corporation. A resolution to this end was adopted by the board of governors of the Mortgage Bankers Association of America at a "war and post-war clinic" in the Drake hotel.

On a motion by W. L. King of Washington, D. C., chairman of the federal legislative committee of the association, the board of governors agreed "not only to approve the Dirksen bill [with minor changes] but to see that full support be given to an endeavor to have it passed by the banking and currency committee of the house, as changed."

The bill was offered by Rep. Everett M. Dirksen [R., Ill.]. On Thursday Sen. Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.] urged complete liquidation of HOLC now, while prices are higher.

Offer Made Last Summer.

Charles A. Mullenix of Cleveland, president of MBA, earlier told the several hundred bankers from all parts of the country that a bona fide offer by big financial interests to HOLC to take over its entire portfolio of mortgages had been ignored.

"Last summer certain financial institutions proposed to HOLC a plan for taking over the entire portfolio of mortgages held by the agency," said Mullenix. "And that offer was at par. A conference was arranged here in October, to which a HOLC representative was invited. He did not appear.

"Later several institutions proceeded to refinance many of the better HOLC loans. At recent Washington conferences, however, I have been informed that HOLC would be willing to accept such an offer, subject to the approval of congress. It now remains to be determined whether the present portfolio is reasonably near a par value."

Chicagoans Urge Liquidation.

Chicago mortgage men were unanimous in the opinion that HOLC should be liquidated as promptly as possible.

"The HOLC has done a swell job," said George Dovenmuehle, former president of the Chicago Mortgage Bankers association, "but in line with the original intention of that agency it should be liquidated."

Howard Green, president of the association now, said its legislative committee will discuss the matter of HOLC liquidation at a meeting next week. It is understood that definite approval of such an action will be registered.

"Private banking interests can operate more economically than the HOLC," said Green, "and the agency should be liquidated, but this should not be forced in an uneconomical manner."

Other Chicago mortgage bankers agreed with Dovenmuehle and Green that the HOLC has outlived its usefulness and should be closed out.

CURB ON BUSINESS PRINT PAPER USE RELAXED BY WPB

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Curbs on the use of commercial print paper were relaxed today by the WPB for the benefit of public utilities and companies doing work for any governmental agency.

Printers, for example, may exempt from their consumption quota time cards for a factory having a contract with the government, because the cards are essential to the production for the government.

Exempted also is any paper necessary for the "production of, delivery to, or use of products by any federal department or agency." Several thousand printing firms are affected by the amendment, the WPB printing and publishing division said, including those for ration books, tax blanks, manuals dealing with the vocational training of civilians and the training of soldiers and sailors.

24 Rails' Debt Cut 330 Million in Ten Months

Preliminary reports indicate that 24 railroads reduced their debt by 330 million dollars in the first 10 months of last year thru payments from current cash without resorting to outside financing, Z. G. Hopkins, spokesman for the western railways committee on public relations, reported yesterday. A "very much larger" total will be shown when figures for all roads for the entire year are available, he said.

Since 1930, Hopkins said, railroad debt has been cut about 1½ billion dollars, or 11 per cent, by two methods—scaling down in financial reorganization in the courts, or payments out of earnings.

Urged by Commission.

Hopkins, observing that the interstate commerce commission recently recommended that the carriers use current net earnings to pay debts instead of dividends, added:

"Railroad announcement that such a policy will be followed without necessity for commission orders, involves no change in railroad practice. The record shows that debt reduction since 1930 has amounted to about 85 per cent as much as the entire net income earned by the railroads in that period.

Against Federal Trend.

"The progress in railroad debt retirement has been made in a period thru which the railroads were not particularly prosperous. In fact, net income deficits were reported in four of the 11 years. The railroad industry made steady progress in putting its own financial house in better order at a time when federal debt was steadily advancing.

"Ability of the railroads to meet expanded national requirements for transportation in the war emergency, without falling back on the federal treasury, and to fully pay their own way out of revenues drawn from rates and fares, has added tremendously to the nation's war strength. Ability to continue this railroad record in the post-war period will add as greatly to the nation's peace time strength."

PERCY WILSON PICKED TO HEAD REALTY BOARD

BY AL CHASE.

Percy Wilson, head of the real estate company bearing his name and of the Percy Wilson Mortgage and Finance corporation, has been nominated to be president of the Chicago Real Estate board, it was learned yesterday. He heads a slate to be announced at the monthly meeting of the board Wednesday night at 105 West Madison street. The election will be held on April 1. Burt R. Kiely now is president.

Others nominated as officers are: for vice president, J. L. Hess; secretary, Joseph B. Ford; treasurer, Louis Sudler.

Named for directorships are: north, William Hennessey; northwest, S. O. Stone; west, Bruno Bohm; southwest, Richard Crawford, each for three years; south, Melville J. Kolliner, three years, Morgan L. Fitch, 1 year; central, Arthur B. Hall, three years, Warner G. Baird, one year.

The prospective new president early this month resigned as vice president of Marshall Field & Co. to resume active direction of his own business interests.

BIG STORES PLAN USUAL VOLUME OF NEWSPAPER 'ADS'

Washington, D. C., Feb. 26 (AP).—Despite prospective merchandise shortages, the American housewife is likely to find the usual large volume of department store advertising in her favorite newspaper during 1943, the department of commerce reported today.

A sampling survey in principal cities, the department said, indicates "a keen appreciation of store owners and managers of the importance and value of newspaper advertising, especially in the war emergency, not only to the store but to its patrons."

Most stores, the department said, plan to keep their advertising policies flexible to changing conditions. Some indicated their newspaper volume would be limited only by the availability of merchandise to sell and newsprint. Some expect to continue newspaper advertising at 1942 levels.

GEN. ELECTRIC'S CONTRACTS TOP 2 BILLION MARK

Expect Peak Output This Summer.

New York, Feb. 26 (AP).—Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric company, said today the company had received more than 2 billion dollars in orders during 1942 and expected to reach its production peak about the middle of this year.

Gerard Swope.

In a preliminary report for 1942 the company reported a net profit of $45,082,000 after provision of 17 million dollars for post-war contingencies and renegotiation, equal to $1.56 a common share, against $57,197,499 or $1.98 a share in 1941.

The contract amount of shipments during 1942 amounted to $1,047,000,000, or 54 per cent more than in the previous record year of 1941. Taxes increased the same percentage to $223,697,000. An estimated post-war refund of excess profits taxes for 1942 of 17 million dollars was credited to income and carried as a noncurrent asset.

Makes Voluntary Adjustments.

From 1942 contract prices, the company deducted $69,360,000 in voluntary price adjustments, the statement said, bringing total returns to the government to about 105 million dollars.

Swope, who returned to duty from retirement when Charles E. Wilson went with the war production board, said the company would reach its peak production in June or July of this year—"unless additional responsibilities are given us."

Swope said at a press conference General Electric expected a continued increase in billings. The biggest problems with which the company was contending were man power and materials.

Women Replace Men.

"Man power has decreased but woman power is increasing," Swope said. "While the women workers have been making up for the drain on male personnel, it was necessary to adjust work to their capabilities."

Both man power and materials, Swope said, were "on the narrow edge" of affecting output.

Asked if current draft practice changes might restrict the company's work, he said "we'll do our best to meet the situation" and asserted that the company had asked "very few" deferments for single men.

Swope estimated General Electric during 1942 had subcontracted to 1,400 companies in 32 states about 250 million dollars in war work.

TWO DES MOINES UTILITIES SOLD TO UNITED LIGHT

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 26 (AP).—Sale of the Des Moines Electric Light company and the Iowa Power and Light company of Des Moines to the United Light and Power company of Chicago, was announced today.

The purchase of the common stock and certain other securities of the Des Moines electric and gas utilities by the Chicago holding company is part of the process of "integration" of both United Light and Power and the North American company under the "death sentence" law. The transaction is subject to approval of the securities and exchange commission. Assets of the two Des Moines companies are listed at 38 million dollars.

STENOGRAPHER

Well established manufacturing company has good position available for the right applicant. The office is pleasant, and the type of employee is high; hours 8:30 to 5:30, 1 hour lunch; no work Saturday; time and one-half for occasional necessary overtime; we do not want anyone now employed in war plants; we do not want a "shifter" looking for unreasonably high wages and little work. We do want a capable stenographer, with good background of experience and education; one who wants to work, who has reasonable salary requirements and who wants permanent job which will last through the post-war period as well as during the war; one who is fair enough to realize her salary must be controlled by our salary structure, with raises as outlined by the United States dept. of labor. In reply please state age, education, experience, salary expected, phone number and references.

DEATHLESS DEER
By Neysa McMein and Alicia Patterson
HORUS, SORELY WOUNDED, LIMPS HOME TO THE PRINCESS DEER
QUICK! HORUS HAS FAINTED. GET THE COURT PHYSICIAN
REST AND QUIET IS PRESCRIBED FOR THE ROYAL FALCON WHEN A SERVANT ANNOUNCES..
MOST EXALTED ONE, A PEASANT FOUND THIS RING WHILE WORKING IN THE FIELDS. IT BEARS THE ROYAL CREST
THE RING I GAVE PARA! BRING THE PEASANT HERE
HOW CAME YOU BY THIS RING?
IT WAS A MIRACLE, OH, RADIANT PRINCESS. IT DROPPED STRAIGHT FROM HEAVEN AT MY FEET
MY NEIGHBOR, WORKING IN THE NEXT FIELD, CLAIMED A STONE DROPPED AT HIS FEET AT THE SAME MOMENT
HERE IT IS. A FLAT STONE WITH AN ANIMAL'S HEAD RUDELY TRACED IN RED
THIS IS A CROCODILE HEAD!
PARA IS WARNING ME THAT HE WILL BE THROWN TO THE CROCODILES. IF ONLY I AM NOT TOO LATE TO SAVE HIM!
TIME GROWS SHORT AT THE TEMPLE OF CROCODILES
THE CROCODILES CLOSE IN ON PARA
DEER RUSHES TO PARA'S AID MAKE HASTE, OH PARA, MAKE HASTE!
---TOO LATE!
DEER FINISHES HER STORY
ALTHOUGH IT WAS 3000 YEARS AGO THAT PARA MET HIS FATE, I REMEMBER IT TOO WELL
YOU MUST WONDER WHY I KIDNAPED YOU··· IT WAS TO LEARN THE SECRET OF THE TREASURE. NOW, I AM BLINDED BY YOUR BEAUTY. I WANT YOU! I LOVE YOU!
HOW DARE YOU SPEAK OF LOVE TO ME! SCUM!
TAKE CARE! IF YOU WILL NOT COME WILLINGLY, I HAVE WAYS TO FORCE YOU

Floral arrangement of jonquils and camellias by one of Chicago's leading florists, Fred S. Fredericks. Presented by Dean Milk Co. to Mrs. Eugene Mathis in acknowledgment of her voluntary testimony published in this advertisement.

MRS. EUGENE MATHIS
9151 SOUTH HOYNE AVE.

"My grocer recommended Dean's —and I'm glad he did"

That's the way Mrs. Eugene Mathis expresses her enthusiasm. And then she adds: "I find it much simpler to get Dean's at his store along with my other food purchases. Dean's has a much more appealing flavor. Also a richer quality, particularly appreciated on cereals which the three children and ourselves eat in great quantity. I wouldn't change from Dean's."

* * *

Your family, too, will enjoy this milk of exceptional excellence—this real country milk with the fresher flavor. Dean's is pasteurized in the country immediately upon receipt at the dairy—never tank-trucked 50, 60 or 70 miles before pasteurization. Dean's is country bottled also, bottled in the country with all the cream left in. Try Dean's—and learn what the Dean policy of better milk at lower cost will do for your family!
